THE SWITZERLAND OF AMERICA.

Under this caption Gen. Mart. Brown, of the Albany Democrat, recently on a visit to this section, furnishes an interesting account of his trip, of which the following is an extract:

At Ashland we also met Rev. Mr. Bell, a Southern Methodist preacher whose circuit extends about as widely as did that of Lorenzo Dow. He preaches at Jacksonville, Ashland, (17 miles away), Kerbyville, Josephine county, (70 miles away), at Linkville, Lake county, (90 miles away), and at many intermediate points besides. Indeed it is probable that Bro. Bell teaches the Gospel over a radius of at least five hundred miles, and is said to keep his appointments to a dot.

We forgot to say that at Jacksonville the Masonic Fraternity have the finest hall in the State, except the one in the Portland Masonic Temple. It is thoroughly ventilated, amply proportioned and elegantly furnished with all modern comforts.

There are some waggish boys in Jacksonville. While there we noticed a patent medicine man vending his wares in the street from a goods-box stand, and while he absented himself from his stand for a little while one of the town boys went to work and sold the goods all out and had most of the proceeds spent in cigars and lemonade.

At Jacksonville the air is the clearest and lightest we ever experienced. Indeed the atmosphere is fully fifty per cent. lighter than in the Willamette Valley. One gentleman asserted most solemnly that the air was so clear and light and conveyed sound so distinctly that he could hear a man who had money to loan some 40 miles away!

At the margin of Rogue River Valley, 14 miles north of Jacksonville, we had a fine view of Table Rock, seemingly many miles to the eastward. It is apparently an upright wall, some hundreds of feet high, supporting a level surface resembling a table.

THE INDIAN AS A SOLDIER.—Hayes does not approve of the suggestion to utilize the Indian as a soldier. He relates an instance of his experience as to the red man's worthlessness in that capacity as follows:

I had three Indian in my corps. As scouts they were unequalled. We could do nothing with them as soldiers. They would not drill, they would not keep rank, they would do nothing except in their wild Indian way.

FEMALE STRATEGY FAILS.—While a group of criminals who had been sentenced at Springfield, Ill., to the State prison at Joliet, were standing in the depot and waiting for the train, recently, a young woman stepped forward and resting her head on a convict's shoulder said, "Kiss me, George."

A HACKSACK man was last midnight creeping softly along the bedroom floor on his hands and knees, and was feeling tenderly under the bureau for something he had hidden there the evening before; but his wife woke and said, "Peter, what under the heavens are you doing?"

A NEW GOLD-SAVING MACHINE.—The N. Y. Tribune says a small but steady business in gold mining in the Southern States will receive an impetus as soon as the machine which has lately been perfected in this city becomes generally introduced.

As General Tcherthomoshensheadoff was leaving for the wars, his sweetheart remarked to him in tears: "Though I no more behold thee, yet is thy name a spell."

USE THE WHOLE FARM.

Farming must be conducted on business principles or it will not be successful. The first endeavor of a shrewd business man is to keep all his capital profitably employed. He is not satisfied to make large profits on a part while the greater portion is lying idle, nor will he allow lack of care or capital to rob him of profits which he might otherwise have made.

Looking at the subject from this point of view, we have innumerable agricultural and other journals urging farmers to reduce their expenses—to economize to the utmost extent in their homes, in travel and on the farm itself.

THE PLANETS.—Between now and November, Mars and Saturn will come twice into conjunction, the first time upon the 27th of August, and the last on the 2d of November.

THERE WERE two of them hanging on the front gate the other night. She was standing within the yard and he on the sidewalk outside, both leaning on the top rail and apparently as happy as two pigs in a cornfield.

EGG DRYING.—One of the lately developed industries of this country is the drying of eggs. A large establishment for this purpose is in operation in St. Louis, which dries many hundred thousand dozen a day.

Now the Summer nights are bringing, Where the fragrant vines are clinging, Tuneful glee clubs, shrilly singing, Tra, la, la, la, Tra, la, la!

While the mule, with ears uprising, Listens to the sounds surprising, And in accents agonizing Echoes, "Haw haw! haw, haw, haw!"

Miss Mary J. Happy, of Cortland, has been made Sad by marrying a man of that cognomen. But then when she gets over her first little Sadness she will be happy again.

TROT IT SLOW.—An insane woman rose in the Congregational Church at West Meriden, Conn., last Sunday and screamed out at the top of her voice to the organist, who had just begun to play: "I adjure you in the name of the Lord God Almighty to trot that hymn slow." It was so trotted.

HOW A CHICAGO GIRL FIXED HIM.

"Will you do something to oblige me?" shyly asked a beautiful young woman of a timid gentleman whose acquaintance she had just made at a small social gathering on West Adams street the other evening.

"Anything that I can in honor, miss," he replied, blushing. "Well," said she, "come into the back parlor, where it is dark, and sit on the sofa with me, and let me rest my head upon your shoulder, and you pretend to whisper in my ear—only don't blow, because that tickles and I can't laugh, for this new dress is very tight—and when anybody looks you can draw your arm away—I forgot to say I wanted you to put it round my waist—and I'll pretend to blush."

"But, my gracious, honored miss," stammered the young man, after hastily dividing 4 into 1874 and finding it wasn't leap year; "my goodness, before all these people—and I am already engaged—and your father must weigh—" "Hush, I know what I'm up to," replied the artless girl. "I am engaged, too, to that young man talking to the waxen-faced thing with somebody else's hair over there. I want to stir him up—to bring him down to business—make him come up to his milk, that's all."

The young man said that a load had been lifted from his bosom, and aided her to the best of his ability, so well, indeed, that in three-quarters of an hour the true betrothed got his girl into the library, demanded an explanation of her shameless conduct, was softened by her tears, called himself a brute, asked if she could ever forgive him, and promised to behave better in the future.

ALONZO, could you have been so stupid as to think I could see anything to admire in such a mutton-headed clam as that?" O, women, in our hours of ease.

THE SMALLEST BOOK IN THE WORLD.—A search is going on for the smallest volume in the world. One has been found seven-eighths of an inch long, half an inch wide and a little more than an eighth of an inch thick. Its title page reads as follows: "Schloss, English Bijou Almanac for 1842, poetically illustrated by the Hon. Mrs. Norton; published by A. Schloss, Fancy Stationer to H. R. H., the Debs. of Kent, 12 Berners str., Oxford str."

"EIGHT TO SEVEN."—In his lecture on "Eight to Seven," Col. Bob Ingersoll warns young men to steer clear of office seeking, and gives utterance to the following gem: "I'd rather have forty acres of land, a rude cabin there with the woman I love in it; a grass bordered path leading down to the spring which gurgles in joy all day long; a vine at the door and hollyhocks growing in a corner, with a latticed window through which the checkered light should fall upon the placid baby in his cradle—I'd rather live there than be a clerk to any Government on the face of the earth. Ninety-nine times in one hundred a man is better off in attending to his own affairs than in taking any office within the gift of the people."
