It is wise never to write a sentence to Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of which through shame or fear you would not attach your whole name.

Most anony nous letters are not intended for messages of peace and goodwill, but are meant to injure and cause unhappiness. And their insinuations drop like poison into minds weak enough to be influenced by those who dare not do their mean work openly and honestly.

It is not often that men of such small calibre by deceit and pretense obtain sufficient influence to control what might be a more powerful weapon. But even then, when the poor, unhappy, small mind shows his in tended victim who he is, any weapon becomes trebly powerless.

Tribute To Catholicism.

Theodore Tilton, of the Golden Age pays the following tribute to the mission and power of the Roman Catholic Church :

We have not a particle of sympathy with the Protestant crusade against the Catholic Church, and have no intention of lending our voice to the howl of one set of bigots and fanatics against another set only a little more bigoted and superstitious than themselves. The Catholic Church has had a mission in history, and has done a work of the greatest magnitude and moment. She has bridged the chasm between two civilizations. Through the long night of centuries she brooded over the nest that held the germs of all that we count precious, and sacred. She was the only potential element of order through ages of chaos, and her mighty conservatism held together the very frame-work of society, which but for her tough grip would have gone to pieces. She civilized barbarianism, and taught Pagan people the alphabet of christianity in pictures that pleased while they instructed, and in a worship which filled their hearts with reverence

Nor is the mission yet fulfilled. Her fingers hold the heart strings of two hundred millions of people, more than half of whom are still ignorant and morally undeveloped. Unclasp her strong but tender hand on these uncultured hearts, remove the restraints she imposes and abrogate the authority she is, and we should have anarchy at once. Protestantism has written no creed, fashioned no ing." Give me a call before purchasing elsecultus, framed no church, developed no power where. which could begin to take the place which the Catholic Church holds in the world to-day. Destroy this church, which dates back to the days of the Apostles, to which the Fathers. belonged and around which are gathered the most tender and sacred associations of Christian history, and Protestantism would be involved in the general wreck. Protestants may find enough to criticise and condemn in the dogmas, the discipline, the riturl, and the policy of that church; but when they assail that church as a monstrosity and a pest, and invoke the civil power to check its growth, if not to get rid of it altogether, they show an ignorance as culpable, and a bigotry as bad as anything they condemn: they arraign the Providence they profess to serve, whose methods are as perfect as they are inscruta-
