In Norway the longest day is three months. The morning papers there are published quarterly. Fires are still raging in portions of Pennsylvania with loss of life and great damage to property.

Thirteen thousand dollars in gold were taken out of the Virtue mine, in Baker county, during the first twenty days of May. Beef must be very cheap at Walla Walla, W. T. H. B. Day furnishes the Government with beef there for $2.12 per hundred pounds.

The municipal elections held in Virginia last week show Democratic victories with large gains. This result is general throughout the State. The Government will not put in circulation any of the silver coinage, in pursuance of the resumption act, until the price of gold has fallen to about 1.10.

Mrs. Abraham Lincoln attempted to commit suicide the other day, at Chicago, but was prevented by friends. She has now been placed in a private insane asylum. The quantity of iron to be used in the construction of the Centennial buildings will aggregate about 6,000 tons, of which more than five-sixths will be wrought.

The executive committee of the State Sunday School Convention met in Portland week before last, and fixed on the 24th, 25th and 26th days of August for holding next annual meeting. Jacob Stoddard, aged 74, was married on the 4th, in New York, to Amanda Norwood, aged 14. Stoddard's former wife, with whom he had lived for fifty years, died about six weeks previously.

Paul Boynton, who started to cross the English Channel on May 27th in his life-saving suit, succeeded in the attempt. He landed next morning at 3 o'clock, having made the passage in 23 hours and 38 minutes. The Salem Record says: There is not much wool being brought in, and we understand the granges are looking out to do the best they can for producers in disposing of the Oregon clip.

The Brewers' Congress, recently in session at Cincinnati, shows that brewing pays about $9,000,000 revenue tax, and would probably pay more but for the stringent rules of revenue officers. It requests Congress to remove them, and to amend the Internal Revenue laws. The Salem Statesman says Cal. Geer, of Marion county, has a grided Merino ewe on his place, near Silverton, that gave birth to a lamb the other day that measured 31 inches from his nose to the root of his caudal appendage; was 20 inches in height, eight inches through the heart and weighed 26 pounds.

The Indian beef contractors, according to the Sioux chief, Red Cloud, have for months kept up a most villainous system of frauds on the Indians as well as the Government, by furnishing the very poorest quality of meat and flour, and making greatly exaggerated and false returns on the same. It is hardly probable that anything further than a white-washing investigation of the charges against these Government thieves will be made.

The political pot in New Hampshire is almost boiling over. Legislative seats are to be warmly contested. The Democrats claim several seats, also claimed by Republicans, on the ground that the ballots were cast in an illegal manner. The Radicals, on the other hand, say that the Governor and Council have no power beyond declaring those elected who appear to be elected, without inquiring into the legality of the election. Because of Governor Weston's honest position in the matter a howl for his impeachment is going up from the Radical papers of that State.

The Post Office Department is about to inaugurate a change in the registered letter system by the use of registered letter pouches, with special locks between the more prominent offices, by which means the manipulation of registers en route will be avoided and greater security insured. The system will first be introduced upon the through lines between Boston and New Orleans, including Cincinnati and St. Louis, and between New York and San Francisco. If the results upon these routes prove satisfactory, the system will be applied to all distributing offices.

THE GOLD FISH TRICK.

HOW A NECROMANCER CAME TO GRIEF. Max Adeler relates the following: Several of the magicians who perform in public do what they call the "gold fish trick." The juggler upon the stage throws a handkerchief over his extended arm, and produces in succession three or four shallow glass dishes, filled to the brim with water, in which are gold fish swimming. Of course, the dishes are concealed somehow upon the person of the performer.

Peter Lamb, the young fellow who lives near me, discovered how the trick was done, and he offered to do it the other night, at Magruder's party, for the entertainment of the company. So the folks gathered in one end of the parlor, and in a few moments Lamb entered the door at the other end. He said: "Ladies and gentlemen, you will perceive that I have nothing about me except my ordinary clothing and yet I shall produce presently two dishes filled with water and living fish. Please watch me narrowly."

Then Peter flung the handkerchief over his hand and arm, and we could see that he was working his way vigorously at something beneath it. He continued for some moments, and still the gold fish did not appear. Then he began to grow very red in the face, and we saw that something was the matter. Then the perspiration began to stand on Peter's forehead, and Mrs. Magruder asked him if he was well. Then the company laughed and the magician grew redder. But he kept on fumbling beneath the handkerchief and apparently trying to reach under his coat-tails. Then we heard something snap, and the next moment a quart of water ran down the wizard's left leg and spread over the carpet.

By this time he looked as if the grave would be a welcome refuge. But still he continued to feel around under the handkerchief. At last another snap was heard, and one more quart of water plunged down his right leg and formed a pool about his shoe. Then the necromancer hurriedly said that the experience had somehow failed and he darted into the dining room. I followed him and found him sitting on the sofa, trying to remove his pantaloons. He exclaimed: "O, gracious! come here quickly, and pull these off! They're soaking wet, and I've got fifteen live gold fish inside my drawers flopping' around and raspin' the skin with their fins enough to make a man crazy. Ouch! O, Moses! Hurry the shoe off and grab that fish where at my left knee, or I'll have to howl right out!"

Then we undressed him and picked the fish out of his clothes, and I discovered that he had had two dishes full of water and covered with india rubber and the tops strapped inside his trousers behind. In his struggles to get at them he had torn the covers to rags. We fixed him up a pair of Magruder's trousers, which were six inches too short for him. He says now, that the next time he gives exhibitions in public, he intends to confine himself to ventriloquism.

