A GLORIOUS VICTORY!

CONNECTICUT GIVES OVER 9,000 DEM OCRATIC MAJORITY.

Two Congressmen Gained!

The election in Connecticut on the 6th inst. has resulted in a glorious Democratic victory, and of which we may well be proud. It is of such a substantial and sweeping character that the Republicans cannot claim even a partial success, as they did in New Hampshire. Not only does Governor Ingersoll and the rest of the Democratic ticket receive nearly 10,000 majority (a gain of over 3,000) in an increased vote, but three of the four Congressmen are Democrats—a gain of two-and perhaps the fourth.

The Republicans do not conceal their chagrin. They firmly expected to hold their ground and make some gains. A dispatch says that Administration circles at Washington were The arguments and advantages in fagreatly surprised at the result, as they vor of the latter point are so manifest were counting on the certain return of I need not consume time in stating Congressmen Hawley and Kellogg. them, but will consider for a short They have very little to say, but some of the more brassy sheets announce How is the road to be built? We counted on. This is another illustration of the fable of the fox and sour grapes, and one not calculated to be of much force with the masses.

cannot account for their inglorious defeat by reason of lack of effort and interest. Congressmen Hoar, of Massachusetts, Frye, of Maine, Burrows, of Michigan, and a host of other imported and local talent, fought with a will for their waning cause, but to no effect. "Rebel," "traitor" and names of like character, and language calculated more for war times, were flung about with utter recklessness by their papers and speakers, but the honest masses know full well that the Democracy has no other motives but those of peace, harmony and prosperity, and that these incendiary arguments are but electioneering dodges to capture their votes.

All honor to the gallant Democracy of Connecticut!

National Grange Headquarters.

The National Grange, by a very large vote, determined to remove its beadquarters from Washington. The National Capital, for many reasons, was thought to be unsuitable for the location of the executive offices, and it was preferred that they should be fit. It would benefit, in the first place, fixed at some point within the agri- those in need of employment, and concultural region of the Union. The executive committee were instructed to select a location, after thoroughly canvassing the matter, at some point cheapening the cost of importations, within the States of Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky and Tennessee. Several very advantageous offers have been made for the location of the offices of the Grange within the above mentioned States. After this selection has been made, the National Grange will hold its annual sessions at the place chosen for the location of their offices, which, on many accounts, present migratory plan.

What Keeps Gold Up.

The recent rise in the price of gold naturally leads to the inquiry, what keeps it up? It is mainly owing to two causes, the first of which is that it is made the subject of a system of gambling in Wall street, New York, in which the "bull" element bet that on a certain day gold will command a certain price, and it is for their interest to have it reach that price. Again, gold is required to pay the duties on imports and the interest on the public debt. Not being in circulation, the importer is compelled to purchase it in the general markets. It is probable that if the government would receive price of gold would not be much, if the Democratic banner on the dome of any, above par.

THE CHETCO WAGON ROAD.

