until it last be made a legal effort to revoke the trust, upon the grounds that he had not made suitable provision for his heirs-at-law; and that the deed was executed by him when he was in failing health and laboring under mental depression. He declared his wish to rearrange and resettle the whole matter. At first the trustees, who were gentlemen of honor, determined to try conclusions at law with Mr. Lick, but they finally gave way for a new board, while the trusts were in some respects modified. Only a little while after, Mr. Lick communicated to the members of the second board a request for their resignation, as a third board had been appointed. The request was met by a refusal, the gentlemen declining to act except under legal advice. The new trustees are at present without a trust; and we may safely look forward to a long and wasteful litigation, with no end of plaintiffs and defendants upon either side. Indeed, we never saw a better opportunity for a modern case of Jarndyce agt. Jarndyce. There are two boards of trustees to begin with. There is a son and presumptive heir, about whose legitimacy there exist grave doubts. There is a great number of poor relations, and, to crown all, there is a question of Mr. Lick's sanity at the time of instituting the trusts! Before his death he was under medical surveillance, if we may credit the report to that effect, being watched by several physicians at the instigation of the trustees. This, it seems, was a card played early against the poor relations, who might set up Mr. Lick's lunacy against the validity of the trust deed.

Meanwhile, the California public must wait for the largest so profusely promised it—wait for the great telescope, the technical schools, the various charities, and the monument to the memory of the author of "The Star-Spangled Banner." We hope that the mischances of the Lick benefactions will not discourage any opulent gentleman who contemplates the endowment of society out of his estate in his own lifetime. Any sensible person will see that the trouble in this instance has arisen from the eccentric character of the donor, and from uncertainty in fixing the details. Nobody need be afraid to give away his money who has a clear head and can command the services of a good conveyancer. It must not be supposed that any fatality necessarily follows charity and liberality on a large scale. On the contrary, these troubles we believe to be the exceptions, and about many rich endowments there has not been the least legal difficulty.—New York Tribune.

THE campaign against the Sioux is over, and the Sitting Bull, proud of the result, walks off pawing up the ground, to the admiration of the smiling squaws, and boastfully bellowing: "I'm your howling hyena of the hills and your patent old he-hair-lifter of the per rairies—I'm your rip roaring raccoon of the mountains—your Sitting Bully boy with the glass eye, and your gaul-darned and double-fisted son of a steam engine—I'm the high-pressure, iron-jawed sassage machine to chew up your Crooks and Terrys—you heered my horn?" And poor Crook and Terry, they must feel sorry that they ever learned the business. And they don't seem to have learned it much either.—Courier-Journal.

A TRAIN in India recently encountered a herd of elephants that were advancing along the track. The leading elephant, a huge tusker, was apparently only enraged by the whistle, and charged the advancing train. There was a tremendous concussion, the elephant was knocked off to one side, mutilated and writhing, and the train, after a series of violent jolts, which nearly threw it off the line, came to a standstill against the bodies of two other animals of the herd. No material damage was done, the boss elephant was shot by a passenger, and the rest of the herd scampered off in a bewildered sort of condition.

troupe and soon became a favorite circus rider and acrobat. The gold fever of the early days of California attracted her there, while yet a girl, and she remained in California following the life she had chosen, until the mines began to be worked out. Mary St. Clare was one of the first women who came to Canyon City; she came in the golden days of this camp, and for many years lived a fast life, keeping a saloon and a burdy house, making lots of money and spending freely; in early days she had a great passion for rich jewels and fine dressing, and at one time she had a fortune in diamonds, jewels and rich attire. She was a woman of wonderful mental and physical strength, having more of the masculine than feminine temperament; free-hearted and generous to a fault. When the golden days of this camp began to wane, she saw the necessity of a different life, and in later years settled down to the realities of life. We are told that her house and improvements in Canyon City cost, when built, over $20,000. Of late years she has been in the stock business, and has lost heavily in wild speculations. Since coming to Canyon City, we have seen Mary St. Clare dressed in men's clothes on horse-back. She usually visited her stock ranch in male attire. She was a woman who attended strictly to her own business, and cared but little for public sentiment. But

Like old Tom More in the days of yore, To death she did recline.
By her force of character and public life during the early days of California, we doubt whether there is another public woman on the Pacific Coast so generally known as Mary St. Clare. Her death was so sudden that a Coroner's inquest was held over her remains. Just before she died, she told her physician that he had given her an overdose of poisonous medicine, but the verdict of the Coroner's Jury was that she died of heart disease. This seems to us as being a peculiar climate for deaths by heart disease. On Tuesday, the remains of Mary St. Clare were carried to their last resting place, followed by quite a procession.—Canyon City, Ogn., Express.

