FIRST JUDICIAL DISTRICT.

For Judge: P. P. PRIM, Of Jackson. For Prosecuting Attorney: JAS. R. NEIL, Of Jackson.

COUNTY TICKET.

STECKLE. For Commissioners: JOHN DALEY, D. REYNOLDS. For School Sup't: J. D. FOUNTAIN. For Coroner: DR. A. C. STANLEY.

The Duty of Democrats.

No true Democrat who has the interest of his party at heart should for a moment hesitate to heartily support the Democratic ticket. It is a splendid one throughout, from Congressman down to Coroner, and nothing should be left undone to triumphantly elect it. The nominees are men of character and ability, who come up to the Jeffersonian standard. The defeat of a single man upon it would be a calamity in more than one sense, for to lose any one would give the enemy renewed hope and demoralization will pervade our ranks. Democrats will readily perceive that they have everything to lose and nothing to gain in the election of a solitary candidate on a congressional ticket to be nominated next week. Their duty to the party and to themselves is apparent. Every vote cast against the Democratic ticket is one for Mitchell, the endorsement of the Presidential steal and to deliver our government—county, State and National—into the hands of our natural enemy, the Republican party. Let Democrats consider these facts well.

Republicans at Sea.

The nominees of the Republican State Convention are badly infected with the iniquities their organs charge against the present Democratic State administration. The Statesman, Bee and their companions at arms, have been quite bitter in the premises before their convention, but now find themselves hoisted with their own petards and are at sea as to what argument they can advance in the interest of their pets. Hayes has washed the bloody shirt, and that can't be flouted to advantage. Beekman with his swamp land, Earhart as voting in favor of the Baker City Academy, and a multitude of sins charged up against each and every one of the other candidates, have made Radical unbecome exceedingly scarce. The gentlemen on the Democratic ticket are all citizens of character and ability, and that makes the matter still worse. On what line they propose fighting the campaign time will develop, though it is not difficult to guess correctly now.

Don't Like Them.

The Salem nominations fell like a wet blanket upon the general mass of the Republicans. They are so manifestly weak as to excite little enthusiasm and no slight bucking has been indulged in. The nominees are generally men who revel in an obscurity from which they will never awaken. A comparison with their opponents would not be complimentary to themselves.

Very Kind.

Our cotemporary informs his readers that Mr. Beekman is but little known throughout the State and a biographical sketch is in order. A very timely suggestion. Poor Beek! We have the kindest regard for you, and regret that you should in your old age consent to be sacrificed upon the altar of a vain ambition. However, we bespeak you a kind obituary in June next.

THE REPUBLICAN CONFERENCE.

It cannot be said that the labors of the Republican State Convention are particularly acceptable to the large portion of the party that does the voting, and neither do the managers feel unusually exuberant in the premises. We certainly cannot be accused of partisan blindness or lacking in candor when we assert that the ticket put forth combines no great strength and is peculiarly weak when compared to the one pitted against it by the Democracy, a fact that will to a certain extent be admitted by its nearest supporters. Why this is the case may be principally attributed to the combinations made in the interests of anxious candidates, which indiscriminately killed off the best men and left the field clear for those most active and bent on being sacrificed.

Rev. H. K. Hines, the candidate for Congress, is not known outside of his realm as an expounder of the Gospel. His partisans present his pretensions as a public speaker as entitling him to a favorable consideration by the people. This may have had its weight in days gone by, but something more substantial is required in the present era.

The nomination for Governor fell upon our fellow townsman, C. C. Beekman, after an extended struggle. Beek is a good citizen and we flatter ourselves in knowing that his candidacy will not hasten his departure from these climes. If little can be said against him much less can be urged in favor of his claims to this important position.

R. P. Earhart has been selected as the opponent of Tom Reames. Rocky will find his pathway strewn with stones of no common size, for there are several things he will be called upon to explain. He has been sucking the public teat for any number of years in subordinate positions, but his friends will find their efforts to retire him a difficult task.

Ed. Hirsch is only known as a merchant of Salem. Perhaps his financial views have never been embraced in Secretary Sherman's reports, but as a financier in the interest of the Hirsch family he is said to be a success. His training under ex-Treasurer Fleischner would doubtless give him a peculiar insight to matters, but, unfortunately for him, there is a gentleman already ahead of him, whom the people are anxious to retain another four years.

