The Party Lash.

A great deal has always been said by Republicans about Democratic leaders using the party lash in bringing their followers into line whenever the latter were inclined to be refractory. How true that may be is not necessary to say; but it seems to us that the Republican managers at Washington are cracking that whip very loud over Mr. Hayes. A caucus of Republican Senators was held on the 17th and a deputation sent to that gentleman to let him know what had transpired. The conclave is said to have been stormy and the conference with Mr. Hayes more tempestuous than was hoped for. But the telegraph is anxious to have it understood that Mr. Hayes has been whipped into line and will obey the mandates of the Republican Senators. It appears he assured the committee that he would ever be ready to furnish reasons for the removals and nominations, and spoke on the duty of the Senate to consider such. Concerning the appointment of Democrats in the South, it was his expectation and belief that the pursuance of this policy would promote a coalition of the old Whig and various elements naturally opposed to the Democratic party in the South and eventually secure six or eight Southern States for the Republicans. If we are to believe this, Hayes appears in the role of a hypocrite, intent on mischief, and is more to be feared than the ultras of the Republican party. It has always been our doctrine to let His Fraudulency severely alone, and it is to be hoped that our Southern brethren will not be led into a trap beyond backing out of it in time.

Prognostications.

David P. Thompson is spoken of as Republican candidate for Governor. It is exceedingly doubtful whether he would take the office even in the event of a certainty of his election. Thompson refused the appointment of Governor of Montana, which is a better berth than the office his Republican brethren desire to put him up to sacrifice for. He wouldn't refuse the Senatorial pie, however, and will prove a dangerous competitor of Mitchell's in the event of a Republican Legislature. The partisans of the latter have a knack of getting rid of likely opponents' claims. Dick Williams will undoubtedly be renominated for Congress, and now they are attempting to dispose of Mr. Thompson by throwing out the gubernatorial sop to him. But "the best laid plans of men and mice gang aft a'gree," so are these schemers likely to find themselves not at all licensed to deal out official honors ad libitum.

Cuba's Independence Hopeless.

After a gallant struggle of nine or ten years, of a comparatively few patriots, who strove to free their native island from the oppression, tyranny and cruelty of their foreign masters, the Cuban patriots are reported as giving up the struggle as hopeless. Many of their leaders have been killed; the world abroad has looked on their contest with unsympathizing eyes; the patriots have been closed in and shut off from supplies and communication from the outside world. Spain has sent her hundreds of thousands of troops to the island to overpower by numbers the few brave followers who have struggled so long and bravely for their independence. And at last she appears succeeding. So much for the world's sympathy.

Came to Grief.

Ex-Senator Williams of Oregon, familiarly known as "Flaxbrake," failed in his suit against McKee, of crooked whisky fame. Williams sued him for payment of his services in securing a pardon by Gen. Grant. Judge Wickham, in deciding the case, held: "Contracts of the nature of one set out in the petition are improper, as they tend to encourage the use of improper means to accomplish an object—tend to interfere with the proper exercise of the pardoning power—and are therefore against public policy."

Howard's Reception.

That was a gorgeous event, and fully appreciated by the Man-always-behind. Perhaps the people of Portland understood the intent of the reception, but it is doubtful whether the outside world views it as a compliment to his prowess and management in the Nez Parce war.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Senator Grover is in fine health. On political questions he is paired with Senator Blaine.

Greenbackers gave Wisconsin to the Republicans. The financial manias are not all dead yet.

The Senate will doubtless pass a silver bill. Hayes' position on the subject is dubious at this writing.

The telegraph goes to show that Conkling's opposition to the President has not the Republican endorsement that gentleman expected.

It is very fashionable now-a-days for banks to break and leave several hundred depositors in the lurch. Kid-gloved rascals are abundant.

Ex-Senator Kelly is mentioned as a Democratic candidate for the nomination of Governor. He would make an excellent run and a splendid officer.

Because one juror was stubborn or prejudiced, the Stiles case hangs fire and justice is again thwarted for the time being. The jury system needs revising.

Inebriety among officers of the army is the subject of a communication from General Sherman. An officer found intoxicated while on duty will be summarily dismissed.

Col. Reno has been severely criticized for the part he played in the fight between Gen. Custer and Sitting Bull. If the testimony of the Indian chief goes for anything that officer has been guilty of gross cowardice.

This is the whole of Luttrell's greenback bill: "Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled: That from and after the first day of July, eighteen hundred and seventy-eight, all duties on imports may be paid in legal tenders, National Bank notes, or gold or silver coin of the United States, at the option of the importer." It is short, but mighty sweet.

Pixley on Hayes.