MR. EDITOR: If it is not irtruding too much upon your space, I should like to invite public attention once more to the paramount importance to the people of Southern Oregon of the completion of the above-mentioned wagon road. The prospect of a railroad at an early day seems extremely limited. Holladay is as liable to take up a portion of the road already built as to build more. All that we continue to import and export, therefore, will have to be freighted with teams either from and to Crescent City and Redding, in California, or fro n Rose b :rg-neither of which roads meets the wants of the community. To say nothing of their greater distance, the character of the country over which they pass renders it impossible to construct such a highway as the trade and commerce of Southern Oregon demand. It has been demonstrated that we can export certain articles of produce to advantage, and that is unquestionably our best reliance for bringing money once more into the country. Hence, the question as to which is the cheapest and most practical route wants to be duly weighed and carefully considered. We want to reach the ocean. If we can reach that by a shorter route and over a better road than to Roseburg, wisdom and economy would dictate sulates. that we do so; provided the cost of opening up such a road is not entirely disproportionate to the interests to be subserved in its construction. After produce reaches Roseburg, it is still a long ways from the ocean, and cannot be got there short of nearly as much cost as to get it to Chetco at once. space the more difficult problem: State or National aid. Can the people build it themselves? I think they can, and not feel its burdens to any extent either. The men who surveyed The most strenuous efforts were the road estimated the cost at over made by the Republicans, and they $50,000, an amount, in my opinion, double what the road need necessarily cost. I say this with all due deference to the eminent engineering ability employed in the survey. I have examined what is said to be the worst part of the road-from Feister's farm a good road can be built for that distance at a cost not to exceed $1,000 per mile, and probably for less. That being assured, I am told by one of the gentlemen connected with the survey > rest of the distance. The people of Curry county, assisted by capitalists from San Francisco, will probably build the road on the west side of the mountain, if we only insure its construction on this side. The distance for us to build would not be over 20 or 25 miles and need not cost to ex-that $500 per mile will build it the ceed $20,000. The benefit of such a road would nearly balance the cost in a single season. The demand for labor at present is very great. Men are not only ready their pay in store goods and provisions, and be glad to get them. Building the road would thus confer a double benevert laborers of the producing class into consumers, and, in the second place, would benefit all Southern Oregon by enhancing the price of produce and and give us an outlet to the commer-WM. As the most notable recent proof of this already established axiom, we point will be a better arrangement than the our readers to the recent New Hampshire election; which they still persist in claiming as a great Republican victory, notwithstanding the fact that New Boot and Shoe Store. the reverse is the case. True, says the Democrat, upon the question of the election of Governor and some other local questions the Democrats having been in power and made some blunders, suffered some insignificant losses; but on national issues, being eminently sound, they elected two Congressmen-a gain of one over the previous delegation from that State; thus showing that even in New Hampshire the policy of the great Democratic party of the nation is recognized as the true one for the government of the country, and that when the great national contest of 1876 comes off the old Granite State will wheel proudly into greenbacks for customs duties the line and assist in once more planting NEATLY & CHEAPLY EXECUTED AT

A dispatch from Omaha says 9,300 emigrants have left there since March 1st. A thousand went west from there in a special train on the 9th.

A severe storm in Arkansas, April 8th. prostrated the wires, blew down houses near Little Rock, and killed several persons. It did damage elsewhere.

Real estate in Portland has materially advanced in prices since the reception of the news that the building of the Portland and Salt Lake road is highly probable.

The Bangor Commercial wants to know what Grant will do with the one hundred and thirty-six Republican Congressmen who recently have walked the plank. The French Government has ordered its

The Record says that the machinery for to the copper mines-and am satisfied the manufacture of boots and shoes at the State Penitentiary has arrived and is now on the ground. Stock has been received for making boots and shoes and preparations are now going on.

A gambler named W. H. Baker shot and killed another gambler named Lee Stewart, in Portland, last Friday morning. The examination of Baker was held before Judge Denny, who held the prisoner in $2,000 bonds to appear before the next grand jury. Twenty tax collectors of the State of Louisiana have failed to make their final settlement with the Auditor. The amount due is $178,446 89, and is unpleasantly large to the overburdened taxpayers. They are all appointees of Kellogg, and belong to that class of White Republicans that Sheridan says the people should be punished for ostracizing.

The ease with which Congressional investigations are gotten up may be understood by the outside world when it is known to work at low wages, but will take that under the rules members are allowed eight dollars per day and ten cents mileage, in addition to their regular salary, while on investigations. Congressmen being human, these little circumstances have their weight. It is stated by the way, that the investigations ordered by the recent Congress will cost something over a half million of dol-

For the first time in its history the Republican party is really dangerous, and the Louisville Courier-Journal, commenting upon it, says: "It is dangerous because it is desperate, and it has the power-it would with very much less muscular vitality still have a dangerous power-to precipitate a civil war. This can only be averted by the complete overthrow of the Radical conspirators before the next Presidential campaign. and mules will be boarded and cared for at FIVE BRAN NEW FLORENCE test in 1878 under the lead of Gen.
