The New York custom house frauds. Usurpation in Louisiana. The credit mobilier iniquity. The Freedman's Saving Bank swindle.

But this kind of corruption is not peculiar to Surveyor-General Odell or the Oregon office; it has been equally ripe in California. Alex. McKay, a competent surveyor of the latter State, informed me he had surveyed two or three different contracts without even knowing who received his pay from the Government, he being requested to sign a blank power of attorney and accept $100 per month for his services. It is true Mr. Hardenburg has been Resort to No Argument.

We have to hear of the first genuine argument yet advanced why the Republicans should be continued in power. Its record is so infamous that it cannot be defended on real issues, but its speakers and press resort to the smallest prejudice to influence voters, shake the bloody shirt and fight the war over again and villify the opposing to detract attention from their own inquities, But this won't win. The people will hold them in strict account for the base thievery, inefficiency and maladministration that has characterized the rule of the Radical party for the past eight years. The masses well know that a change of rule is necessary for the best interests of the country, and therefore are bound to elect Tilden and Hendricks.

The day is coming when a duped people shall cast off the yoke of military power and restore the civil government devised by our fathers; and the dawn of that day is not far off.

Indiana Congressmen.

A great deal of surprise has been expressed that while the Democrats have carried Indiana and nearly held their own on the State ticket in Ohio, they have lost so many Congressmen. Call, an Independent paper, is not difficult of explanation. Both parties have a habit when they obtain control of a Legislature to re-district the State in their own interests. Suppose the candidates, attempting in this manner Republicans are in a majority in the Legislature, they set off a number of strong Democratic counties into one Congressional District, then group some evenly balanced counties so that in an ordinary season, when there is no tidal wave, a Republican can be elected, continuing this process all over the State. When the Democrats get control they do the same thing, with the difference, of course, of grouping counties in their own interest. Now of the latest patents ; Pocket Pistols, neat, it happens that the Republicans had the last chance at Indiana, and made der Flasks; Hunting and pocket knifes of the most of it. Thus we see that the few Democrats elected have large majorities, while the average of the Republican majorities is small. Two Democrats elected in the Second and