In a recent number of the S. F. Argonaut Frank Pixley, the editor, who has always been a Republican, writes Mr. Hayes up in an exceedingly racy style. He says "he became the nominee of the Republican party because he was small—so small that the shafts of party envy, hatred and malice had not been directed against him. He was elected, but not through the ballot-box, but by an improvised tribunal."

We have not the space to give the article entire; but the following is the conclusion thereof, by which the balance may be judged:

The Democracy has the Lower House of Congress; the Senate will soon be Democratic. There is no Republican party at the South, and soon there will be none at the North. Ohio has trifled away; Indiana is no longer a doubtful State; New York will go by the board. Morton is dead, and Conkling will be beaten; and so perishes a great national party. All its professions of reform are unperfected. The same thieves are still in office. Hayes, the great embodiment of a reform within the party, no longer belongs to it. Since Hayes has been President of the United States—now nearly a year—not one thieving office-holder has been removed for cause; not one plundering criminal been detected, indicted, arraigned, tried, or convicted. The whole machinery of the Courts, in active operation when Grant was President, is now arrested. The whitewash brush has been active, but no reform, and no promise of hope of reform. Only junketing. Let Morton die; let Conkling be defeated; let the Republican party expire; let the Democracy return to power and govern the country. The change will be an improvement upon our present political condition. No party can be more corrupt or contemptible than the present Republican party. No President of the United States can be smaller than the good Mr. Hayes.

An Old Subject.

It will be remembered that during Grant's visit to England he spoke in very unkind terms of ex-Minister Motley and Hon. Chas. Sumner, both of whom are now dead. In other words he bluntly made them out liars. Wendell Phillips, with his accustomed vigor, took up the fight for the dead statesmen, who were his friends, and gives Grant some pretty heavy shots. The Modesto News says that among other charges was one to the effect that, at the time of Grant's last interview with Sumner, he was too drunk to remember what actually did occur. Ex-Secretary Fish then stepped forward in defense of Grant, and insinuates that either Phillips is a liar, or else Sumner had lied in his statements confidentially made to Phillips. The fight is still raging, and it is fast causing the public to believe there were not only some very peculiar transactions in reference to the matter or origin of the quarrel, but that supposed great men are often possessed with small souls.

The National Blessing.

Mr. Ellis made an argument on the financial question before the Senate financial committee, in which he said:

The amount of 6 per cent. bonds outstanding is $729,000,000; annual interest $43,740,000; amount of 5 per cent. bonds outstanding, $508,000,000; annual interest, $25,400,000; total interest, $69,140,000 per annum. If the same amount was funded at 4 per cent., the annual interest would be $20,720,000, or an annual saving of $48,420,000. If these bonds were paid off at the end of 30 years, the total saving during that time would be $949,800,000. If the same amount of bonds were paid off in silver at the present rate instead of gold, and the relative value of gold and silver were continued as at present, say a difference of 8 per cent., the saving would be $114,000,000, or, if the annual interest was paid in 30 years to come in silver instead of gold, the saving in that respect would be about $180,000,000, showing a total saving to the Government by the substitution of silver instead of gold of about $215,000,000, as against $650,000,000 which the Government would save if the bonds were refunded at 4 per cent.

Mr. Tilden Interviewed.

A Herald reporter interviewed Mr. Tilden on the 23d. The latter thought Hayes was alienating all parties, and he soon would not have even a corporal's guard. The South puts him on the back, but will not support anybody but a true-blooded Democrat. Southern ovations to Hayes are all a humbug. The reporter asked, "Do you purpose prosecuting your right to the presidential chair?" "Certainly I do," answered Mr. Tilden, spiritedly. "The country knows that I was legally elected president, and this American people are too intelligent to forget that one glaring and paramount fact. On that fact every foundation of the republic rests. If the choice of the nation be not realized in the serious question of electing its supreme ruler, then you may calculate on bitterness of feeling that will not be assuaged until the wrong is righted. People who supported me feel to-day that their votes were given in vain. They feel that they might as well cast their suffrages for a dummy, and they number so large a portion of the population of the whole country that it is an unwise experiment to trifle with their rights. As far as I am concerned it is of little consequence, but I tell you one of the gravest principles in representative government is involved, and if people do not see to it the matter will be a subject of deep regret to coming generations."

The Silver Bill.

