FRIDAY.....JULY 2, 1875.

FAILURES IN BUSINESS. — Peter Cooper failed in making hats, failed as a cabinet maker, locomotive builder and grocer, but as often as he failed he tried again, until he could stand upon his feet alone; then crowned his victory by giving $1,000,000 to help poor boys in time to come.

Horace Greeley tried three or four lines of business before he founded the Tribune and made it worth $1,000,000. Patrick Henry failed at everything he undertook, until he made himself the ornament of his age and nation.

The founder of the New York Herald kept on failing and sinking his money for ten years, and then made one of the most profitable newspapers on earth.

Stephen A. Douglas made dinner tables and bedsteads and bureaus many a long year before he made himself a giant on the floor of Congress.

Abraham Lincoln failed to make both ends meet by chopping wood; failed to make his salt in the galley slave life of a Mississippi flatboatman; he had not even wit enough to run a grocery, and yet he made himself a grand character of the nineteenth century.

General Grant failed at everything except smoking a cigar; he learned to tan hides, but couldn't sell leather enough to purchase a pair of breeches. A dozen years ago he brought up on top of a wood pile, teaming it to town for $40 a month, and yet he is at the head of a great nation.

A CURIOUS litigation is going on in Bloomington, Illinois. About thirty years ago, one Stephen Griffith had some 1,500 head of cattle and the same number of hogs. Corn was high, stock on the decline, and Stephen, in daily fear of losing all his property, entered into a covenant with God, that if He would help him out of the difficulty he would make over all his property he might in future acquire, above enough to support him, to the Lord. During his life he gave away almost $1,000,000 to various religious and charitable institutions. When he died, at the age of 80, he was thought to be insane, for he previously conveyed property valued at $150,000 to the Orphan Institute at Flat Rock, Ohio, the Freeman's Aid Society, the Christian Union, the American Bible Society, the Tract, and the Church Extension Society. These conveyances his heirs propose to set aside, with what prospect of success we are not informed. The point that when in danger of loss he made a special vow, would hardly prove him insane, though his keeping it might, in the opinion of some men. — New York Tribune.

GROWING CUCUMBERS FOR PICKLES. — I find cucumbers a paying crop when grown for pickles, and sold either before or after salting—price per 100 the same in either case. I plow as deep as two horses can pull the plow, then mark one way four feet apart, letting the plow run as deep as the ground was plowed. I then put a large shovelful of good barnyard manure where each hill is wanted—say four feet apart—and then thoroughly mix with the soil, making the hills about two inches higher than the general surface of the ground. I plant about the middle of June. As soon as the plants get large enough to be out of the way of the striped bug, I thin to four plants to each hill. I cultivate them frequently, and hand-hoe two or three times before the vines commence to run.—P. S. Ransom.

MISSIONARY NEEDED. — According to the testimony before the jury in the case of the State vs. John Parrott, for burning an old tannery, in Salem, while in company with two daughters of Rev. L. D. Driver, the family of that reverend gentleman needs a missionary, and needs one bad. The testimony of one witness was that the Driver girls were shockingly profane, and another witness gave the following:

On that occasion Driver said to John, "Look here, John, I know I swore, knocked you down with a club and choked you; I know I knocked Jennie down with a club and ran after her with an axe and threatened to kill her, but if it gets out I will have to quit preaching and my children will starve." Mr. Driver was in his buggy at the time he said this.

A PAIR of six-year-old graded Devon oxen, weighing four thousand seven hundred pounds, were sold, recently, in Gilmanton, N. H., for $325. A pair of ordinary native cattle would have cost just as much to raise, and would have sold for half as much. Moral: Keep good stock.

How soon some young women change their minds respecting their husbands! Mrs. Spinn was forever telling her husband that he wasn't worth the salt in his bread; but when he got killed in a railway collision she sold the company for $5,000.

READING the great Surgeon's declaration, "A cigar is a thing to thank God for," a Navy Yard school boy bought a cigar. He was afterwards seen hanging over a fence, but he was not giving thanks.

An Iowa woman gave her husband morphine to cure him of chewing tobacco. It cured him, but she is doing her own spring plowing.

CONDITION OF THE NATIONAL GRANGE. — A Washington dispatch dated June 15th says the headquarters of the National Grange of the Patrons of Husbandry, which ever since the organization of the order, in 1868, has been in Washington, will probably be removed to Louisville, Ky., in a short time. Kentucky stands No. 5 as regards the number of granges, having 1,559. Indiana heads the list with 2,027 granges. Missouri has 2,026; Iowa, 2,004; Illinois, 1,584, and Kentucky, 1,559. The total number of granges in the United States is 23,500, with an estimated aggregate membership of 1,500,000. The total receipts from 1868 to 1871, inclusive, were less than $5,000, while the receipts last year were $216,381. The order at present has $69,000 invested in Government bonds, and $19,000 in cash on deposit at the financial agency in New York.

REMOVAL OF NITRIC STAINS. — The yellow stains formed on brown or black woolen goods by nitric acid can be removed, when freshly formed, by moistening them repeatedly with a concentrated solution of permanganate of potash, and then rinsing with water. Yellow stains on the hands may be treated in the same way, and the dark brown coloration produced may then be removed by treating with aqueous solution of sulphurous acid.

A KANSAS paper says: "A mule kicked an insurance agent in this place on the cheek the other day. The agent's cheek was uninjured, but the mule's hoof was broken."

IMPORTANT. — Endorsed by the Medical profession. Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs cures Coughs, Colds and Consumption, and all diseases of the Throat and Chest. Dr. Townsley's Toothache ANODYNE cures in one MINUTE.
