GENERAL NOTES AND NEWS.

Small-pox is steadily increasing in San Francisco.

Beecher has come out in favor of Hayes. Let us hear from the Wood-hull.

An average crop of wheat in the United States is about 300,000,000 bushels.

Dispatches from every part of the East speak of the intense heat, its long continuance and its fatal effects.

Another change seems to have been made in the office of collector of customs for Portland. John Kelly, of Lane county, is the man now.

The largest tree standing in the United States is at the head of Bear creek, north fork of the Tule river, California. It is over 46 feet in diameter.

Shepardson, on trial for robbing the mail, and for which several innocent men were sentenced to the Penitentiary, was found guilty, but pleading the statute of limitation escaped.

In the year 1860 the United States produced 32,000 tons of wool; the clip of 1875 was 100,000 tons, yet the country imported last year $11,000,000 worth of wool and $50,000,000 worth of woolen goods.

Worcester (Mass.) Press says: "We say confidentially to these republican gentlemen: You may make up your minds to see Governor Tilden carry New York State by about 60,000 or 70,000 majority."

The death strokes in New York on the 11th exceeded those of any previous day for fifteen years, except July 2d, 1862, when sixty-eight were reported. On Monday there were sixty deaths by sunstroke.

It is estimated that there are now 240,000 Angora goats on the Pacific Coast, and quite an industry is anticipated in breeding them, as their skins make excellent lap-robes and gloves, while their wool is very valuable.

The Postoffice authorities have issued a caution informing the public that they must not enclose coin or jewelry in letters, either ordinary or registered, which are sent to any foreign country in the Postal Union.

Grant, Belknap, Beecher, Blaine, Babcock, Robeson, Schenck, the Republicans in the Senate, and ninety-four thousand office-holders, have hastened to hitch themselves to the cart-tails of Hayes. It is too heavy a load for a small man to draw.

The Baltimore Gazette says that Gen. Grant has turned out of office all the men who so nobly aided Bristow in punishing the whisky thieves and breaking up illicit distillation in the West. The meaning of it probably is that the whole business will be revived for the benefit of the campaign fund.

Albany Argus says: "The Democratic National Convention marks a new era in the history of the Democratic party. It was thoroughly aggressive in its character. It was composed of fresh representative men; men from the people, who understood the people's wants, who would stop at no compromises."

The machine that runs for Grantism is to continue to run for Hayes. The success of Hayes means a continuation of Grantism. If so stubborn a man as Grant is but dough in the hands of the 'ings, what shall we say of him whom the rings seek to make his successor? Besides, Grant indorses Hayes, takes him to his arms, adopts him as his own favorite.

The Eugene City Guard says: A worm, said by some to be the army worm, is making sad havoc among vegetation in this locality. Potatoes seem to be its weakness, in some cases as many as a pint having been found in one hill, but these not being handy it operates on any and all kinds of vegetables. A patch of potatoes on the east side of the river, at Skaggs' ferry, was entirely destroyed by them, and W. T. Osburn only saved his potatoes by pouring kerosene on the tops, having first tried ashes without any effect. Jos. Myers states that they are also at work in his hop-yard, but as yet have done no great injury."

The New York Evening Post, which is certainly not a Democratic paper, very forcibly says: "The Republican party must acknowledge with shame that if their adversaries had not obtained a majority in the House of Representatives, and set on foot the investigations which are now going on, the frightful abuses which have been lately revealed, would, in all probability, have continued unchecked to the end of Gen. Grant's administration, and, if the office-holders could succeed in electing his successor, would have lasted perhaps four years more. That Gen. Grant is responsible for what has happened, it would require the most shameless hardihood to deny."

RAPS ON THE CINCINNATI PLATFORM.

To this end we imperatively demand a Congress and Chief Executive whose courage and fidelity to these duties shall not falter until these results are placed beyond dispute or recall.—Republican Platform.

"These results" are always represented as endangered, and the Republican party continually claims that it should be employed to place them beyond dispute or recall. The reconstruction job is still doing, is still to do.

The permanent pacification of the Southern section of the Union; the complete protection of all its citizens in the free enjoyment of all their rights, are duties to which the Republican party are sacredly pledged.—Republican Platform.

Whenever any party is pledged to the pacification of a people entitled to self-government, and enjoying that right peacefully, beware of it.

It is the immediate duty of Congress to fully investigate the effect of the immigration and importation of Mongolians on the moral and material interests of the country.—Republican Platform.

What makes the duty so immediate? Grant has been urging it in his messages for years, to no purpose.

It is the right and duty of Congress to prohibit and extirpate in the Territories that relic of barbarism polygamy.—Republican Platform.

The Republican Congresses have been neglecting their duties scandalously for a good many years.

We reaffirm our opposition to further grants of public lands to corporations and monopolies.—Republican Platform.

This is like a thief's declaration that he reaffirms his opposition to picking empty pockets.

We will hold all public officers to a rigid responsibility.—Republican Platform.

Yes, but the people will hold the party that appointed them to a rigid responsibility.

We rejoice in the quickened conscience of the people concerning political affairs.—Republican Platform.

This is licking the hand that smites them.

We sincerely deplore all sectional feeling and tendencies.—Republican Platform.

"You lie, you villains, you lie!"—Tribune of 1866, passim.

