"Puritan" Waterproof Calf.
This Leather is manufactured by a Process similar to that by which the Patent Kids known as Dongola are made. The Points Claimed for it are these:
TOUGHNESS—It is almost Impossible to Tear, and it will not Crack.
SOFTNESS—Whether Cold or Hot, Wet or Dry, it is always Soft and Easy for the most Tender Feet.
WATERPROOF—It will Turn Water better than any other Leather.
COLOR—A Jet Black that will not Fade or turn Red.
POLISH—Unlike all other Grain Leather it will take a High Polish with ordinary Shoe Blacking.
CLEAN AND LIGHT WEIGHT—Not being Weighted with Tanning Materials and Grease, it will not soil a Stocking and weighs Light for the Substance.
We carry in custom-made work of the Highest Grade of this stock, a hand welt (men's) lace shoe, made on the English Waukenphast last, at $5 00, and a lace shoe made on the Harvard Box-Toe last, calf lined throughout and soles of Genuine English Sole Leather, at $7 00. MEDICAL.

EVERY NIGHT I SCRATCHED
Until the Skin was raw. Body covered with scales like spots of mortar. Cured by the Cuticura Remedies.

I am going to tell you of the extraordinary change your Cuticura Remedies performed on me. About the 1st of April last I noticed some red pimples like coming out all over my body, but thought nothing of it until some time later on, when it began to look like spots of mortar spotted on, and which came off in layers, accompanied with itching. I would scratch every night until I was raw, then the next night, the scales being formed meanwhile, were scratched off again. In vain did I consult all the doctors in the country, but without aid. After giving up all hopes of recovery, I happened to see an advertisement in a newspaper about your Cuticura Remedies, and purchased them from my druggist, and obtained almost immediate relief. I began to notice the scaly eruptions gradually dropped off and disappear one by one, and have been fully cured. I had the disease thirteen months before I began taking the Cuticura Remedies, and in four or five weeks was entirely cured. My disease was eczema and psoriasis. I recommended the Cuticura Remedies to all in my vicinity, and I know of a great many who have taken them, and thank me for the knowledge of them, especially mothers who have babes with scaly eruptions on their heads and bodies. I cannot express in words the thanks to you for what the Cuticura Remedies have been to me. My body was covered with scales, and I was an awful spectacle to behold. Now my skin is as nice and clear as a baby's.

Feb. 7, 1888.—Not a trace whatsoever of the disease from which I suffered has shown itself since my cure. GEO. COTEY.

We cannot do justice to the esteem in which Cuticura, the great Skin Cure, and Cuticura Soap, an exquisite Skin Beautifier, prepared from it, and Cuticura Resolvent, the new Blood Purifier, are held by the thousands upon thousands whose lives have been made happy by the cure of agonizing, humiliating, itching, scaly and pimply diseases of the skin, scalp and blood, with loss of hair.

Sold everywhere. Price, Cuticura, 50c.; Soap, 25c.; Resolvent, $1. Prepared by the Potter Drug and Chemical Co., Boston, Mass.

Catarrhal Dangers.
To be freed from the dangers of suffocation while lying down; to breathe freely, sleep soundly and undisturbed; to rise refreshed, head clear, brain active and free from pain or ache; to know that no poisonous, putrid matter defiles the breath and rots away the delicate machinery of smell, taste and hearing; to feel that the system does not, through its veins and arteries, suck up the poison that is sure to undermine and destroy, is indeed a blessing beyond all other human enjoyments. To purchase immunity from such a fate should be the object of all afflicted. But those who have tried many remedies and physicians despair of relief or cure.

Sanford's Radical Cure meets every phase of Catarrh, from a simple head cold to the most loathsome and destructive stages. It is local and constitutional. Instant in relieving, permanent in curing, safe, economical and never-failing.

Sanford's Radical Cure consists of one bottle of the Radical Cure, one box of Catarrhal Solvent, and one Improved Inhaler, all wrapped in one package, with treatise and directions, and sold by all druggists for $1.00.

