

TRIFLES.

Grenada is the youngest town in Colorado, and yet it has a population of 652 dogs.

When five or six young ladies sit down to talk about a new dress-pattern, a small boy with a tin horn is a refuge for the weary.

A lady barber has been driven out of Dubuque by the married ladies of that place. The latter thought she scraped acquaintances too easily.

A woman's heart is the only true place for a man's likeness. An instant gives the impression, and an age of sorrow and change cannot efface it.

An Idaho postmaster writes to the Postmaster-General that "I will be full of country postmasters before long if they do not get more pay than is allowed this office."

A Milwaukee woman, far gone with consumption, begged the doctor to give her something that would keep her up until the verdict of the Beecher Committee was published.

It was "darling George" when a bridal couple left Omaha; it was "dear George" at Chicago; at Detroit, it was "George," and when they reached Niagara Falls it was "Say, you."

A greenhorn sat a long time very intently musing upon a cane-bottom chair. At length he said, "I wonder what fellow took the trouble to find all them ar holes and put straws around 'em."

A politician wishing to compliment a well-to-do farmer, said: "You must have begun life early to accumulate such an estate as this? Yes, replied the farmer, I began life when I was a mere baby."

It is only thirty years since the first electric telegraph line was established, and at this time there are many more than a million miles of telegraph wires in use. The man who happened to erect the first line between Washington and Baltimore, died in Newfield, Maine, a few days ago. His name was G. E. Smith.

Don't use a hard pencil. At least that is the advice an Evansville, Indiana, benedict gives his friends. He explains thus: His wife desired him to write a note to a lady, inviting her to meet a party of friends at their house. After "Hubby" had done as his wife desired, and started to post the note, she saw on another paper an impression of what he had written. It was: "Sweet Mattie, Effie desires your company on Wednesday to meet the Smiths. Don't fail to come, and then, my darling, I shall have the happiness of a long walk home with you, and a sweet good-night kiss. I dare not see you often, or my all-consuming love would betray us both. But Mattie, dear, don't fail to come." The wife paid "sweet Mattie" a visit, and the result was that Mattie didn't accept the kind invitation.

A POLECAT FOR A PLAYMATE.—A little four-year-old son of one of our citizens has had an experience with a pet that has not heretofore been domesticated. A few days ago his father returned home, and the little boy said he had a dog out in the box which he wished his father to see. After considerable urging, the father concluded that he would go and see the pup. There had been a dry goods box placed in the door-yard, bottom side up, and the "little dog" ran in an out at pleasure through a place where the box had been broken. The father was surprised on approaching the box to see the child run up and take hold of—not a dog—but a large skunk the child had been petting and playing with for several hours. His skunkship seemed to enjoy the sport as well as the boy, and would allow itself to be fondled just like a kitten, without doing the mean things that some people's skunks do.—Grand Junction (Iowa) Headlight.

WHOLE BOOK FULL.—A late Brooklyn dispatch says:

It is said that the report prepared by the Investigating Committee comprises over 2,000 closely written pages, and will make at least half that bulk in print. This will include all of the testimony previously withheld, together with the final verdict, which is not very lengthy. The whole will be printed in book form at the expense of Plymouth Church, and each member of the Church will receive a copy. The manuscript will be tendered to some paper as soon as completed, and other journals will be furnished with proof slips, so that the public will not be obliged to await the publication in book form.

A WORD TO BOYS.—Truth is one of the rarest virtues. Many a youth has been lost to society by allowing falsehood to tarnish his character and foolishly throw truth away. Honesty, frankness, generosity, virtue—blessed traits! Be these yours, my boys, we shall not fear. You are watched by your elders. Men who are looking for clerks and apprentices have their eyes on you. If you are profane, vulgar, saloon going, they are not likely to choose you. If you are upright, steady and industrious, before long you will find good places, kind masters, and the prospect of a useful life before you.

ENCOUNTERED A TARTAR.—A band of ruffian street robbers in New York attacked Mitchell O'Connor, fresh from Arizona, a few days ago, as he was going to the house of a friend. They picked his pocket of $54 and tossed him violently upon the sidewalk. But he was not the man to surrender so. He sprang to his feet, knocked down one of his assailants, with a pocket-knife stabbed another so that he fell, and then ran and caught, and stabbed another of the rogues who was trying to escape. A fourth one he grabbed by the hair, and these two he led back to where the first two he had overpowered were lying on the sidewalk. There he obliged them to remain until his calls brought the police, into whose hands he transferred them.

CHAMPION THRESHING.—The Yolo (Cal.) Mail of August 13th says: We have a card stating that Messrs. Stinnaff & Bernard, running a threshing in Colusa County have turned off 1,200 sacks of wheat per day on several occasions. This being a fact, they are entitled to the belt.

An eminent physician says that in his opinion there is no such a thing as cholera infantum. It is all the effect of a baby's imagination.

The Law of Newspapers.

- 1. Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary are considered as wishing to continue their subscriptions.
2. If any subscribers order the discontinuance of their newspapers, the publisher may continue to send them until all arrears are paid.
3. If subscribers neglect or refuse to take their newspapers from the offices to which they are directed, the law holds them responsible until they have settled the bills, and ordered them discontinued.
4. If subscribers remove to other places without informing the publisher, and the newspapers are sent to the former direction, they are held responsible.
5. The courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers from the office, or removing and leaving them uncollected, is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.
6. The postmaster who neglects to give the local notice of the neglect of a person to take from the office the newspapers addressed to him, is liable to the publisher for the subscription price.

Day fixed and a FULL DRAWING ASSURED on MONDAY, Nov. 30th, 1874.

LAST CHANCE For AN EASY FORTUNE.
