

THE Republicans in the four States of Maine, California, Ohio and Iowa have nominated just one soldier for office. There are two Democratic soldier candidates in Ohio and two in Iowa. Comment is unnecessary.

THE chances of the Honorable Bilks of California are not improved materially by the De Young-Kallock affair, the Chronicle being their accredited organ. Dr. Glenn is liable to lose some votes through it, though not necessarily so.

HON. J. S. PALMER, joint Senator from Polk and Benton counties, died suddenly of heart disease at Corvallis on the 24th. He was a prominent citizen of the State and generally esteemed for his sterling qualities, of which he had not a few.

THE Mormon question is assuming a formidable attitude and hastens to solution. Prompt measures should be taken for the suppression of this crying evil, so uncomplimentary to the American people. The Government can no longer squint at it and maintain its self-respect.

KALLOCK is fast recovering and will be prepared to receive votes for Mayor of San Francisco on next Wednesday. There can hardly be doubts of his election now. De Young did it with his little pistol. A sensation of this kind takes hugely with the people of the Bay City.

It is a significant fact that since the Democrats obtained the mastery of the House the lobby has utterly disappeared from Washington, which is an argument every farmer and mechanic can understand. It means that huge and wasteful leaks in the Treasury have been stopped.

THE Oregonian is anxious to leave the impression that Tilden is a dead cock in the pit; but if the old man was compelled to pay full rates for the advertising done gratuitously in that journal his "bar" would soon exhaust itself. It increases his chances just one-half of one per cent.

The shooting of Dixon, independent candidate for Sheriff of Yazo county, Miss., by Barksdale, proves to be a personal affair altogether. The Republican machine is busily engaged in making it a political affair of national importance and is not particular as to how highly it is colored. Verily capital must be scarce when a party is driven to such straits.

THE principal portion of the press of Eastern Oregon is at present advocating the formation of a new State out of that section and a slice of Washington Territory. There is as much probability of the scheme succeeding as there is of those editors getting to Heaven. And then we need that 1,000 Democratic majority east of the mountains furnishes in the business.

THE harbor of refuge still remains unlocated. The question is losing its interest ever since the Board of Engineers insinuated that its location anywhere would not be a necessity. Ex-Senator Mitchell, in a letter to a Portland paper, seems to intimate that it is not discretionary with the Board whether the harbor is actually necessary now or not, and that it went without the pale of its authority in calling for the views of the people of different localities, being considered a national improvement in every sense of the term.

It is given as one of the incidents of the Kentucky election that while no material changes took place in the political aspect as far as the old parties are concerned, the greenback and workingman's parties were no factor at all in the campaign, being almost entirely lost sight of. The slight increase in the Democratic majority may be ascribed to the fact that nearly every Democratic Greenbacker of the year before returned to his first love. And this is and will be the case everywhere before the Presidential election occurs.

THE Yreka Journal is either running wild on land grabbing or it is too anxious to make a point on Dr. Glenn, the Democratic candidate for Governor of California, because he owns a large tract of land in Colusa county. To make good its charges that Dr. Glenn is a "land-shark" it asserts that he has grabbed 72,000 acres of swamp and desert land in Grant county, Oregon, and is also interested in the C. & O. Land Company, all of which will be news to those well acquainted in the matter. Dr. Glenn did at one time own an interest in a large band of cattle ranging in Grant county, but that he was possessed of so great an amount of land is known only to the editor of the Journal, whose imagination seems to be rather fertile about election-time. There never was any objection to Dr. Glenn's owning and tilling his broad acres until it became convenient for demagogues to harp upon it in the hope of creating some cheap capital against him.

THE C. P. R. R. VS. THE PEOPLE.

The political campaign that has been waging fiercely in California for several weeks past will come to a crisis next Wednesday. The situation is an illustration of confusion worse confounded and it may be condoned unsolved at present with which party the average Californian will cast his lot on election day. Five parties have candidates in the field, all of whom will not be elected; but which will be we can more easily tell in our next issue. The Republicans are more firmly united and better organized than the balance, something that augurs well for their success. Nevertheless the Democracy hopes to elect Dr. Glenn and a majority of the Supreme Court, and endorsed as they are by either the Workingmen or Honorable Bilks, as Denis Kearney has dubbed the members of the New Constitution Party. Congressmen are to be elected, but as there is a strong probability that the delegation will be divided between the old parties, little political significance attaches itself to this election. It is nothing more or less than a struggle between the people and Central Pacific Railroad Company for the possession of the State government, and monopoly bids fair to succeed by reason of the division among its opponents. The ticket headed by Geo. C. Perkins, himself a monopolist closely identified with various transportation companies, represents the C. P. R. R. as well as the greater portion of the Republican party, the railway emissaries lending no hidden hand in foisting it upon their chosen allies. Another election will be held in November of next year in pursuance of the provisions of the New Constitution, and we live in hope that the Golden State will awaken to the necessities of the hour in time to wrest her destinies from the grasp of the infant monopoly that threatens to levy tribute upon her every industry with a relentless hand.

