GENERAL NOTES AND NEWS.

Congress meets this week. It's possible that Peter Cooper got left. Tilden's official majority in Georgia is only 85,085.

Those Arctic explorers must have found the solid North. Oregon flax took the first premium at the late Centennial exhibition.

S. S. Fenn is without doubt re-elected Delegate to Congress from Idaho. The Cheyenne Indians have joined the Sioux, which greatly strengthens the force opposed to Gen. Crook.

Members of Congress are gathering at Washington. A warm session is anticipated. Cox and Randall are contesting for the speakership.

The Adams and the American, which are the two great express companies of the country, employ about 8,000 men, 9,000 horses, 1,200 wagons, and use 3,000 iron safes.

John Kelly, the Grand Sachem of Tammany Hall, married Teresa Mullen, niece of Cardinal McClosky, in New York on the 21st ult. The Cardinal performed the ceremony.

General O. O. Howard has been respectfully requested by the United States Government, through the courts, to refund the $179,000 belonging to the Howard University, which slipped through his fingers.

S. W. Carter, of Salem, in traveling through Yamhill county, was shown by farmers there a blood beet 2 feet in circumference, a wine sap apple 11 inches, a Jenny Lind potato weighing 4 1/2 pounds, a radish which weighed 8 1/2 pounds.

Of the $5,000 stolen from the county treasury of Coos county, between $3,000 and $4,000 have been recovered from the thieves, who are Chinamen. They told where they had buried it, and said they had gambled away the balance.

The Board of Canvassers in South Carolina is composed of five Radicals, three of whom are candidates for office, respectively, Comptroller, Treasurer and Secretary of State. Of course the Democrats have a fair chance with such a Board!

Gold wears away more in handling than most people suppose. In the simple counting and transfer of one million dollars from one vault to another, in the Treasury Department at Washington, the loss by abrasion amounts to $6.

Professor Bell has invented a process by which sound is transmitted by telegraph. The sound of the human voice has been heard by his invention 1,000 miles. He played the tune of "America" in Boston, which was distinctly heard in New York. Such is the progress of science.

The election is over, and we find the United States Prosecuting Attorney entering a nolle prosequi in behalf of all the whisky thieves of St. Louis. Most of those who have been convicted are already pardoned, and the rest will be before Grant's term of office expires. That is reform within the party.

In San Francisco, the other day, Dr. Glenn, of Colusa county, sold to Isaac Friedlander 18,000 tons of wheat at $1.80 per cental, or $36 per ton. The wheat was all produced on the land of the seller, and was not his entire crop by about 2,000 tons. The sale amounts to $648,000 coin, probably the largest transaction between producer and merchant which has ever occurred.

The Portland Standard of Nov. 22d has the following: The Oregon Steam Navigation Company's steamer Daisy Ainsworth, which left the Dalles at 2 A. M. this morning with a large ball of beef cattle for Kinney Bros., Astoria, expecting to send them through to their destination in one day, ran upon a reef of rocks just above the Cascades and will in all probability prove a total loss. At last accounts the cattle were being swam ashore, but it was thought impossible to save all of them. The Daisy Ainsworth was a new and valuable boat and her loss at this time will be severely felt by the company.

A report says Gov. Hendricks, Gov. Tilden, ex-Gov. Curtin, and Hon. Abram S. Hewitt and wife, dined with Hon. Peter Cooper. Gov. Hendricks leaves for home in a few days. The following statement was made by Gov. Hendricks: He didn't come for the purpose of holding a conference; he states that he is so perfectly convinced that the feeling of honest men throughout the country is so general that Tilden has been elected, that the sense of justice of the country, irrespective of party, is so strong that corrupt canvassing boards of the South won't dare set public opinion at defiance; and if they do make the attempt they will fail in their purpose.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Tilden and Hendricks were closeted for two hours to-day, Hewitt being also present. To-night Mr. Hewitt publishes a letter to Wade Hampton, as follows: NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC COM., NEW YORK, Nov. 24th.

My Dear Sir: Your admirable letter to the people of South Carolina is the subject of universal commendation here. In fact, the prudence, forbearance, and self-control of its people under the most exasperating provocations is beyond all praise. I can only trust that the exciting situation in which you will find yourself next week no outbreak will occur. It is almost too much to expect that there will be no indiscreet man in South Carolina who may provoke collision, but nevertheless the providence of God has so far guided you and your people in all your difficulties that your friends rest in calm confidence upon the wisdom and good fortune which have so far attended your actions. You may rest assured your Northern brethren have consecrated themselves to the work of your deliverance, and will not cease their efforts until you are restored to that freedom wherewith you were free by labors and sanctities and wisdom of our forefathers. God give you and your people all wisdom and all the patience needed in this hour of trial, and in this crisis of destiny of our common country. We have full faith in the justice of the people of the United States, and we do not entertain a doubt of the final verdict which they will pass upon the concurrences of the last two weeks. This verdict will surely vindicate their majesty and re-establish free government upon a lasting basis. I have the honor to be, very respectfully, your obedient servant, ABRAM S. HEWITT, Chairman National Dem. Com.

How THEY MAKE PINS.—The pin machine approaches as near to the dexterity of the human hand as any machine ever invented. It is about the size of a sewing machine, and its working is thus described: A snaph, voracious little dwarf of a machine pulls in the wire, bites it off by inches incessantly, one hundred and forty bites a minute, and just as it seizes each bite, a saucy little hammer, with a concave face, hits the end of the wire three taps and "upsets" it to a head, while he grips it in a counter-sunk hole between his teeth, and lays it in a groove, where levers and springs, playing like lightning, point the pins, and whence they are dropped into a box. The pins are then polished, and two very intelligent machines reject every crooked pin. Another automaton sorts half a dozen lengths, and a perfect genius of a machine hangs the pins by the heads, and transfers them to slips of paper, and by one movement sticks them all through two corrugated ridges in the paper, when the work is finished.

