GENERAL NOTES AND NEWS.

The cost of the prosecution of the Tweed Ring was $226,711, to recover $670,849. The Christian Messenger has resumed publication...

The Nez Percés, through Chief Joseph, still declare that they will not go on the Lapwai reservation until they are forced to do so.

J. Rodgers, chief clerk in the United States Marshal's office at Portland, Oregon, is a defaulter to a large amount, and has absconded.

The W. U. T. Co. has let the contract for putting up the new wire between Roseburg and Yreka. The work is to be finished by the first of June.

The Louisiana papers are loud in their praise of the new steamship City of Chester, lately put on the route between that city and San Francisco.

The gold and silver mines of Oregon are being slowly developed, but are proving a source of great wealth to the State. We need more capital and energy.

Hayes is indignant at Chamberlain's letter. The World thinks a revolt in the Republican party will result. Ben Wade abuses Hayes and predicts disaster.

In a friendly contest the other day at the Bay District track between Rarus, Occident and Bodine, Rarus trotted one heat in 2:15 1/4, the best time ever made in California.

SWAMP LANDS.

In the Oregonian of a recent date we find this: In conversation with H. C. Owens the other day, I learn very much more concerning the late decision of Judge Boise...

It appears that these lands were never selected by the State until the year 1870, when they became the property of the State, and the Legislature of the same year passed an act generally known as the "Swamp Land Act."

The case of Mr. Owens is considered a test case, and with the above result, and should Judge Boise's opinion be affirmed, will result in great loss to these corporations, but in great gain to the State.

It seems that about a year ago the road company discontinued and sold their lands to a stock company in California, who will find their investment an exceedingly profitable one.

AGES OF ANIMALS—A bear rarely exceeds twenty years; a fox fourteen or sixteen; lions live long. Pompey lived to the age of seventy.

STOP THAT BOY—A scigar in his mouth, a swagger in his walk, impudence in his face, a care-for-nothingness in his manner.

PEOPLE may talk about the grand religious anthems of Bliss and Sankey, but our devil prefers the old Methodist hymn in the first verse of which the ladies warble:

SET your mark high in the world, and then move toward it. Do not wait for somebody to lift you up to the place you aspire to—lift yourself.

THE OREGON SENATOR.

Governor Grover has as good a title to his seat as Hannibal Hamlin of Maine, who objected to his taking the oath. More lies have been told of Grover than would fill a Congressional Record...

Mr. Pelton—The Republicans have sedulously sought to draw the inference from the "Gable" dispatch that Gov. Grover, of Oregon, informed Mr. Tilden in advance of his decision that he would award the certificate to Cronin...

Mr. Pelton—None whatever. Gov. Grover had been supplied with the best of legal opinion and advice on the subject of the illegibility of Postmaster Watts. The opinions and legal authorities received from Judge Hoadley and other eminent lawyers had been telegraphed to him for his guidance...

PRUNE YOUR GRAPE VINES.—The proper time to prune your grape vines is in the fall; but many persons neglect to prune at that season, and in case where the vines have not been pruned, they should be attended to the first pleasant day...

BLUE GLASS.—Wonders in connection with the blue glass business will never cease. "I sat a hen day before yesterday under blue glass," writes a correspondent in the Graphic...

DEMOEST'S Monthly is responsible for the following: "Word comes to us from Paris of a recent contrivance of the modistes, by which the long trains and collant dresses are to be retained in position. A strong elastic is attached to one garter, just above the knee, carried over, and fastened to the other. Thus the length of the steps taken by the wearer is regulated, and the classic folds of the costume remain undisturbed."

IN an article on the habits of the fly the New York Tribune ably says: "Great care has been taken in eating huckleberries, because nothing pleases a fly so much as to be mistaken for one; and if he can be baked in a cake and pass himself off on the unwary as a currant, he dies without regret."

A SENSIBLE author says: "Have you enemies? Go on and mind them not." That's a capital plan, especially if the enemy is the biggest and is patiently waiting behind the fence with a club to discuss the matter with you. Better yet, go around.

CALLING A BOY IN THE MORNING.

The Connecticut editor who wrote the following, evidently knew what he was talking about: Calling a boy up in the morning can hardly be classed under the head of "pastime," especially if the boy is fond of exercise the day before. And it is a little singular that the next hardest thing to getting a boy out of bed is getting him into it.