Sam's Valley, March 6, 1888

THE TARIFF ON WOOLENS REDUCED.

The Republicans, following the lead of the Oregonian, are setting up the claim that the Mills bill, while putting wool on the free list, makes no reduction on manufactured goods. This is not true, as will clearly appear by comparing the present law with the Mills bill. Under the present law flannels, blankets, hats of wool, knit goods, woolen and worsted yarns, and all manufactures of every description, composed wholly or in part of worsted, not otherwise specially provided for or enumerated, valued at not exceeding 30 cents per pound shall pay duty of 10 cents per pound; valued at above 30 cents per pound, and not exceeding 30 cents per pound, 12 cents per pound; valued at above 40 cents per pound and not exceeding 60 cents per pound, 18 cents per pound; valued at above 60 cents per pound and not exceeding 80 cents per pound, 24 cents per pound; and in addition thereto, upon all of the above-named articles 35 per cent. ad valorem; valued at above 80 cents per pound, 35 cents per pound and 40 per cent. ad valorem. Under the Mills bill all the above-named articles will pay an ad valorem duty of 40 per cent. Now let us see how much reduction the Mills bill makes on the above articles. Take the article of blankets, as an example. Suppose the Boston merchant orders blankets, weighing in the aggregate 1000 pounds, from Paris. They are valued at 30 cents per pound, or $300 for the lot. Under our present tariff law there are two duties to pay on these blankets. The first a specific duty of 10 cents per pound, which would amount to $100. The other duty is an ad valorem duty of 35 per cent. on the value of the blankets. The blankets are worth $300 and 35 per cent. of $300 is $105. Adding the specific duty, which is $100, to the ad valorem duty, which is $105, and we have $205 as the amount of duty which the Boston merchant would have to pay on his blankets under the present law. Under the Mills bill he would have to pay 40 per cent. ad valorem on the $300, the value of the blankets, which would be $120. Hence under the present law he would pay $205 duty and under the Mills bill $120. Deducting $120 from $205 leaves $85 as the amount of reduction that the Mills bill makes on a lot of blankets worth $300, which is an actual reduction of 41½ per cent. Now, on any of the lines of goods named above which are valued at 30 cents per pound, the rate of reduction is just the same. Suppose an Albany merchant orders 1000 pounds of woolen and worsted yarn from a foreign country, which are of the value of 80 cents per pound. On these goods, as shown by the law above quoted and now in force, he would have two duties to pay. First, a specific duty of 24 cents per pound, or $240. Then he would have to pay, in addition, an ad valorem duty of 35 per cent. on the value of the goods. The 1000 pounds of yarn at 80 cents per pound would be worth $800. The 35 per cent. ad valorem duty on the $800 is $280. Adding the $240 and $280 together gives the amount of duty which the Albany merchant would have to pay under the present law which is $520 on $800 worth of yarn. Under the Mills bill he would have to pay an ad valorem duty of 40 per cent. on the $800, which would be $320. Subtracting the $320 from the $520 gives the amount of reduction of duty by the Mills bill on $800 worth of yarn which is $200, which is a reduction of 38 per cent. Under the present law woolen cloths, woolen shawls and all manufactures of wool of every description, made wholly or in part of wool not specially enumerated or otherwise provided for, valued at not exceeding 80 cents per pound, shall pay a duty of 35 cents per pound, and in addition thereto an ad valorem duty of 35 per cent. If valued at above 80 cents per pound, 35 cents per pound and 40 per cent. ad valorem. This class of woolens under the Mills bill will pay an ad valorem duty of 40 per cent. Now let us see what a reduction the Mills bill makes on this class of woolens. Suppose a Salem merchant orders shawls from a foreign market of 1000 pounds weight, and of value of 90 cents per pound, or a total value of $900. He would have to