WHITE HOUSE SCANDAL.

The President's "Lonely Walk"-Where BEGS LEAVE TO INFORM THE PUBLIC that he has the largest, best, and most com-He Stops.

[Washington Correspondence New York Sun.] General Grant usually takes a lonely walk along Pennsylvania avenue, toward Georgetown, between 5 and 6 o'clock in the afternoon, with his hands thrust deep vated; the rooms are newly furnished, and well in his breeches pockets, and a very red ventilated. She was so elated by the compliment that she prices to suit the times. showed the bouquet all round the hotel, and told where it came from. This made the ladies at the Jennes House fearfully mad. The idea that the president of the United States would send a bouquet to "that woman" was too exasperating for human nature of the feminine gender to bear. Of course, the fact was immediately blown all over the city, and as a matter of personal protection to the President, THE UNDERSIGNED WOULD RESPECTit was stated in a morning paper that the bouquet had been sent that recipient from | erally that they have purchased the above estabthe conservatory of the White House, henceforward conducted under their constant perwithout saying who sent it, but leaving sonal supervision, and they guarantee satisfaction the impression on the reader that it came to all who may favor them with their patronage. from the hands of Mrs. Grant. STRANGE FREAK OF FORTUNE.-A Very singular story has come to our notice, illustrative of the strange freaks sometimes played by lotteries. A gentleman GOOD SADDLE HORSES & MULES, well known in military circles in this city made an investment to the extent of one ticket in the Sacramento lottery. He purchased at the time the first tickets were offered for sale. He had purchased dozens of lottery tickets before, and held twenty in the Mercantile Library scheme, but never heretofore has he had the fortune (or misfortune) to draw a prize. He had become completely disgusted with his ill-luck, and had determmined never to buy another ticket. But when the Sacramento lottery tickets were offered, he, under the whim of the moment, resolved to purchase one only, and to seal it in an envelope without looking at the number until the drawing should have taken place, and he could have a complete list before him. He carried out his resolution. Last evening, with a full list of prizes at hand, he opened his envelope. He had been so many times unfortunate that he really had no expectation of drawing a prize, but still he had a faint hope that his luck would change. On tearing open the en-velope with an affected nonchalance, judge of his astonishment on finding he had drawn-nothing. Moral: If you want to be sure of a lucky number, don't look at it until it draws something.—S. F. Bulletin.

"How Does She Head?"-The N. Y. Day-Book has the following: A correspondent asks how the old Ship of State seems to point in her course, on the present track. We reply: the number of electoral votes in the coming political contest is 317. It requires 159 to complete a majority. The footings of the votes of the 17 States known to be reliable as Democratic, are 151; the footings AGUE KINGof the 11 States, unmistakably Mongrel, are 72 votes, while there are 9 States set down as doubtful, counting 94 votes. If the Democracy can carry either Ohio, Pennsylvania or Illinois, we are all right. If we can carry New Jersey and any other one doubtful State we are safe. If we can carry Connecticut and any other one doubtful State we are "sure pop;" and finally, the signs are, that enough of the doubtful vote will be given to the White Supremacy platform to carry the ticket. But there is labor to be done. This victory must be worked for.

SHE HAD HIM.-In a letter, written from some place in Iowa, to the organ of the strong minded, the Revolution, Mrs. Stanton gets of the following:

In my travels I occasionally meet men J. W. Manning, Prop'. who think that the chief glory of all women is to bear children. One of these conceited lords told me a few days since that his wife had fourteen children, and asked me if I did not think that was the highest right woman could desire. Looking at his little head, contracted chest and crooked legs, I replied, "That turns somewhat on the character and capacity of the father."

EQUAL.—The Examiner gets off the following good one: Bingham, the hero in the wicked drama which strangled an innocent woman, said in his speech the other night, that under Radical rule the humblest individual, whether Pagan or Christian, was equal to the President. We never had an exalted opinion of while in my charge. Grant, but regarded him as a little better than a Digger Indian and a "heathen Chinee," but Bingham thinks otherwise, and Bingham ought to know. We can stand it if he can.

THE AFRICAN RISING.—It has been judicially decided in Washington, says the Bulletin, that a negro is entitled to eat in a restaurant along with the white Notice to Cattle Raisers. cal, temperate, or frigid, it acts folks, whether the proprietors like it or not. The negro is certainly getting on.