Bro. Billy Carter would like to be Mart. Brown's successor. He has achieved great renown in running a patent outside of Corvallis, where he built the Yaquina Bay railway—on paper. The temperance folks like Billy—he is so pronounced in the cause—and he served them successfully as Grand Secretary of the order some years ago. He is so valuable a fixture at home that the people are not inclined to make a poor State Printer out of an enterprising citizen, and will let him severely alone.

Rev. L. J. Powell, who has figured extensively in Methodist academies, would like a change of venue to our State school system. He is particularly revered by his former pupils, who will take great pleasure in indefinitely retiring him to the sacred precincts of his Albany school. Bro. Powell hasn't revolutionized the world with his educational ideas, nor is he liable to do so as Superintendent of Public Instruction.

This is the ticket the Republican State Conference has presented to the voters of Oregon. With several prominent members of that party we heartily agree in the opinion that it secures another four years' administration of State affairs by the Democracy. If the Convention could have done worse how vastly could it have improved on the ticket. We have no complaints to make, however, even if we were entitled to do so. Let the ball roll on.

Quite a Difference.

Our Greenback correspondent is greatly mistaken in asserting that the Republican platform and ticket is as much in the interest of the bondholder as the Democratic. A comparison between the two will show that while the former are all the most bloated aristocrat can ask the latter are pre-eminently entitled to a hearty support by the people. The Republicans especially ignore the laboring classes and their resolution on the Chinese question is evasive and was tacked on long after the main platform was adopted. A glance at the declaration of principles by the Democrats shows an entirely different state of things. We will next week publish both platforms, when a comparison can readily be drawn.

A Problem.

The Republicans resolved at Salem that the attempt of Mr. Grover to give Mr. Tilden a vote from Oregon was an unparalleled outrage. If this was the case, what adjective would express the infamy attached to the stealing of 19 votes from Mr. Tilden and giving them to Mr. Hayes? Nineteen times unparalleled would be what? "People in glass houses shouldn't throw stones."

Quite Natural.

The Oregonian approves the Republican platform and says it is sound. Quite natural. The bondholders and money sharks are highly pleased with it, and that journal representing them, the admiration is only mutual.

A GREENBACKER SPEAKS.

CENTRAL POINT, April 23, 1878. TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES: Please give me a place in your paper to warn my friends of what I believe to be a foul conspiracy on the part of certain persons in this county. I am credibly informed that Cox, Bybee, Ross and Wisley, on the part of the Greenbackers, and George Brown, N. Langell, T. T. McKenzie and E. B. Watson on the part of the Republicans, have entered into an agreement whereby the Greenback party of this county is to be swallowed up in the mass convention to be held at Jacksonville on the 4th of next month. The offices are to be distributed to the best advantage, not forgetting themselves in the distribution.

Mr. Editor, here is a bargain which I, as a Greenbacker, from principle repudiate absolutely and unconditionally. With all candor I appeal to the Greenbackers of Jackson county to stand firm for their principles, to turn their backs upon the men who have sold us to Brown & Co., and refuse to be delivered on the 4th of next month or at any other time. There is not one of the men on the Republican side of this conspiracy but what is an ardent supporter of the Republican State platform and ticket. That ticket and platform is as much in the interest of the bloated bondholder as is the Democratic platform and ticket. They say in their platform that all currency should rest on a non basis. We say that the "Government has the right to coin and create money and regulate its value;" that our banking system is a fraud upon the tax-payer; that the bonds of the Government should be taxed. These are the issues drawn between us and the old parties. Now I ask how can we drop our organization and assist to elect either of the other party tickets with these issues staring us in the face? No, fellow Greenbackers, we stand upon principles which commend themselves to the millions of laboring men and women of this Government—principles that will be triumphant if we but hold out faithfully and keep aloof from all entangling alliances with the old parties, which are responsible for the miseries from which we are now suffering. The only route for us to take is the route that Paul Jones took. Steer right between the old parties and place a ticket in the field composed of genuine Greenback men—men who are honest and capable.

A Splendid Nomination.