pay under the present law a specific duty of 35 cents per pound, which in the aggregate would amount to $350 on the 1000 pounds, and in addition thereto he would have to pay an ad valorem duty of 40 per cent. on the $900 which would be $360. Adding the specific duty, $350, to the ad valorem duty, $360, and we have $710 as the amount of duty which the Salem merchant would have to pay on his shipment of shawls under the present law. How much would he have to pay under the Mills bill? Just 40 per cent. on the $900, which would be $360. Subtracting the duty under the Mills bill, $360 from the $710, duty under the present law, and we have $350 as the amount of reduction of duty by the Mills bill on $900 worth of shawls. Under the present law, women and children's dress goods, coat linings and goods of like description, composed in part of wool, worsted, the hair of the alpaca, goat or other animals, valued at not exceeding 20 cents per square yard, shall pay a duty of 5 cents per square yard, and in addition thereto 35 per cent. ad valorem; valued at above 20 cents per square yard 7 cents per square yard and 40 per cent. ad valorem; if composed wholly of wool, worsted, the hair of the alpaca, goat, or other animals, or of a mixture of them, 9 cents per square yard and 40 per cent. ad valorem, provided that all such goods weighing over 4 ounces per square shall pay a duty of 35 cents per pound and 40 per cent. ad valorem. All this class of goods under the Mills bill are made dutiable at 40 per cent. ad valorem. How much reduction does the Mills bill make on this class of goods? The duty under the present law on 1000 yards of women's dress goods, worth 20 cents per yard, would be $120. Under the Mills bill it would be $80. The duty under the present law on 1000 yards of children's dress goods composed wholly of wool, and weighing over 6 ounces per yard of the value of 30 cents per yard, is $251 25, while under the Mills bill the duty would be $120. Clothing, ready-made, and wearing apparel of every description, not otherwise specially enumerated, composed wholly or in part of wool, under the present laws, pays a duty of 40 cents per pound and in addition thereto 35 per cent. ad valorem. Under the Mills bill the duty on this class of goods would be 45 per per cent. ad valorem. Suppose a clothing merchant would ship from a foreign country 100 suits of men's clothing of the weight of 450 pounds, and of the value of $800 at the place of purchase. The duty on these goods under the present law would be specific, $180, and ad valorem, $280, or $460 altogether. Under the Mills bill the duty would be 40 per cent. of the cost of the goods at the place of purchase, and 40 per cent. of $800 is $320. Deducting $320 from $460 leaves $140 as the amount of reduction made by the Mills bill on a lot of clothing worth $800. Under the present law cloaks, dolmans, jackets, ulsters, etc., composed wholly or in part of wool, pay a duty of 45 cents per pound and in addition thereto an ad valorem duty of 40 per cent. As an example under this line of goods, take 200 cloaks that weigh 800 pounds and the value $1200. Under the present law the specific duty is $360 and the ad valorem duty is $480, or a total duty of $820. The duty on the same lot of goods under the Mills bill would be $520 or a reduction of $300 on a lot of cloaks worth $1200. We have thus gone through all the classes of goods of the woolen kind provided for in the tariff law, and we show conclusively that there is a very material reduction made by the Mills bill, all that the Oregonian may say to the contrary notwithstanding. The exact truth is this: The average duty paid on all woolen goods imported last year was 70 per cent. The Mills bill reduces the rate to 40 per cent. We challenge the Oregonian or any other Republican paper to dispute the facts, figures and deductions made in this article. These facts disclose the purpose of the Oregonian to deliberately deceive its readers as to one of the most important questions that ever came up before the people for discussion, and it relies on this kind of means to defeat legislation in the interest of the people.