TOO MUCH NOISE FOR THE SIZE.—After a most ridiculous and extravagant plea by a young lawyer in a trivial case, an old lawyer, who had a way of saying quaint things, remarked, in opening the opposing side of the case, that his young friend's elaborate plea reminded him of the experience of a neighbor of his who was once engaged in breaking a colt, and the story he told of it was in substance like this:

The colt breaker made his young son hide in the bush while he himself was to mount the animal and put him at his top speed to the hiding place, and then the boy was to rush suddenly out and shout "Boo!" the idea being to prove how well the colt would stand the scare.

Everything was done according to programme, but the result was altogether too much of a scare for the colt, who kicked up his heels and put down his head and the old man was thrown over it far into the road on his head.

Clearing the dust from his loosened teeth, he made for the boy with the switch he had cut to drive the colt, and with rage began to dress the astonished young man down, shouting, "What did you do that for? What did you do that for?"

"But, father," said the boy, crying, "you told me to holler boo!"

"Yes," said the old man; "but, dang it, it was altogether to big a 'boo' for so small a colt!"

OLD MAIDS.—The New York Ledger comes to the rescue of old maids, as follows: "Shriveled and withered, you say they are! Men and women grow old and gray, whether married or single; but many an old maid lingers today on this mundane sphere who would have died long ago, an unhappy but admired wife had she consented to marry some man whom she did not love, but did despise, and said 'Yes' where conscience and God commanded her to say 'No.' Long live old maids, and let no woman, from the fear of becoming one, ever willfully and deliberately sacrifice herself. It is the next crime to suicide."

LITTLE Billy was very cross and tired the other night, and he wanted his father to take him on his knee; but father was tired or pretended to be. "I want you to hold me on your knee," he whined. "I tell you I can not do it, I am tired," replied his father impatiently. "Tired! You was not very tired last night when you held Mary on your knee in the kitchen."

A GOOD TIME TO IMPROVE OR BUY SHEEP.—Sheep are now cheaper than at any previous time in the history of the State. Large numbers have changed hands at one dollar a head, and still they are offered for sale. Establishments are being constructed for killing sheep merely for the pelts and tallow. The causes of this depression in the price of sheep are the low prices of wool and the scarcity of range for large flocks. The former cause will undoubtedly pass away as a change in the manufacturing interests of the country improve and wool regains its former price. But the latter cause—the scarcity of range for large flocks—will continue to grow more each year as agriculture and cultivation takes possession of the now untilled and vacant lands. The present circumstances are most favorable to the improvement of our flocks. Let our sheep owners, while reducing the number, improve the quality of their sheep, and they will in the end be the gainers by the operation. Now is a good time also for farmers generally to invest in a few sheep to be kept on their farms after the manner of the Eastern farmers. Every farm should have a few sheep on it to supply the family and workmen with fresh meat, and to act as weed killers on the fields and summer fallows. Every farm of one hundred and sixty acres can, if well managed, keep in good condition fifty head of sheep upon what is ordinarily wasted, or on what ordinarily requires a good portion of the time and labor of one man to keep in subjection, namely, the weeds. The meat and wool of these sheep and their increase can be made at net profits. Fifty sheep can now be bought for fifty dollars less than the average meat bill of the medium farmers of the State. The increase from fifty ewes will furnish the fresh meat in the future and save this fifty dollars, and the wool will sell for enough to buy the farmer two or three suits of clothes each year, while the sheep will save the wages of one man on the farm by consuming the weeds.—Sacramento Record Union.

DON'T GROAN.—The man who groans over his poverty without taking any steps toward bettering his condition is justly regarded as a good-for-nothing dunc. Had he sense, the more desperate his fortunes the more energetic would be his attempts to improve them. Groaning does not help the matter; work is what is wanted. Persistent work will accomplish most anything. Opportunities are always waiting for those who are able to seize them. If a young man is poor it does no good to complain about it. Let him go to work to acquire means to fit himself for business. When thoroughly instructed in business affairs he will find plenty of opportunities to advance himself. Business men are always glad to get such talent. They know that any young man who has had force of character enough to educate himself will always prove useful, and can be depended on. Young man, if you are poor, don't groan, but go to work.

SHALLOX.—In case this loathsome disease should gain a foothold in our midst as in all probability it may, we give a remedy said to have been discovered by a surgeon in the British army. The mode of treatment is as follows: When the preceding fever is at its height, and just before the eruption appears, the chest is rubbed with croton oil and tartaric ointment. This causes the whole of the eruption to appear on that part of the body to the relief of the rest. It also secures a full and complete eruption, and thus prevents the disease from attacking the internal organs. This is now the established mode of treatment in the English army in China, and is regarded in England as a perfect cure.—Mercury.

WEEDS.—It is a good thing for a farmer not to be afraid of weeds. Some think and act as though they could not be killed. We know that they can be if properly managed. The secret is to start early and keep at them. Perseverance during the whole season is necessary. Harrowing the ground soon after the crops are planted, and again as soon as they are up, and then cultivate often, will nearly demolish them. Any that escape the implements should be hand-pulled.

To destroy potato bugs—mix one gallon of prussic acid with three ounces of redrock, stir well and administer a tablespoonful every hour and a half until the bug shows signs of weakening. Then stamp on him.

TWENTY-BUTTON gloves that reach to the elbows are the fashion this year. After a man has bought one pair he never denies a woman's right to bare arms.

THERE are two reasons why some people don't mind their own business. One is that they haven't any business, and the other is they haven't any mind.
