THE CENTENNIAL.

Oregon City, Dec. 26th, 1873.

Chairman Dem. State Central Com.

It is stated in the Philadelphia Press that Secretary Fish, several months ago, announced, by direction of the President, to the various foreign Governments, that an International Exhibition would be held in that city in 1876, commemorative of the anniversary of American Independence, and inviting them to take part in the exposition. Already favorable responses have been received from the German Empire, Belgium, Ecuador, Mexico and Hayti. It is expected that in a short time other countries will be heard from. Director General Goshorn has been officially notified by Secretary Fish that the Governments of the countries above specified have decided to participate in the exhibition, and that the Resident Commissioner for Ecuador, Edward Shippen, Esq., has already presented his credentials. That Government has made an appropriation toward paying the expense of arranging the representation.

A happy illustration of this fact is afforded by the Government being called upon to provide a carriage for Mrs. Attorney-General Williams. True, the bill did not specify that it was for her. Here is the modest way in which the voucher on file presents the information:

Not the Only One.

It appears that John Meldrum's affair with Geo. H. Williams, in which the latter sold him a surveying contract for $2,000, is not the only one. The Oregon City Enterprise pertinently asks the Surveyor General to tell how Mallory, Barin, Powers and Martin, all Republican members of the last Legislature, came to get contracts. It also advises Meldrum to keep clear of England, ever ready to acquire more the "Ring," or he may be forced to tell-not what he does not, but what
