EFFECTS OF AMMONIA ON FLOWERS. -The results of experiments to test the effect of ammonia upon the colors and fragrance of flowers, by Professor Gobba, is given in the French Journal of Herticulture. He poured a small quantity of aqua ammonia into a dish, over which he placed a funnel. Inserting into the tube of this the flowers to be operated upon, he found that those tinted blue, violet, and purple, were changed to a beautiful green; those tinted with a deep carmine were changed to black; while flowers of a pure white were turned yellow. Fuschias, having white and red in the calyx and corolla, became, on exposure to the ammonia, yellow, blue and green. By immersing these flowers in water kept below 60°." TO YOUR BEST INTERESTS!!

HAVE LATELY BROUGHT OUT I from the East two pure blood imported Percheron stallions, the best I could find.

PRIDE OF PERCHE

Came out from France to Ohio in 1874, and made the season of '75 in Wisconsin. He is a dark dapple gray, well formed, fine style, NAILS, good disposition, with a graceful, free, easy action that I have never seen equaled in any horse of his size.

FLEURY

Arrived in Ohio last August from France. He is a dark iron gray, a young horse of great promise, of immense power, as is shown by his general make-up, action and

These stallions will be larger than White Prince at maturity. Together with White Prince, Pride of Perche and Fleury will be found at my stables for the accommodation of the public till March 26th. After that, Fleury will remain here for the coming season. White Prince and Pride of Perche will go to Albany and Salem, returning about the last of July. While in the East on my last trip I made it an object to see and learn how the Pertations of the public, and how the colts from White Prince would compare with those of other stallions of this stock. It is now 25 years since its introduction in Ohio and 19 years since first introduced in Illinois. I do not wish to be understood as claiming that this stock of horses is the only one that all breeders should patronize exclusively; but that there is no breed or family of large horses known that cross so well with the common stock of the country, and their produce will equal them for solid form, size, style and action, which is no doubt from the fact that the Percheron has descended from the Arab, as will be seen by the following:

There was a Percheron stallion imported from France by Jeff, K. Clark, of St. Louis, Mo., weighing 1.700 pounds, who trotted on of all kinds-just what every married man the St. Louis Fair Grounds, with two men in a barouche, a mile in 3:42. I have seen

The Germantown Telegraph states that at the Norfolk County Fair a pair of stallions of the Percheron breed, attached to an omnibus containing six people, drew it one mile in four minutes. This, I think, is better time than most of horses bred from celebrated trotters could make with the same load. The sire of Lulu, who is designated by sporting men as the "Queen of the Turf," having made the three best mile heats on record, was a half-blood Norman.