Rev. Jos. Emery being unable to accept the nomination tendered him by the Democratic State Convention, for reasons given in his letter below, the State Central Committee met at Salem on the 17th and nominated Hon. T. J. Stites, of Linn county, to complete the ticket. The committee was peculiarly happy in its choice. Mr. Stites is pre-eminently the man for the place. He is a practical teacher, having filled the office of School Superintendent of Linn for two consecutive terms, of which county he is now Clerk. His name will add a tower of strength to the ticket.

The following is Mr. Emery's letter declining the honor tendered him: To Hon. J. E. Miller, Chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee. DEAR SIR: The Democratic State Convention in its late session nominated me for State Superintendent of Public Instruction. This was done without my knowledge or consent. No intimation of it ever reached my ears and I conscientiously kept aloof from all political entanglements; and, although the office to which I have been nominated is not a political one, yet it can only be reached by passing through politics. I therefore most respectfully decline the nomination. Your obedient servant, JOSEPH EMERY. CORVALLIS, April 15, 1878.

For Tricks that are Dark, etc.

There is a lingering opinion in the minds of many that W. D. Hare was nominated fairly and squarely on the ballot preceding the one which resulted in the choice of Mr. Beekman. Mr. Hare then received 89 votes, a number that was announced as being a majority on every ballot previous. This fact was generally understood, and why the will of the Convention was thus thwarted is better known by those on the inside. It exhibited a feeling of non interest in the matter, to say the least, and elucidates that of tricks that are dark and ways that are vain;" the Chinaman isn't alone peculiar. This is not intended to injure Boss Peebles' feelings.

Suiciduous Politicians.

The Republicans are evidently a hard set of fellows, for their recent Convention evinced a determination of turning over the organization to the care of the preachers, which it did in good shape. There is Rev. Mr. Hines, who heads the ticket; then comes Deacon Beekman; Ed. Hirsch represents the orthodox Israelites and Bro. Carter carries the temperance banner; next is Rev. L. J. Powell, who ornaments the tail end of the ticket, while Rocky Earhart appears on the scene knocking for admittance at the rear entrance. Let us pray.

Railroad News.

The latest news is to the effect that the bill reported by the Senate Railroad Committee, a compromise between the North Pacific and the proposed Portland, Dalles and South Pass Railroads, has passed. In the event of this becoming a law the Central Pacific Railroad of California, which is said to have purchased the Oregon branch of the O. & C. R. R., will be compelled to make connection or let a good thing slip from its grasp. Our railroad prospects are liable to improve materially ere long, if at all.

Honor to Whom Honor is Due.

Boss Peebles managed matters so deftly at the Marion County Republican Convention as to secure his nomination as County Judge and also that of a legislative delegation favorable to Mitchell. The town folks gobbled up nearly all the fat offices, to the utter disgust of the rural precincts. But he could not have done the thing up browner and to better advantage to the ring than he did it at the Republican State Convention. W. Carey Johnson, one of Mitchell's most truculent tools, and who was extended an overwhelming invitation by the people of the Fourth Judicial District—strongly Republican by the way—to stay at home, according to a preconcerted plan, opportunely placed the Boss in nomination as Chairman and he was chosen as such before the opposition had time to recover from their surprise. Peebles held Ed. Hirsch's proxy, and consequent developments go to show that he managed it advantageously in the interests of his favorite. To the Boss' management Beekman, Earhart and the balance owe their nomination. We are a just people, and to him we accord the honor of giving the people the best ticket they ever had an opportunity of retiring into an obscurity from which no traveler returns.

Nicely Done.

Messrs. Hines and Beekman both wrote letters declining nominations for Congress and Governor, though not seriously threatened by such. But the haste with which they rushed to accept is inclined to cause a general belief that things are not what they seem. The hasty withdrawal of Dave Thompson and the sudden appearance of Mr. Beekman in the foreground was quite significant. Thus it would seem that those who decline the most persistently are generally the more anxious candidates, if Hines and Beekman are taken as criterions. It was a unique method of throwing their opponents off their guard and quite effective also.

Too Bad.

There is considerable lamentation over the action of the Republican Convention in suddenly adjourning and thus depriving Rev. Mr. Rowland of the nomination for Governor, which seemed inevitable at that time. If there is anything the ticket lacks it is another preacher.
