BUILDING ON THE SAND.

FRIDAY ......JANUARY 21, 1876.

'Tis well to woo, 'tis well to wed, For so the world hath done Since myrtles grew and roses blew, And morning brought the sun. But have a care, ye young and fair, Be sure you pledge the truth; Be certain that your love will wear Beyond the days of youth! For if you give not heart for heart, As well as hand for hand, You'll find you've played the unwise par

"Tis well to save, 'tis well to have A goodly store of gold, And hold enough of shining stuff, For charity is cold. But place not all your hope and trust In what the deep mine brings; We cannot live on yellow dust Unmixed with purer things; And he who piles up wealth alone Will often have to stand Beside his coffer chest, and own "Tis "built upon the sand."

And "built upon the sand."

'Tis good to speak in kindly guise And soothe where'er we can; Fair speech should bind the human mine And love link man to man. But stop not at the gentle words; Let deeds with language dwell; The one who pities starving birds Should scatter crumbs as well;

The mercy that is warm and true Must lend a helping hand, For those that talk, yet fail to do, But "build upon the sand."

A GHASTLY DISCOVERY.—Advices from Panama, December 2d, state that a paper says: "Repairs to an old San Andreas Hospital being necessary, one wall of the Chinese ward was thrown down, when the laborers found the wall was hollow and filled with human remains. The laborers then worked with zeal, until between four and five thousand skeletons were discovered. San Andreas Hospital was built in 1557, under the protection of the Marquis of Cantle, Don Andreas Houtado, and by the advice of a Spanish priest named Molina. Since that time it has been employed for charitable and humane purposes, for which it was constructed. How the skeletons came | solution carries no more silver. The where they were found is not known to any one, but the South Pacific Times says the impression generally prevails that these bones belong to victims of the Inquisition. They appear to be 150 to 200 years old, and, from their appearance, lead to the belief that the bodies were thrown into the openings between the walls, as the skeletons appear to be clothed and dressed. Boots and shoes were found mixed with large quantities of women's hair. A portion of a Spanish missal has also been found, but nothing of any value.

IN WASHINGTON .- By private advices from Washington City the Albany Democrat learns that our Congressman, Hon. L. F. Lane, is working like a beaver for Oregon's interests, with a flattering show of accomplishing considerable. Hon. J. K. Luttrell, of California, true to his pledges made in Oregon last Fall, is standing shoulder to shoulder with Mr. Lane in everything that looks to the development of our State. Senator Kelly is pushing his Cascades locks bill with all energy, and hopes much from the encouraging pledges of other Senators.

There are an unusual number of lobbyists in attendance on the present session of Congress, and they are going unusual pertinacity. Harvey Scott is there, trying to save his official head, the subscription price. which O. N. Denny is trying hard to elevate on his own triumphant pole. The two Bens, (Simpson and Underwood) have learned of their danger and are buzzing around the Departments to save themselves, while George E. Cole is making frantic efforts to hold on to his fat Portland post office; but it is almost a certainty that he will have to "step down and out." Take it all in all, those Federal officials have a pretty tough time of it. "If uneasy rests the head that wears a crown," how much more uneasily must rest the heads that are subject to the whims and caprices of the crown-wearer.

REBELLIOUS ORE REDUCTION. -The Scientific American says the hyposulphate or leaching process, for the reduction of silver ores, is becoming very popular in Lower California and Northern Mexico, where it has lately been introduced. This process is best adapted to ores abounding in sulphur. The rock is crushed dry and only re- gon. quires to be fine enough to pass MAX MULLER, Sec'y. through screens of 20 to 30 meshes to the inch. It is then roasted in reverbatory furnaces with salt. The roasted tubs holding from eight to ten tons, and a stream of clear water turned on until it is covered and kept running five or six hours. The water is then run off and a cold solution of hyposulphate of soda is passed through the ore in the same manner until it is ascertained by test that the hyposulphate precipitation of the silver ore now held in solution is accomplished by adding to the hyposulphate solution a solution of quick-lime and sulphur made by boiling in water two parts of sulphur. This is done in the tanks by the aid of steam.

OVERCROWDED PROFESSIONS .-- "The professions are generally overstocked in the cities and larger towns of this coast." Never was a truer word offered. We have a larger supply of lawyers, doctors, preachers, etc., than there is any field of usefulness for, and FRETTING.—One fretter can destroy consequently there are many members mechanic, together with quite a numconsequently degenerate into confi- kept clean.