JESSE APPLEGATE.

Jesse Applegate, one of the ablest and most noted of the pioneers of Oregon, who has been known almost all over the Pacific coast for nearly forty years as the "Sage of Yoncalla," died at the residence of his son, Alexander M. Applegate in Huntington, his old home in Yoncolla valley, on April 22, 1888, aged about 78 years. He was born in Kentucky and emigrated while a boy with his parents to Missouri, where he grew to manhood, and when about 21 years old married Miss Cynthia Parker, the daughter of a Mississippi flatboatman. They had a large family of children, and she died in 1881. He learned and practiced surveying, and for a time was the pupil and protege of Edward Bates, who some thirty years later became Attorney-General of the United States by appointment of President Lincoln. In 1843, when about 33 years old, Jesse Applegate moved with his family to Oregon territory, then almost a wilderness with scarcely any inhabitants but Indians. The late James W. Nesmith, who afterwards represented the State of Oregon in both houses of Congress, crossed the plains the same year and was a member of Applegate's company. They came down the Columbia river from The Dalles on rafts, and one of Jesse Applegate's sons was drowned in making that perilous voyage. "Uncle Jesse," as he was called by nearly everybody, and his two brothers, Charles and Lindsey (the father of the famous and eccentric "Lish"), settled in Polk county, where Dallas is now located. In 1849 Jesse and Charles moved to the Umpqua valley and settled at Yoncalla, where the subject of this sketch passed nearly all of the remainder of his life, and where his remains were laid to rest on Tuesday, April 25, at 1 o'clock P. M. Lindsey afterwards, perhaps about 1854, moved to Rogue river valley. "Uncle Jesse" was a leader in forming the provisional government of Oregon in 1845, and he was the leading spirit of the expedition that went out to meet the emigrants in 1846 and escorted them through by the southern or "Applegate route" into Rogue river valley. He sacrificed his means liberally and his own interest and comfort on this occasion as on many others to benefit others. Liberality and generosity were his leading traits, along with stubbornness and a determination to have his own way, right or wrong, always assuming that whoever opposed him was necessarily wrong. He was a member of the constitutional convention in 1858; but things did not go just to suit him and he resigned and went home. He was a prominent member of the first Union Republican Convention ever held in Oregon, which met in the court house at Eugene city, April 9th, 1862, when Addison C. Gibbs was nominated for Governor, John R. McBride for Representative in Congress and S. E. May for Secretary of State. He was extremely bashful and timid in public, and, like Bush, could not say a word before a public audience, but he was a splendid conversationalist and one of the finest writers we ever knew. He became terribly disgusted in that convention because B. J. Pengra got up and declared that a resolution which "Uncle Jesse" had drawn and presented "was an attempt to inject a stump-speech into the platform." Jesse was thinking mainly about the principles of the Republican party, while Pengra cared a good deal more about catching votes. They were at swords points for years afterwards. In 1866 "Uncle Jesse" was again a prominent figure in the Union Republican Convention, which met that year in Corvallis, as he was in all conventions in early times. He succeeded in having Samuel E. May, of Jackson county, renominated for Secretary of State, and Jesse Applegate and B. F. Dowell, the leading men of southern Oregon, signed May's official bond. May afterwards went out of office a defaulter, and when Grover was Governor, in 1873 or 1874, all of Dowell's property was attached, Applegate having deeded his land to his children. Dowell paid the debt, amounting to $10,000 or more, and after lawing about ten years had the deeds for the Yoncolla property to Applegate's children set aside as void, and obtained possession of the Yoncolla property, which he now holds. Applegate removed to southern Oregon and resided sometime just over the line into California. He was so worried over the loss of his property and other matters that for a few months, about a year ago, he was placed in the insane asylum, but soon recovered his reason and went home to his children, where he died. We never knew a more generous or a more noble-hearted man. He had a brilliant mind and possessed a vast amount of information. He was one of the oldest and best of all the early pioneers of this coast, and will long be remembered for his generosity, his perseverance, his enterprise and his many good deeds. He leaves many noble deeds and an honored name as a heritage for his numerous offspring, and his memory will be cherished through life by all who knew him.—Eugene Journal.