The following is the full text of the silver bill, as amended by the Committee on Finance and reported to the Senate:

An Act to authorize the free coinage of a standard silver dollar, and to restore it to its legal tender character; Be it enacted, etc., that there shall be coined at the several mints of the United States a silver dollar of the weight of 412 1/2 grains, troy, of standard silver, as provided in the Act of January, 1837, on which shall be the devices and superscription provided by said Act; which coins, together with all silver dollars heretofore coined by the United States of like weight and fineness, shall be legal tender at their nominal value for all debts and dues, public and private, except where otherwise provided by contract, and the Secretary of the Treasury is authorized and directed, out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, to purchase from time to time silver bullion at the market price thereof, not less than $2,000,000 per month, nor more than $4,000,000 per month, and cause the same to be coined in such dollars; and any gain of seigniorage arising from this coinage shall be accounted for and paid into the Treasury, as provided under the existing law relative to subsidiary coinage; provided, that the amount of money at any one time invested in such silver bullion, exclusive of such resulting coin, shall not exceed $5,000,000.

Section 2. All Acts and parts of Acts inconsistent with the provisions of this Act are hereby repealed.

Kicks and Cuffs.

Conover and Patterson are catching it. Conkling and Edmunds are dealing out reproaches and sarcasms by wholesale and all levelled at these wretched carpet-baggers. Whatever may be said of them by their bitterest foes no doubt they deserve it all. The droll part of the business is that they are now being reproached and reviled because, for the first time in their political careers, they are acting as decent men ought to. Their votes in favor of seating the Democratic Senators are just and right, and it is that very quality which, as might naturally be expected, is exciting the infuriated malice of the Radicals. Having at last discovered the right path, says the Examiner, it is to be hoped that Patterson and Conover will have courage to pursue it. However, while they do so they will get many a kick and buffet—from their former accomplices.

What a commentary it is upon the principle and practice of the Radical leaders that while these carpet-bag knaves were preying upon the people of the South they were petted and protected in all that they did, no matter how disgraceful or dishonest. But now that they refuse to assist another of their own evil kind into a place to which he has no earthly right they are attacked and denounced by their former defenders.

Initiated Already.

Mr. Hayes is already traveling in the paths vacated by his predecessor. He has taken the initiatory step in the pardoning of kid-gloved rascals, which was a favorite pastime of General Grant. Ex-Marshal Schaffenberg, of Colorado, who robbed the Government of $40,000 and was instrumental in carrying that State for the Republicans, is the first object of Executive clemency.

GENERAL NOTES AND NEWS.

Senator Grover has returned to Washington.

Fires are of frequent occurrence in the large cities. Dallas, Polk county, had a big fire. Loss, $85,000.

The President has signed the army and navy deficiency bills.

The James river, in Virginia, has risen so high as to do a great deal of injury.

England is called on by a leading Troopophile journal to declare war at once against Russia.

Since the fall of Kars the Porte is said to be extremely desirous of entertaining peace proposals.

Leprosy has made its appearance in New York. It was brought there by a Chinaman from California.

The wheat market shows an upward tendency, sales having been made in San Francisco at $2.30@2.37 1/2.

Reform is death to the Republican party, and the attempt to reform it has ruined it. This is the secret of the situation.

The war steamer Huron was wrecked off the coast of North Carolina. One hundred officers and men were lost, only 31 being saved.

Wool in San Francisco ranges from 10@11 cents for the poorer grades to 17@20 cents for fair to choice. A great deal of wool has changed hands at these prices.

Captain Auld, of the ship City of York, at Portland, has kindly consented to carry all articles intended for exhibition at the Paris exposition free of charge.

Chicago, Nov. 24.—The Tribune's St. Paul special says: The captive Nez Perces arrived here about 8, and left at 10 this evening for Fort Leavenworth via Mason City and Ottumwa and through northwest Missouri.

Possibly it will yet come all right, but it is somewhat aggravating to reflect that had Senator Grover been in his seat on the 23d Senators-elect Spofford and Estis, of Louisiana, and Butler, of South Carolina, would now be in their seats in the Senate.

Senator Booth has introduced a bill in the Senate authorizing and directing the Secretary of the Interior to declare the forfeiture of all railroad grants where the railroad companies fail to avail themselves of them within the time specified in the laws making such grants.

And now the acute editor furnishes up his whole stock of financial lore and commercial acumen to write knowingly of the double standard, not at all discounted by the harrowing reflection that his whole capital in both currencies is circumscribed by the callistic signals: $0.25.

A special from Columbia, S. C., says the election to fill vacancies in the State Senate occasioned by the resignation of two colored representatives has been held. A year ago they were elected by 2,000 majority. To-day not 2,000 voted that ticket. Both successful candidates are Democrats.

A Democratic daily newspaper will be started at Washington December 4th, under the management of Stillson Hutchins, former proprietor of the St. Louis Times, and John Cochrill, lately of the Cincinnati Enquirer. Jos. Pulitzer, of St. Louis, will also be connected with the enterprise. It is said they have abundant capital behind it.

