HOW KID GLOVES ARE MADE .--- In certain parts of Europe the rearing of kids for the sale of their skins is an important business, those which command the highest prices, and are regarded as superior to all others, being the French, called in the market peaux nationales. By some the fine quality of those skins is attributed to a peculfar virtue in the wild vines upon which the young ones feed in the pasturage which they frequent ; this, however, being a popular error, as their value is simply the result of care with which the little animals are reared during their life of four or five weeks. They are not allowed to roam at large, as such a ficense would imperil the evenness of their skins, which would become scratched by rubbing against stones, or passing through hedges. They are, besides, deprived of all food except milk, as eating grass would tend to make their skins coarse. Consequently they are kept under a wicker coop, from which, at regular hours, they are led to suckle the mother, and this continues until they are killed, at the end of four or five weeks. The younger they are killed the thinner the skin, but, of course, the smaller they are the less valuable, too, especially when they are only large enough to allow of single buttoned gloves, while the demand is all for two, three and four-buttoned gloves. By rearing the kids in the manner just described, larger skins are obtained, which are as fine and delicate as those of younger ones of other coun-

COUNTRY PRESS .- The prophets of evil who for years have been predicting that the country newspapers were to be swallowed up by the gigantic monopolies of the metropolis, have #### missed their mark. Never before was the country press so strong, so influential, so respectable, as to-day; and never before was its success and prosperity so well assured. If the metropolitan press has had any influence in shaping the career of the country journal, it has been beneficial rather than detrimental, in creating a thirst for news that the former could not supply. TINWARE, The man who takes a city political or religious journal becomes much more eager for home news than he who does not read at all. He finds that one does not do for the other. He would as soon think of making his overcoat do duty as hat and boots, as seeking local intelligence in a New York daily. The home organ has a distinct mission of its own, which no other can supply, and the more journalism advances, the stronger becomes its growth and the purer and better its influence.

A VERY adhesive cement, and one particularly useful for fastening the brass mountings on glass lamps, as it is unaffected by petroleum, may be Cast Iron and Steel Plows. prepared by boiling three parts of resin ROPE. with one part of caustic soda and five parts of water, thus making a kind of soap, which is mixed with one-half its weight of plaster of Paris. Zinc white, white lead, or precipitated chalk may be used instead of the plaster, but when they are used, the cement will be longer in hardening.

A MILWAUKEE belle, attending a theatre in the city recently, complained in one of the scenes that the ties where they roam at liberty. As light was too dim to show the acting France produces the best skins so Paris properly. For a time things went on smoothly with Chores, but lately he seemed out of spirits, and seldom smiled. His employer observed this despondent demeanor of Chores, But no matter. Taking Chores aside one day, when he looked more gloomy than usual, he inquired, considerately, what it was that ailed him. "Well, you see, Mars'r," began Chores, in a sort of tragic style, "you's got but one hoss, while all the gentlemen 'bout hea has two; an' all de boys, da call me a one-hoss nigger ; an' as I can't stan' dat, I spects I'll have for to resign. I like you fusrate, Mars'r, an' I'd like to stay if you had two hosses, but you see how it is-de boys, dey can't quit hollering, 'Dere go dat one-hoss nigger!" Not wishing to lose the services of so valuable an assistant, a second horse was purchased, and Chores became a two-horse nigger.

These come with their own teams and have many droves of cattle. He says next year this overland emigration will be immense, as large companies are forming in those States, who have been in correspondence with him, and also in Wisconsin and Minnesota, with a view to go to Oregon or Washington Territory next spring. Also twentyseven families are preparing to emigrate to Oregon from Texas. He places the overland emigration to the Pacific next year at not less than 20,000 persons.

Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of VINEGAR BITTERS?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life-giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of VINEGAR BITTERS in healing the sick of every disease man is heir to. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, in Bilious Diseases.

If men will enjoy good health, let them use VINEGAB BITTERS as a medicine, and avoid the use of alcoholic stimulants ia every form.

It removes all eruptions and dandruff, and, by its tonic properties, prevents the hair from falling out, as it stimulates and nourishes the hair-glands. By its use, the hair grows thicker and stronger. In baldness, it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, and will create a new growth, except in extreme old age. It is the most economical HAIR DRESSING ever used, as it requires fewer applications, and gives the hair a splendid, glossy appearance. A. A.
