—Bill Ish boasts that he brought up $50,000 to carry this county for Williams. Williams, the son of ten at the public crib, he was one of the best of men; but when he discovered the utter want of principle, the reeking corruption and sordid meanness of the gang, and cut loose from them, then he became a different individual indeed. While, however, he has maintained his standing in the ranks of Democracy, these, his traducers, are consorting with the Republicans, in the camps of the enemy. The union is complete, and the black and tans affiliate harmoniously with the blacks. Can intelligent men conceive to the state of Oregon for the sum or phan while his father was discharging a public duty to the people of Jackson—the son of a man who fell by the arrows and bullets of savages, while proceeding to the Capital to represent the people of this county.
