THE CENTENNIAL DOG SHOW.

The Centennial managers have added a dog display to the attractions creature except the bat and insects-

For the accommodation of the canine wonders nine sheds with double rows of stalls are provided. These stalls differ only from those ordinarily used for the exhibition of cattle at floors placed two or three feet above the ground. The dogs, singly, in pairs or families, are chained or tied in their places, and supplied with straw beds and plenty of biscuit and water. There are about 60 of them here, of all kinds, from the rough bull-dog and the common rat tarrier to the thoroughbred English or Irish setter, and the slight, graceful Italian greyhound, and of all sizes, from the diminutive toy black-and-tan terrier to the massive Siberian bull-dog and the mild-eyed

Setters are more largely represented than any other variety of the dog race, and there are many fine, highly-bred animals here. There are some excellent red Irish setters, including a few that are valued at 200 guineas apiece, and some black-and-tan Gordon setters so finely marked that they would form fine subjects for the animal painter. Many English setters are exhibited, and some of them not only show the points of good dogs, but have pedigrees of remarkable extent. Most noticeable among the latter are two dogs, recently imported from England, late the property of Edward Laverack, of Shropshire. The are descended from stock which Mr. Laverack obtained in 1825, and which it was supposed had been pure for thirty-two years. He has kept a continuous strain of pure blood since that time. The pedigree of two dogs for nine generations is shown, and the number of names in it is adapted to give a person an enlarged idea of the dimensions of the graveyard which might contain the bones of his ancestors. Some wag Keeps constantly on hand a full assortment THE SISTERS of the HOLY NAMES has burlesqued the pedigree-mongers by issuing the prospectus of the full

Some Irish terriers are oo shown of a very high strain of blood, as may be judged from the price, 200 oo guineas in gold, asked for one or two of the best. Very curious in appear-00 ance are the Irish water spaniels, with long curly topknots and shaggy ears. There are quite a number of dachshunds, a medium-sized dog with singular crooked forelegs. Among the other canines are English fox-terriers, used to unearth the fox when the many Skye terriers, Scotch terriers, black-and-tan terriers, poodles and lapdogs, Spitz dogs, Siberian blood-

How a BIRD FLIES.—The most prominent fact about a bird is a faculty in which it differs from every other slender finger instead of a full hand. To this are attached the quills and side, which make up the wing. Observe how light all this is; in the first shafts of the feathers are hollow, and scribe, and yet it is a problem that the ward pressure of the air caught under ing, while the hinder margin is merethe air under it, finding this margin yielding the easier, would rush out the ends of the quills, pushing them forward out of the way, which, of course, would tend to shove the bird ahead. The process, quickly repeated, results in the phenomenon of flight.-Ernest Ingersoll, in Scribner for No-

CENTENNIAL Losses. - Adjutant Hoyt, with his many trunks full of articles lost on the exhibition grounds, could start a bazaar in opposition to the Japs. In an immense record book he keeps an account of every article brought to the office, where it was found, when and by whom. The lost goods are packed so systematically that, with the aid of the record, the adjutant can, as soon as he receives a description of one of them, return it to the owner in a moment. The articles comprise purses and pocket-books ontaining money, watches, hats, valises, fans, parasols, spectacles, umbrellas and other articles, the names of which would make a lengthy vocabulary. Watches, money and children are soon redeemed. About a dozen lost children are brought to the office every week. Persons from places as far distant as California and Kansas have visited the exhibition and gone home again ignorant of the fact that they had lost considerable amounts of money on the grounds. They have, however, without exception, recovered their property upon writing to the adjutant and proving it to be theirs.

NIPPED IN THE BUD. -- One of those sedate Chinamen who occupy the washery on Griswold street, near State, fell in love some six weeks since of the Exhibition. The Tribune says its power of flying. > NEW FOOD FOR HORSES.-A new kind of mash for horses is now in use. It is thus described by the California Farmer: "It is composed of two quarts of oats, one of bran, and a half pint of flax-seed. The oats are first placed in the stable bucket over which is placed the linseed; add boiling water, then the bran, covering the mixture with an old rug, and allowing it to thus rest for five hours; then stir the mass well. The bran absorbs, while retaining the vapor, and the linseed binds the oats and bran together; a greater quantity of flax-seed would make the preparation too oily and less relished. One feed per day is sufficient; is easily digestible, and is especially adapted to young animals, adding to their volume rather than to their height-giving substance to the frame. Prof. Sanson reminds us not to overlook the food in the nourishment question in connection with the amelioration of stock. He considers oats, so generally given to sheep, as objectionable, and approaching the unprofitable; rams generally receive one pound of oats daily, ewes half the quantity. Oats forming an exciting food, are especially suited to rams dur-ORATORY VS.