LEXINGTON, Kentucky, has turned out another marvel of a racer—Searcher—a three-year-old, by Enquirer, who in the mile race May 13th made the distance in 1:41—the best mile time it is said ever made in this country. His competitors were Light Coin, three years old, by Lightning, and Misfortune, four years old, by Gilroy; both were distanced. A report says: "The favorite ran like nothing that has ever been seen before; he went round the turn like a flash of lightning." Before the race it was announced that "the winner would be sold at auction to the highest bidder, any excess over the price at which he was entered ($1,500) to be given to the second horse." There was no second horse, however, both the winner's antagonists having been shut out, and it was decided that the owner, Mr. J. B. Rhodes, was entitled to the full price the colt sold for. He was bought by Mr. Robert W. Woolley, of Louisville, for $5,000—it being understood, however, that the purchase was for Mr. Rhodes. Searcher is regarded as the most promising horse in the country.

The quartz and cinnabar mines of Southern Oregon are added to by important and valuable discoveries each week, and each day that passes there are additional evidences brought to light which would lead us to believe that the mineral resources of that part of the State are not yet one-half developed. There is no doubt that Southern Oregon is the great mineral region of this State, and is destined to find in her mines at an early day wealth equalling perhaps that of most favored portions of Nevada.—Portland Journal.

RETURN OF MEACHAM'S INDIANS.

Our readers will remember Meacham's visit here some months ago, to procure representatives of different Indian tribes in this vicinity and Oregon, from which he selected Harney and wife of the Rogue River, Dave Hill and Tecumseh of the Klamaths, and Toby Riddle, of the Modocs, with her white husband, Frank Riddle. On his way east, he failed to secure a representative of the Putes in Nevada, but obtained two of the Modocs at Indian Territory, as well as other Indians. Oliver Applegate returned to this Coast with Harney and wife and Tecumseh, the former arriving here Sunday, and the two latter the day previous. We interviewed Harney, the Rogue River Chief, who seems to be an educated and intelligent Indian, having been raised at the Siletz reservation, and therefore as fully civilized as the white people. He says the troupe met with very good success, and traveled considerable, giving exhibitions in all the principal towns and cities. In some places the religious people did not approve of their war dances or any other dances, and did not patronize them, else they might have been more successful. They visited the President on their way, and remained in Washington about a month, visiting the various places of interest, with carriages at their disposal to ride wherever they desired. In New York they lost Dave Hill, supposed to be kidnapped, in the hope of obtaining a reward. He had evidently gone out alone, and disappeared very mysteriously, without any clue to his abrupt departure. Every nook and corner of the city was diligently searched by the police, and dispatches sent everywhere to discover his whereabouts, but without success up to this date. It is also supposed that his kidnappers have taken him to Europe, for exhibition there, and that he was probably taken on board the steamship Schiller, lately wrecked on the Scilly Islands. A full description of Hill was telegraphed to Europe, so that there can be no trouble in identifying him. Dave Hill was the head chief of the Klamaths, now quartered on the Klamath reservation near Fort Klamath, a well informed Indian and good orator, and his people will no doubt be much excited over his kidnapping. Tecumseh, the medicine man, who arrived with Harney, is also considered a head man in the tribe. Donald McKay, the Chief of the Warm Spring Indians, who exhibited such great bravery and skill in fighting the Modocs at the lava beds, is in the poor house at Boston. Riddle and wife are in New York, with Meacham, where they intend to remain. Harney and Tecumseh remained in town a couple of days, the former visiting some of the Indians about here and having a talk with them. Harney goes back to Siletz reservation, and Tecumseh to Klamath reservation. Scarface Charley and Shacknasty Jim accompanied the expedition at the East, and have also returned to the reservation in Indian Territory, where Capt. Jack's band is quartered.—Yreka Journal.

THE FIGURES.—"There, my dear wife, there is the set of jewelry which you have so long waited for," said a Detroitier as he laid a package before his wife, the other evening. "Oh! my dear old darling, how much did it cost?" she inquired as she tore off the paper.

"And what's this mark, '$8.50,' on the card for?" she asked, as she held it up and looked at it with suspicion in her eyes. "That—that mark—why, that means that they paid only $8.50 to have the jewelry made," he replied. "Just think, darling, of their grinding a poor, hard-working artisan down to $8.50!"

She was satisfied with the explanation, and he whispered to himself: "What a nule I was not to change that $8.50 to $50."—Detroit Free Press.

The latest amusement is termed the "Printer's Delight," and is performed in the following manner: Take a sheet of note paper, fold it up carefully and enclose an amount sufficiently large to pay up arrears and a year in advance. And what adds immensely to the feat is to send along the name of a new subscriber with cash to balance. Keep your eye on the printer, and if you detect a smile the trick is a success. Try it!—Carthage Patriot.

A MAN must invest himself near at hand and in common things, and be content with a steady and moderate return, if he would know the blessedness of a cheerful heart, and the sweetness of a walk over the round earth. This is a lesson the American has yet to learn—the capability of amusement on a low key.

"GEORGE, dear, don't you thin you are rather extravagant; eating butter with that delicious jam?" "No indeed, love, don't you see, the same piece of bread does for both."