HOW MANY APPLES DID ADAM AND EVE EAT?—Some say Eve 8 and Adam 2, a total of 10 only. Now we figure the thing out differently. Eve 8 and Adam 8 also. Total 16.—Boston Journal. We think the above figures entirely wrong. If Eve 8 and Adam 82, certainly the total will be 90. Scientific men, however, on the strength of the theory that the antediluvians were a race of giants, and consequently great eaters, reason something like this; Eve 81st and Adam 82. Total 163.—Gloucester Advertiser. Wrong again; what could be clearer than if Eve 8-1-2, the total would be 893.—Laurence American. If Eve 8-1-1st and Adam 8-1-2, would not the whole be 1,623?—Boston Journal. I believe the following to be the true solution: Eve 8-1-4 Adam, Adam 8-1-2-4 Eve. Total 8,938.—Verites. Still another calculation is as follows: If Eve 8-1-4 Adam, Adam 81-2-4-2 oblige Eve. Total 82,056. We think, however, this is not to be a sufficient quantity, for though we admit Eve 8-1-4 Adam, Adam if he 80-1-2-4-2 keep Eve company. Total 8,082,056.—N. Y. Mail.

AN ATTEMPT TO ROB LINCOLN'S GRAVE.—A dispatch from Springfield, Nov. 8th, says a most dastardly attempt was made to steal the bones of President Lincoln from the cemetery vault there. The plot was suspected some time since, and Elmer Washburn, U. S. detective Tyrell and assistants watched the vault. The scoundrels broke in the outer and inner doors of the vault, opened the several cases of the sarcophagus, and were about to make off with the remains when the detectives sprang out. The accidental discharge of a pistol alarmed the robbers and they fled precipitately, escaping in the darkness. A slight clue to their identity remains, and their capture is probable.

DISPATCHES announce the sudden death at Galveston, on the 27th ult., of Gen. Braxton Bragg. He was born in Warren county, North Carolina, in 1815, and graduated at West Point in 1837. His earliest military reputation was gained in the Mexican war, "A little more grape, Captain Bragg," making his name a household word throughout the Union. In 1855 he retired from the army. His services as a confederate leader are still fresh in the mind of the country.

in at one door, taking a look at Johnson and his boat, then, after purchasing a photograph, are requested to pass out. Mr. Baxter, being an American, had an opportunity of conversing a few moments with Johnsen, who is now in good health, having fully recovered from the fatigues of the voyage. He stated that he would not attempt the feat and pass through what he did on that trip across the Atlantic for a million of dollars; in fact nothing on earth could tempt him to repeat such a voyage. It is evident that he is now coining money, and we are pleased that he is to receive such a goodly sum for his unparalleled feat and the pluck he manifested in performing it. It is probable that he may go to London before coming home to the Centennial Exhibition. Several entries in his log have been verified from the logs of the vessels St. Louis, Defiant, Amerique and Grace, which he spoke on the way. He intends to publish the details in order to silence skeptics and prove the genuineness of his memorable voyage across the Atlantic.

INTELLIGENT FARMING.—If there is one thing more than another that puzzles the mind of the farmer, it is as to what he shall do to make money. If any new source of making money by farming were found, it would not be long before everybody would be going into it, and it would soon be overdone. So every farmer must fall back on first principles, see what his farm is best adapted to, taken in connection with the markets within reach, the cost of getting his productions to market, and then concentrate his energies and abilities on producing the best, so as to get it into market and obtain the highest prices. He wants large yields per acre, and cannot have them without good land and the best culture. He must possess enterprise and energy, like any other business man, and know whether he can produce his crops or his stock at a profit or a loss. Where he sees a chance for good profits, he must put his best foot forward, and market his produce at the best time and in the most attractive manner. Bad farming will pay no man. Intelligence and skill are necessary to reap success.

MILTON SHEPARDSON SENTENCED.—At the late term of the circuit court in Baker county, Milton Shepardson, who was tried here last summer in the U. S. District Court, on the charge of robbing the mails in Antelope Valley in July, 1872, for which offense Tompkins, Hanson, Branlette and White were convicted and sentenced to the penitentiary, was tried for robbing Wells, Fargo & Co's. Express. He was found guilty as charged in the indictment, and sentenced to hard labor in the penitentiary for ten years. Last evening Shepardson arrived here in custody of Mr. H. C. Paige, Wells, Fargo & Co's. traveling agent. He was lodged last night in the city jail, and this morning will be conveyed to Salem, where he will be enrolled among the "Raccoon Brigade."—Oregonian, Nov. 15th.

A HAPPY WOMAN.—Here is something for the fair sex. A happy woman! is not she the very sparkle and sunshine of life? A woman who is happy because she can't help it—whose smile even the coldest sprinkle of misfortune cannot dampen. Men make a terrible mistake when they marry for beauty, for talent, or for style. The sweetest wives are those who possess the magic secret of being contented under any circumstances. Rich or poor, high or low, it makes no difference; the bright little fountain of joy bubbles up just as musically in their hearts.

THEY attempted to take one of Barnum's new giraffes across Rhode Island last week, but just as it was on the Massachusetts line it reached over and ate up about half of a hay stack in a farmyard in Connecticut, and when the farmer came out with a club and attacked the Connecticut end, the Massachusetts end got mad and kicked a man in Boston and nearly killed him. It created a good deal of excitement at the time in Rhode Island, and most of the people stepped out of the State till it was over.