THE Consolidated Virginia Mine is the most profitable in the world. During 1875 it yielded 169,307 tons of ore worth $98 per ton, average, the total yield in bullion being $16,731,653.43. Since December 13th, last, about 600 tons of ore have been hoisted daily. As soon, however, as the connections with another shaft are complete, it is computed that this hoisting capacity will be increased to 2,000 tons per day, or ore equivalent in value to $2,000,000. The Superintendent of the mine says that, even under this great drain, there is enough ore in sight to last for many years. The almost fabulous amount of wealth which still lies buried, and which the drills of the miners have not yet exposed, cannot be conjectured.

MISS MOLLIE BROWN.—A late San Francisco exchange says: Miss Mollie Brown, the brilliant champion bareback equestrienne, who is well known throughout this State as having been the chief attraction with Montgomery Queen's Circus and Menagerie for the past three seasons, has severed her connection with that show, and, in company with her mother, Madame Brown, departed for Philadelphia this morning, Nov. 12th. Miss Mollie will remain idle for a brief period only, as she is unquestionably one of the greatest female riders of the age.

AN Illinois minister announced on last Sunday night's bulletin, "The funeral of Judas Iscariot." To which an obliging fellow added, "friends of the deceased are cordially invited."

THE widest roof in the world is that of a railway station in St. Pancras, England. It is 240 feet wide. Other wide railway roofs in England measure 198 and 210 feet respectively.

TINWARE may be kept bright and free from rust indefinitely by rubbing fresh lard over every part of the dish, and then placing it in a hot oven and heating it thoroughly.

VACCINATION.—Dr. Hingston, mayor of Montreal, recently delivered a very able address on small-pox and vaccination. He showed that vaccination does afford a certain degree of protection from small-pox. From 1750 to 1800, when there was no vaccination, the average deaths from small-pox amounted to about 10 per cent. of the whole. In the half century succeeding vaccination the deaths from the same cause had sunk to 39 per cent. Coming to particulars, the proof is still more conclusive. During the first ten years of the century the deaths from small-pox in England were 64 in every thousand; in the second decade, 42; in the third, 33; in the fourth, 23, and in the fifth, 16. The Doctor is of opinion that in any case for ten or twelve years after vaccination there is absolute protection, but if the vaccination has been done thoroughly that protection will continue for a much longer period. Thereafter one re-vaccination is held to be enough to secure absolute and permanent protection for the rest of life. Some have urged that there is a risk through vaccination of inoculating the system with scrofula or other hereditary diseases. This idea has, however, been so thoroughly exploded that Dr. Hingston says it scarcely deserves to be treated seriously.

SENATOR-ELECT Grover, of Oregon, tells the following good and decidedly Democratic story. In illustration of how the government was administered he told an incident that occurred in Portland on the 4th of July. Mr. Bewley, of Salem, had been invited to read the Declaration of Independence, and being somewhat of an elocutionist and very proud of the honor done him, he committed the Declaration to memory and delivered it in fine style, particularly emphasizing that part wherein the grievances are related that "the present King of Great Britain" has "created a multitude of new offices," etc. After the exercises were over an old gentleman from Polk county wanted an introduction to the man who made the first speech. "Oh, that was Nesmith, said the one to whom he applied." "But," said he, "it wasn't Nesmith; I know Nez; I live up in Polk. It was that young man. He made the best Democratic speech I ever heard." He was somewhat surprised to learn that the "Democratic speech" was one made by the colonists of America over a hundred years ago. But it fits the case now as it did in 1776.

GRANGE CO-OPERATIVE ASSOCIATION OF THE NORTHWEST.—The above title is to be the name of the new business corporation of the State Grange, whose objects is described "to establish and maintain a general trade and commission business in merchandise, farm products, and machinery, for the mutual benefit of the stockholders and customers, and shall have power to purchase, hold, and convey real estate, to loan and borrow money, and charter vessels." The principal place of business will be located at Portland. Amount of capital stock shall be $50,000, in shares of five dollars. After paying an annual dividend of ten per cent. on capital stock, the remaining net earnings of the business shall be divided among the customers who are Patrons, in proportion to the amount of their purchases.

Stock books are now in circulation, and as half the stock was previously subscribed, if available in that shape, there seems no reason why the entire capital should not be subscribed at an early day, and the business inaugurated in a way to be prosecuted with energy.

A BOSTON BOY ON HENS.—The Boston Courier prints the following boy's composition: "Hens is curious animals. They don't have no nose, nor no teeth, nor no ears. They swallow their wittles whole and chew it up in their crops inside of 'em. The outside of hens is generally put inter pillars and made inter feather dusters. The inside of a hen is sometimes filled up with marbles, and shirt-buttons and sich. A hen is very much smaller than a good many other animals, but they'll dig up more tomatoes than anything that ain't a hen. Hens is very useful to lay eggs for plum-pudding. Bet yer life I like plum-pudding. Skinny Bates eat so much plum-pudding once that it set him inter the colery. Hens has got wings, and can fly when they are scart. I cut my Uncle William's hen's neck off with a hatchet, and it scart her to death. Hens sometimes makes very fine spring chickens."

A BREED of dogs without tails has been discovered in Africa; and how the mischievous boys there utilize old tin kettles and fruit cans we cannot pretend to say.

A SIOUX motto: "White man big smart—he furnish brains; red man heap brave—he knock 'em out!"