The News says there has been considerable dissatisfaction among the miners on Coos bay of late, on account of reduction of wages, consequent on the low price of coal, and at Eastport the miners were on a strike at last accounts in order to enforce their demand for 7 1/2 cents per ton for mining coal, and a reduction of house rents of the miners.

Washington, Nov. 24.—The bill for the repeal of the resumption act passed the House by a somewhat larger majority than its friends have recently expected. All six of the Pacific coast Representatives voted against it. They were likewise united in voting to adopt Ward's amendment, which proposed to exempt from its corporations all debts due on the 1st of January, 1879, for labor.

Chicago, Nov. 23.—A San Antonio dispatch says: Gen. Ord yesterday received an official copy of an order of President Diaz to General Dalem, commanding the Mexican forces on the border to rebel invasion by the United States troops by force, and that Gen. Trevino had been ordered to the Rio Grande with 2,500 troops to carry out orders. Gen. Ord has telegraphed to the President for another regiment of cavalry.

A table published in the Alta shows that from July 1, 1870, to September 30, 1877, the number of Chinese that arrived at San Francisco was 96,154. Departures during the same period were 42,872; gain, 53,282. It estimates the number of deaths at 13,000, and thinks there are now 103,000 Chinese in the United States, of whom 75,000 are in California. Arrivals the present year are much below the ratio of four years preceding it.

The Commissioner of the General Land Office has issued an order to Pacific land offices revoking the order of October 23, which prohibited further reception of applications for entries of desert land under the act of last March. He now gives directions allowing them to be received if accompanied by absolute evidence of truth of the desert character of the land designated. Land officers are also instructed to communicate all doubtful cases to the General Land Office, with a full statement of facts and attendant circumstances.

Eastern War News.

A special from Constantinople says a report is current that Mukhtar Pasha has withdrawn from Erzeroum.

A Cetting correspondent states that the Turks evacuated Mories and all the villages of Krana district and retired beyond the Bovanra.

A Pera correspondent says: A private letter from Sofia represents that things look unsatisfactorily. Mehmet Ali can get neither men nor artillery enough to form a relieving army.

Pera, Nov. 24.—The view taken of Osman Pasha's position is, on the whole, desponding; but some maintain that he has provisions enough to hold out until Mehmet Ali can organize an army of relief. Great efforts are making to accomplish the end.

The Stiles Case.

W. H. N. Stiles, indicted for perjury before the late Senatorial Commission, was tried at Portland last week. After a prolonged deliberation the jury was discharged, being unable to agree. Eleven were for conviction and one for acquittal. Stiles will be retried immediately, and Judge Deady has increased his bail from $20,000 to $3,500. Higby's trial commenced on Tuesday last.

Excitement in Washington.

The Herald's Washington special says there is really a deep excitement here about events pending in the Senate during the week which began last Sunday. Leaders of both parties have been busy all day planning the campaign. The object of the Republicans is to get the Spofford-Kellogg case before the Senate before that of Butler. The committee will accordingly report favorable to Kellogg in the morning hour. Their resolution will, under the rules, go over the day. After moving Huron's resolution to lay on the table Thurman's resolution seating Butler will come up. It will be rejected and thus the Butler case will come before the Senate. The Republicans will in that case endeavor to have that go over for a day also, and on this there will be a struggle, and it is probable they will be beaten and Butler will take precedence of Kellogg. It is taken for granted that Butler will get his seat. After that all is uncertain except this: that the Louisiana senatorship will not be decided without a long and tedious debate, and that in the end Spofford will be seated. Meanwhile there is a promise of very lively work in executive session, where some of the President's nominations are to be violently attacked, and if possible beaten. Anti-Hayes men find that they are not gaining strength by delay, and those in their confidence say they mean to push things. The town is full of rumors as it used to be during the excitement of last winter, as for instance: That the Republicans had captured Patterson and Conover, that the New York appointments are hung up in perpetuity; that Judge Humphreys, of the supreme court, will decide that Gov. Hampton is not legally governor of South Carolina; that somebody else is going to begin at once that famous dispute about the President's title, etc. But Patterson and Conover appear to stand by Butler, and the first named will address the Senate to-morrow in his own defense.

Bronchitis.

From John Frager, of Bennington, N. H.: "Three years since I was very much reduced with a dreadful cough, which resulted in Bronchitis, affecting me so severely as to render it difficult to speak in an audible voice. To this was added severe night sweats, and I was fearful of going into a decline. After recourse to various remedies, to no purpose, I made use of Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, a few bottles of which fully restored me to health. Since that time I have had several severe attacks of cough, but the Balsam has always removed them. I always keep it by me, and should not know how to do without it." Sold by all druggists.
