Senator Mitchell proclaims railroad competition with the East before three years, and a two-fold increase of population in our State in the immediate future.

While on the Grant expedition to Oregon Senator Sharon discovered a large and fertile tract of land in his own possession, the possession of which he had nearly forgotten.

If Jacob's ladder was now to be placed against the entrance of heaven, you couldn't find anybody to ascend it. An opposition elevator would get all the passenger traffic.

A postal card that was started on an around-the-world-trip August 4th, was delivered recently to the sender in New York, having accomplished the journey in 115 days, at a cost of a penny stamp extra.

When the girl who has encouraged a youth for about two years suddenly turns around and tells him that she can never be more than a sister to him, he can, for the first time, see the freckles on her nose.

Some of the Eastern Oregon and Washington papers are cautioning settlers against buying railroad lands of the N. P. R. R. Co., on the ground that it is believed that the company cannot give good titles.

Cetewayo says there was only ten of his men present when the Prince Imperial was killed. A bold stand would have saved his life, if the Zulu king is to be believed, and the fate of an empire might have been changed.

In view of the fact that fish shipped from this country to Liverpool arrives there, comparatively in better condition than wheat, a company has been organized in Portland to construct a floating mill at a cost of $100,000.

The doctors say that walkin is unhealthy. Bless them! Now if they can be induced to say the same of six-button kids, point lace and a few such trifles, the serious generation of married men will rise up and call them blessed.

Parrell, the champion of oppressed Irish, accompanied by Dillon, a Dublin barrister, has sailed from Queenstown for New York. The Land League of Dublin commissions them to receive assistance for the relief of the distressed of Ireland.

"Angels on horseback" is the name given by an English paper to oysters cooked the following way: Place a large cooking oyster in a piece of fat bacon, tie it up with a cord, and just toast for a moment before the fire. Serve on a piece of toast.

Chief Oury reports that he is unable to effect a surrender of the murderers of Meeker and the agency employes. He says he has done all that was possible to carry out the policy of the Government, and is now ready to assist the War Department in being the "U. S. terms."

In the opinion of Ben Butler, whose sanguine vision extends far beyond the narrow limits of the Old Bay State, the "Solid West" is bound to become the dominating power of the country; and all the cry that is raised about the danger of the "Solid South" is but a share and a delusion.

Judge J. F. Watson is certainly entitled to the championship. Recently he left his home in Roseburg, traveled a distance of seventy-five miles, held a term of court, convicted and sentenced a man for forgery, and returned home the same day. Where can a better record be found? asks the "Plainsdealer."

The Board of Trustees of Willamette University have appointed a committee to report at the next meeting of the Board a plan for a law department of the institution, to afford a complete course of legal education for gentlemen intended for the bar, and also a systematic but less expensive course of studies in commercial jurisprudence for those who intend to devote themselves exclusively to mercantile pursuits.

OBITUARY.

A friend living in Lane county thus speaks of the late Felix Scott, a gentleman not unknown in this section, who recently died in Arizona:

Another one of nature's noblemen has paid the great debt. Oregon has lost one more of its nobles. Companions have lost a comrad and relatives a brother and son.

Mr. Scott's history ran true an even one in the history of our young State enterprise, judgment, determination and industry were virtues that made him beloved. As a pioneer of Oregon he was the earliest. As a friend of emigration his hand and purs were open. To the destitute he was a friend and father. Coming, as he did, to our then almost unknown Territory, he appreciated the wants of emigrants, and while properly showed upon him he generously contributed to the adversity of others.

Mr. Scott was born in St. Charles county, Mo., July 24, 1820. From thence he emigrated to California in the Spring of 1845, and wintering there, continued his journey to what is now Yamhill Co., Oregon, in 1846. In 1849 he removed to this (Lane) county and located the claim upon which his brother, Rodney now resides. This place he made his home until 1869, although a great portion of the time he was in Southern Oregon extensively engaged in stock business. In the winter of 1846, when the emigrants to Oregon were in a state of destitution, he always ready to assist the needy, went to their rescue with stock and provisions and generally administered to their wants. H. C. O'Neil, Esq., was one of the party at that time and by their united efforts many lives were saved.

In 1863 Mr. Scott brought from Southern Oregon a large band of cattle and a large amount of freight, en route to Eastern Oregon. Upon arriving at Eugene he conceived the idea of crossing the mountains by what is now known as the McKenzie route. Of course the idea was scouted at, but nerve and perseverance, with a just appreciation of his ability to overcome difficulties, tempted him to try it, and he did. With what success, every citizen knows. At his own expense, he employed from forty to fifty hands, and over what is now the fine graded road of McKenzie, he took seven hundred head of cattle and eight heavy freight wagons. True, it was difficult, frequently using as much as twenty-five oxen on one wagon. But his indomitable spirit conquered, and from his rebellion we now have our own fine mountain road.

In 1872 he removed to Arizona, and at the time of his death was extensively engaged in the stock and freighting business. He was the brother of Marion and Harrison, who fell in the time of his death. He leaves a brother in this State and a widow, whose age was attained the ripe old age of seventy-five, living with her son Rodney.

In his death Oregon has lost one of her best sons, for she claims him, and with pride she may. His family has lost a good brother and a valiant son. Our pioneers have lost a brave comrade, and the poor a generous friend.

THE DEATH OF

Our country is getting to be fearfully alarming, the average of life being lessened every year, without any reasonable cause, death resulting generally from the most insignificant origin. At this season of the year, especially, a cold is such a common thing that in the hurry of every day life we are apt to overlook the dangers attending it and often find too late that a fever or lung trouble has already set in. These things lose their lives in this way every winter, while, had the German Syrup been taken, a cure would have resulted and a large bill from a doctor been avoided. For all diseases of the Throat and Lungs, Boschee's German Syrup has proven itself to be the greatest discovery of his kind in medicine. Every Druggist in this country will tell you of its wonderful effects. Over 50,000 bottles sold last year without a single failure known.

A SUGGESTION.

In view of the present condition of the public highways many of our citizens are disposed to growl at the existing road laws. We would humbly offer a suggestion in this matter—that the supervisors adopt the course pursued by those of other counties in assessing the people upon the roads are put in proper condition. We are creditably informed that in certain districts in Jackson county as many as three assessments have been made during the past year, and as a consequence the roads are in good order. This is authorized by the statute and if followed out all complaints of impassable roads would be brought to a sudden termination.—Roseburg Star.

TO SOFTEN HARD WATER.

—Take two pounds of washing soda and one pound of common lime, and boil in five gallons of water for two or three hours; then stand away to settle and dip off the clear water from the top, and put into a jug. It can be used for washing dishes or cleaning, and one teacup in a boiler of clothes, put in after the water is hot, will whiten the clothes and soften the suds without injury to the hands or clothes. Use an old iron pot to make it in.

PROFIT, $1,200.

"To sum it up, six long years of bed-ridden sickness, costing $200 per year, total $1,200—all of this expense was stopped by three bottles of Hop Bitters, taken by my wife. She has done her own housework for a year since, without the loss of a day, and I want everybody to know it, for their benefit.—N. E. Finner.
