Bottles and other articles were then used on each side, and the first act of the tragedy ended in Conlan being ejected. He then went to the soap factory, and, upon the pretence of wishing ammonia to bathe his head with, he succeeded in appropriating some muriatic acid and a butcher-knife. Shortly afterward he returned to the barbershop and asked Mayfield, who had sus pended work and was standing in the door, if he desired any more of it, and was answered in the negative. Conlan then commenced abusing him, One Mathewson, of Sucker creek, brandishing a bottle containing the acid. He takes a teaspoonful of flour of brimstone and mixes it in a wine glass of water, using his finger, instead of a spoon, in order to more thoroughly dissolve the sulphur. This he uses as a gargle, and allows the patient to swallow it. The brimstone kills every species of fungus in man, beast or plant. If the patient cannot use a gargle, the Doctor places the brimstone on a live coal, and allows the sufferer to inhale the fumes. Sometimes also when the throat is fast closing he has blown the sulphur through a quill into the throat. This will destroy the fungus, and then the gargle may be used. The room may also be filled with the fumes of burning sulphur, and the patient allowed to walk around in the room. It is at least worth trying.

JACKSONVILLE, October 9, 1877.

I see that a correspondent on Applegate pronounces the epidemic prevailing there membraneous croup. All medical men has made its appearance in this county, know that croupy symptoms follow diphtheand sometimes has not left one little ria when the disease extends to the larynx and traches (windpipe). The disease, as it prevails on Applegate, attacks the tonsils fauces and extends to the larvnx and trachea edy ought to be published everywhere. in the fatal cases, producing the croupy cough. Where the disease could be seen in the throat there was the peculiar exadation which is characteristic of diphtheria. It is of the malignant type. The disease I believe to be infectious, but doubt its being contagious. When early recognized it yields to appropriate treatment.

In the whole history of medicine, no preparation has ever performed such marvelous cures, or maintained so wide a reputation, AS AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, which is recognized as the world's remedy for all diseases of the throat and lungs. Its long-continued series of wonderful cures in all climates has made it universilly known as a safe and reliable agent to employ. Against ordinary colds, which are the forerunners of more serious disorders, it acts speedily often saving life. The protection it affords by its timely use in the throat and lung disorders of children, makes it an invaluable remedy to be kept always on hand in every home. No person can afford to be without it, and those who have once used it never will. From their knowledge of its composition and effects, Physicians use the CHER-RY PECTORAL extensively in their practice, and Clergymen recommend it. It is absolutely certain in its remedial effects, and will always cure where cures are possible. For sale by all dealers.

SAW MILL BURNED.-The saw mill recently removed from Sam's Valley to cut the lumber for the Sterling company was partially burned on the night of the 4th. The fire had been drawn from the furnace, but was evidently not entirely extinguished, as that was doubtless the origin of the disaster. Some parties near by were supply of fine grapes and sweet potafortunately awakened in time to save toes. the mill from total destruction. As it was, only the belt and a portion of the wood-work were burned, making the loss about $400. The contractors had about 17,000 feet of lumber to saw.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.-George Burns, of Foot's creek, met with an accident on Tuesday last, whereby he lost a leg and injured the other. He had just returned from a prospecting trip to the Klamath, and, while in the act of stooping for a stone to throw at his pack horse, his rifle, which he had swung over his shoulder, slipped to the ground and exploded. The ball (a slug of great size) grazed his right leg, inflicting a flesh wound, and entered the left above the ankle, shattering the bone badly. It was found necessary to amputate the limb, and he was brought to town the following day, Dr. Aiken, assisted by Dr. Colvig and J. W. Merritt, taking it off below the knee. At last accounts he was quite comfortable. from Washington. MINING NEWS .- L. N. Browning, of Leland, was in town last week, and reports the quartz mining excitement in that section as lulled, though some parties are still busy prospecting. The Lucky Queen mine, which has been llying idle for some time, is to be worked soon again-so rumor says. The superintendent of the Esther has crushed a large amount of rock, but with what result is not known. Operations on the Josephine are nearly suspended, Salmon & Co. having turned their attention to their placer claims on Cow creek. They are digging a ditch to bring water from Dad's creek, which is nearly completed, though being run through very rough country. Ford & Co. are running an arastra a few hours each day, the water supply being insufficient to continue work any longer. The Grave Creek Mining Company has commenced on its ditch, a short distance of which is completed.
