RELIGIOUS NOTICE.—Rev. J. S. McCrein having improved in health, will hold divine services at the M. E. Church next Sunday morning and evening.

MARRIED.—At Oakland, Cal., recently, Major James Jackson was married to Miss Ida Beach, formerly of this section. They are expected at Fort Klamath about the 1st of August.

IMP. O. R. M. DELEGATES.—At a recent meeting of Oregonian-Pacifi- cian Tribe No. 1, Imp. O. R. M., E. D. Foundry, E. B. Watson, Sol. Sachs and David Cronmiller were elected delegates to the Great Council, which is in session at Portland this week.

CHANGE OF PUBLICATION DAY.—After to-day the TIMES will be published every Thursday morning. We make this change for the benefit of our many subscribers in Lake and Josephine counties, who will thus receive the latest news several days earlier than they now do.

FOR KENTUCKY.—Mr. Wm. Bybee left Yreka for his old home in Winchester, Clark county, Kentucky, after the Centennial celebration there. He will be gone for some months, during which time he will probably visit the Exposition at Philadelphia. We wish him a pleasant journey and safe return.

PROBATE COURT.—In the Probate Court on the 17th, Anna Dean filed bonds in the sum of $5,000, as administratrix of the estate of N. C. Dean, deceased, with J. McDonough, Thos. Wright, J. E. Ross, Jacob Ish and J. Kellogg, sureties. John Watson, John Tupper and Thos. Chivner were appointed appraisers.

THE STAR CLUB & THE FRONT.—The President of the Star Base Ball Club requests us to state that if the second nine of the Ashland club is not satisfied with their game last Monday, that they will soon be ready to meet them in a match game. The Star club is composed of boys, most of whom are under 15 years of age, but they mean business and are anxious to hear from their Ashland friends.

NEW DISTILLERY.—The Roseburg Independent of the 17th says J. Kirkland left for Jacksonville this week, near which place he proposes to immediately commence the erection of a steam distillery, capable of turning off two hundred gallons of liquor a day. The distillery is expected to be put in complete running order in a short time, and will be located either at Applegate, W. guer or Bear Creek or Phoenix. Everything as to the matter of location will depend upon which locality produces the most fruit.

ATTRACTING MORE ATTENTION.—W. W. Piper, formerly architect on the State Capitol, accompanied by a mineralogist, was in town last week making inquiries concerning our mines. Mr. Piper is reported to represent Portland men of means, who will invest in our mines, if they are justified in doing so. Professional duties requiring his attention, he left for home last Saturday. Our mines are gradually attracting more attention abroad, and all that is necessary to bring them out is capital, plenty of which we will ultimately be assured.

FROM LAKE COUNTY.—Arthur Langell arrived from Lake county this week. From him we learn that stock is getting along finely and will soon be in condition for market. Cattle buyers have already been there in quest of fat beef cattle, but could not be accommodated as yet. There will be plenty of hay cut this year, although in some places in Langell, Lost river and Link river valleys, where hay is usually cut, there is considerable water yet standing. Mr. Langell thinks that cattle will command a better price this year than for some time past. The loss of cattle, as has already been stated, was severe during the past winter, cows being the principal sufferers. Jesse D. Carr's men inform him that they this year branded less than 200 calves against 500 last.

BASE BALL MATCHES.

The base ball fever is still at its height, and last Saturday and Monday were the occasion of two splendid games between the two nines of the Jacksonville and Ashland clubs. In one the former triumphed, and the latter in the other.

Saturday's game was between the first nines of the two clubs and was played on the flat near the District School House, a poor place, to say the least. A large crowd was present and the match proved to be one of the most interesting as well as the best played that ever occurred between Salem and Sacramento, as the score will show. Each club played well, but while the batting of the Ashlands was the best, the fielding of the Jacksonville's excelled that of their competitors. The Jacksonville nine's playing on the first inning was very poor and proved to be their defeat. It then seemed as though they would be badly beaten; but, by a judicious re-arrangement of their men, they kept gaining until the ninth inning, when the game stood even—21 to 21. On the ninth, however, by a series of good strikes, knocking the ball over the fence several times, the Ashland scored six, while their opponents only added two their score, which decided the game for the former by four runs. The Ashland nine had considerable advantage in practice as also in size of players, they being all grown men, while a majority of the Jacksonville nine were small boys, which counted heavily in the batting. But, while it is not the intention to detract one iota from the merit of the Ashland players, it is the almost unanimous opinion that if the Jacksonville nine had had a little practice together or exercised more judgment in placing their men on the first inning, the score would have stood decidedly different. The following is the score:

Table with columns for Jacksonville, R. O., Ashland, R. O., and various player names and scores.

OUR Ashland cotemporary finds some consolation for the defeat of its second nine in the fact that five of the Jacksonville second nine played in the match game with the Ashland first nine last Saturday. The truth is that the so-called Jacksonville first nine was nothing but a picked nine from players in town, had never practiced together, knew little of each other's particular merits, and only played to accommodate the Ashland boys, having not the first idea of beating them, as they did not know what men were going to play until just before the game was called. The Jacksonville first nine has never been fully organized, but will be heard from ere long. Besides, as our cotemporary doubtless knows, a first nine can play as many of its second as it chooses. The Ashland boys were last Monday beaten by none other than the Jacksonville second nine, who claim to be nothing more or less.
