

How HAMPTON LOOKS.—An exchange describes Governor Wade Hampton, of South Carolina, as follows:

Governor Hampton is a fine specimen of physical manhood, standing full six feet high in the clear, barring boot heels. His form is willowy, but well knit and compact. His complexion is swarthy, tinged with enough of the rosate hue to indicate a good liver—one who does not intend to die in debt to his stomach. In his movements he is quick, and his manners are graceful. His eyes are a deep brown, almost black, and they sparkle with a good deal of animation. They are expressive eyes, of the kind which reflect the inner feelings. His hair is black, though there are places where the gray is making sad inroads. He wears side whiskers and mustache, the latter ending where the former begins, something after the style of Senator Burnside, though the whiskers do not stand out so prominently as do those of the Rhode Island Senator. Both mustache and whiskers are tinged with just gray enough to serve as a reminder of the inroads of time. He wears a faultless white shirt front, with pearl buttons, and a full black suit, the coat cut frock. He is of that class of men who have an attractiveness which is noticed in a crowd.

DEEP PLOWING.—Various opinions are held by intelligent farmers in regard to deep and shallow plowing, but we think that in this valley experience has shown the advocates of deep and thorough tillage correct. George Fellows, of Point of Timber, one of the most successful farmers in this valley, writes that he is fully convinced that the chief reason why many of our farmers do not succeed better in growing grain and fruit, is the fact that they do not properly cultivate their land. He states that he shall this season plow all his land seven inches in depth. He also adds that his experience in fruit raising has proved the correctness of this theory. In former years he has failed to grow fruit only of an inferior quality, but last year he plowed his orchard twelve inches in depth, digging about the trees, and he says he has never seen larger or finer apples and pears grown in Napa Valley, his former residence. Mr. Fellows also states that it is his belief that farmers who burn their stubble fields are exceedingly unwise. He turns under his stubble, no matter of what height or how thick the growth. It enriches the soil, makes it lighter, and it also better retains the moisture. These are points that farmers will do well to consider. There has been too much of the "scratching in" process, and poor crops have been the too frequent result. — Antioch Ledger.

The Oregonian complains that Oregon farmers send to California for many things that might be raised just as well at home, and says Oregon is going to produce a vast quantity of wheat this year, the season continuing favorable. With increased area of wheat field and unusually fine opportunities for putting in work to the best advantage, it is safe to predict plethoric granaries and warehouses. That will bring money into the country, which, being distributed in the ordinary course of traffic, will give most of us enough to buy butter and potatoes and such other necessities as we ordinarily have to send to California for. And this brings us face to face with a conundrum. Why should the people of Oregon ever buy a pound of butter or cheese or a potato, or any other article of table consumption which comes from the farm? There is more money in dairy products when the market is steady and sufficient than in wheat. There is more money in raising potatoes at 40 cents a bushel than in wheat at a dollar. There is more money in carrots at $10 a ton than in wheat at any price that may reasonably be expected. Why not produce at home all the farm products needed for home consumption?

SENSIBLE.—An enterprising paper on our exchange list makes the following observations, which are applicable here as well as elsewhere: "Never disparage your own town or community. Don't be flattering yourselves that your neighbors are any more happily situated than you are yourselves; and when an enterprise is undertaken in your town don't discourage it by your croaking and saying that the town will never amount to anything. Encourage all honorable undertakings, and promote them by your silence, if nothing else. These parties forget that the very place they are disparaging has given them the means, for years, of supporting themselves, and keeping their cowardly and cringing soul and carcass together. But every city, town and hamlet will have those individuals, and of course we will have to accept them, not as a necessary evil, but as a common nuisance."

FRUIT CAKE—VERY NICE.—Eight eggs; two cups brown sugar; two of syrup; two and one-half of butter; one-fourth of water; one teaspoonful each of mace, cloves and allspice; two of cinnamon; one nutmeg; two pounds of raisins and currants; one of citron. Bake in loaves three and one half hours.

The Portland Telegram learns that Governor Chadwick has granted a pardon to one Lee Yah, a Chinaman sentenced some ten years ago for a term of twelve years' imprisonment in the Oregon penitentiary from this county on two separate charges of larceny and assault with intent to kill. He was the last of the seventy-three prisoners turned over to ex-Supt. Watkins when, in 1870, he superseded M. P. Berry.

THE remains of a balloon have just been found on the coast of Ireland. In the car were some human bones forming an incomplete skeleton, and a leather traveling bag in a very bad condition, containing papers so deteriorated by wet that the writing could not be deciphered. A conjecture is formed that this is the balloon in which Price ascended during the siege of Paris, being the only one that was not accounted for. No doubt the balloon has been in the clouds ever since.

A "SQUAW MAN."—Joaquin Miller, says the Idaho Avalanche, has lived among the Indians; in fact he was a "squaw man," and so far from concealing the fact, has boasted of it. He lived with an Indian woman as his wife, had children, and was proud of the association. Moreover, he has the "barbaric yawp," which shows him to be a genuine frontier man.

A MAIDEN lady said to her little nephew: "Now, Johnny, you go to bed early, and always do so, and you'll be rosy cheeked and handsome when you grow up." Johnny thought over this a few minutes, and then observed: "Well, aunty, you must have sat up a good deal when you were young."

1,000,000 BOTTLES OF THE Centaur Liniments

have been sold the last year, and not one complaint has reached us that they have not done all that is claimed for them. Indeed, scientific skill cannot go beyond the result reached in these wonderful preparations. Added to Carabobe, Arnica, Mentha, Seneca-Oil and Witch-Hazel, are other ingredients, which make a family liniment that defies rivalry. Rheumatic and bed-ridden cripples have by it been enabled to throw away their crutches, and many who for years have been afflicted with Neuralgia, Sciatica, Caked Breasts, Weak Backs, &c., have found permanent relief. Mr. Josiah Westlake, of Marysville, O., writes: "For years my Rheumatism has been so bad that I have been unable to stir from the house. I have tried every remedy I could hear of. Finally, I learned of the Centaur Liniment. The first three bottles enabled me to walk without my crutches. I am mending rapidly. I think your Liniment simply a marvel. This Liniment cures Burns and Scalds without a scar, extracts the poison from bites and stings, cures Chills and Frosted-feet, and is very efficacious for Earache, Rich and Cutaneous Eruptions. THE CENTAUR LINIMENT, YELLOW WRAPPERS, is intended for the tough fibres, cords and muscles of horses, mules, and animals. READ! READ!

Rev. Geo. W. Manokill, Schoharie Co., N. Y., says: "My horse was lame for a year with a fetlock wrench. All remedies utterly failed to cure and I considered him worthless until I commenced to use Centaur Liniment, which rapidly cured him. I heartily recommend it." It makes very little difference whether the case be "wrench," sprain, spavina or lameness of any kind, the effects are the same. The great power of the Liniment is, however, shown in Poll-evil, Big-head, Sweeney, Spavin, Ring-bone, Galls and Scrotulae. This Liniment is worth millions of dollars yearly to the Stock-growers, Livery-men, Farmers, and those having valuable animals to care for. We warrant its effects and refer to any Farrier who has ever used it.