A DEPRECIABLE CIRCUMSTANCE.

The De Young-Kallock affair at San Francisco, which has excited so much comment in the past few days, is the upshot of depraved journalism. The editors of the Chronicle had found it advantageous to attack Kallock as a candidate for Mayor in a very personal manner, and as the latter sought to fight them with the same fire De Young resorted to the pistol as his mode of canceling all indebtedness. The Chronicle's course was depreciable in the first place; but Kallock erred in placing himself upon a level with it in revamping the slander upon the family of its proprietors published by B. F. Nathaly in the Sun several years ago. If he was libeled the De Youngs were amenable to the law, and unless San Francisco justice is very slow he would have been vindicated in the Courts. Such a vindication is of moment and of more effect than any amount of billingsgate and vituperation he could shower. It is a poor rule that does not work both ways and what we have said of Kallock is equally as applicable to De Young. He committed the first wrong and is all the more culpable because of it. The sanctity of the family circle above the mud of the pot-house politician, which nothing could more fully substantiate than his own conduct in this matter. A public journal performs its duty in warning the people against an unworthy candidate for political preferment; but in its zeal to further the election of its own nominee the Chronicle has exceeded the bounds of legitimate criticism and assumes the role of a libeler. As such it merits the severest criticism of the public, aggravated as it must be by this second of fense against moral law.

RAILWAYS AND WAGON ROADS.

On our first page we publish an extract from the daily Standard, which is not slow in leaving the impression that the trade of Southern Oregon is something to be looked after by Portland business men, and that it is high time that energetic measures were adopted toward securing it for themselves. The tenor of the Standard's article is that the O. & C. R. R. should be extended southward into Jackson county and make Portland certain of the increasing trade of this entire section. The arguments thus brought to bear are logical and should not fail in having full weight with the railroad authorities. Our people would raise no objection to the overtures made by Portland and they could rely upon the C. P. R. R. pushing the California end forward as soon as active operations are commenced on the other end. From present appearances it is apparent that we must necessarily wait for years ere any hopes of railway communication shall be realized. The people of Southern Oregon should by this time be aware of the fact that it is useless to tarry longer for help from elsewhere. We must awaken from the lethargy that has overcome us for years and strike out boldly for ourselves. Railway anticipations are chimerical and the sooner we rid ourselves of them the better. Our only relief lies in a wagon road to the coast and no delay should be made in securing this at once. What measures shall be adopted in the matter others more familiar with it should suggest. The columns of the Times are always open for the discussion of questions of such public importance.

Who are the Revolutionists.

We have a President who never was elected. We have a Supreme Court, three members of which violated law, oath and justice to count in the unselected President. We have a Congress, representing the majority of the people, but not permitted to act by a fraudulent Executive and a fanatical minority.

We have the monstrous theory that the Legislative is to obey the wishes of the Executive, not the Executive to execute the laws of the Legislative. We have the assumption that there is but one man to "save the country" and he Grant; but one party to rule—that is, the Republican party; but one great duty of the day, that to defy the will of a clear majority of the people. Is this a real republic? Is this popular self-government? Is it not, on the contrary, breaking up the character of government very fast?

On Her Travels.

Millie Christine, the double-headed colored woman, has made her appearance in California. This wonderful curiosity has two heads, four arms, four legs and one body. Each head is independent of the other; one head sings while the other talks, or both can sing together, one voice being a contralto and the other a soprano. Her (or their) parents were slaves in North Carolina at her (or their) birth. Both heads are well educated. Our townsman B. F. Dowell saw them during his sojourn at Washington several years ago and drew a vivid pen picture in his correspondence to the Sentinel. He then gave it as his opinion that Millie was truly wonderful, and California journals substantiate the accuracy of his views, though we have not seen as concise a biographical sketch as Mr. Dowell favored us with.

CITATION.

In the County Court of Jackson county, State of Oregon, sitting for probate business on Saturday, August 23, 1879. In the matter of the Estate of P. W. Stow, an insane person. To Jas. M. Stow, Martha Ann Collins, Mary Catherine Lewis, John Stow and all other interested therein: YOU ARE HEREBY NOTIFIED THAT Thos. McAndrews, guardian of said P. W. Stow, has filed a petition, praying for an order of said Court to sell all real property belonging to the estate of said Stow, viz: The undivided one-fourth interest in a certain tract of land situated and lying in Jackson county, Oregon, and being donation land claim of P. W. Stow and Lavina Stow, his wife, notification No. 12 and claim No. 51, being parts of sections 8 and 9, in township No. 35, south of range, 1 west, containing 321 acres. Therefore, notice is hereby given that the prayer of said petition will be heard and determined at Jacksonville, in said county and State, on the 27th day of September, 1879, at 10 o'clock A. M., at which time all parties interested are notified to appear and show cause why an order of said Court should not be made as prayed for in said petition. Published in the DEMOCRATIC TIMES for four consecutive weeks by order of Hon. Silas J. Day, County Judge. E. B. WATSON, Clerk.