MAN DYING WITH GLANDERS.—A San Jose, Cal., dispatch of the 30th ult., gives the following: "Constable Dorris Ladd is now dying at his home in this city from glanders. Ladd contracted the disease three weeks ago from a glandered horse. He was treating the animal and was inoculated in the finger. For sixteen days he has been confined to his bed. For several days he has been delirious. Abscesses have formed on his hands, feet and face, and are now extending over his body. The finger looks as if it was mortified. One eye is closed by swelling. Perspiration is profuse and very offensive. There is constant suppuration from the abscesses, and he is in a horrible condition. The doctor says he cannot live forty hours. When treating the horse his wife warned him of the danger, but he thought none existed. He had a slight scratch on one finger, with which a portion of matter from the horse's nose came in contact, thereby inoculating him."

Ladies Beware

Of those cosmetics which give to the face a ghastly (yea, ghostly) whiteness. Such preparations contain lead or some other equally injurious and dangerous substances, the use of which, if long continued will, besides giving the skin a rough and leathery appearance, ultimately produce paralysis of the nerves. This statement is no "bug-a-boo," but facts, well-known to chemists and physicians, based on the well-known physiological effects of such substances whose presence in preparations for the complexion are indicated by such outward signs as before stated. If you would use an article which will at once produce natural activity and beautiful complexion try Wisdom's Robertine, which is guaranteed under a forfeiture of $1000 to be absolutely free from all poisonous and injurious substances. Pronounced by leading ladies of society and the stage superior to anything ever produced for beautifying and preserving the complexion.

ADVICE FREE.

A real-estate man's advice to his brothers, sisters and his relations in general from Adam to date: Earth is the father and mother of us all, as duly reported. I deal in that article; not for coin, of course, but for fun and my health. It doesn't cost the real-estate men scarcely anything to do business in Oregon. The livery man immediately takes off his hat when one of us calls, "Certainly, my lord, the carriage waits your pleasure; exercise the horses—never a cent is charged." The same way editors, anxious for news; landlords ditto, they want tenants; cigar men force your pockets full to give to new arrivals; banks anxious to extend us unlimited credit, we have no use for their generous offer, as all the coin we pay is for washing. The Chinamen do not understand how important we people are; as a rule we never argue the question, but hand them an I. O. U. or a six-days sight call. O, it is fun to be a real-estate man—treated like the gods we read about. If you are wishing for a good, lively time come to my office; bring your checker board; my time is perfectly valueless. If convenient place two or three patent office reports in your grip-sack. I enjoy lively reading. Should you, in forming my acquaintance, wish to look all over the county, say so, and we are off for a drive—no business, just pleasure—drifting down to our sure landing of gray hairs and old age. The only sadness possible to our trip is the thought we can never retrace our steps. Now should you chance in your ramblings to fix your "lanterns" on a piece of your ancestors for sale that suits you buy it, and don't stop buying until your sock is empty; and remember I have not all the good bargains in property, as other agents have their share. You will save no fortune by consulting me, but in all probability make one. My advice—when you see something you like, buy it; don't stop to ask my opinion or to consult your grandmother who lived in another age, or a moss-back, for he sleepeth; and don't for pity sake disturb his slumbering. In conclusion, bear in mind this world is moving, and we have no use for drones. Shake yourself and do something. Reader, you are before the footlight; now say a word on the subject of your relations and ancestors. Earth! Buy some of it for yourself—before doing so look North, East, South and West—have a mind of your own. Place your money where you can receive the greatest sure returns.

FRANK LESLIE'S POPULAR MONTHLY FOR MAY.—Attention is fixed on Germany. One veteran ruler, the Emperor William, whose life covered most of our stirring century. The story can be read in a finely illustrated article in Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly for May. The number deals with our land, and Mr. W. E. McCann tells the story of the "Star Spangled Banner" and its author F. S. Key. "A Week's Jaunt Among the Lakes of Central New York" is devoted to a neglected part of our land; which elsewhere would furnish a thousand themes to a poet and painter. Dr. Van Fleet gives a delightful study of our native Warblers. Another article tells of "Prjevalski's Adventures in Central Asia," showing how Russia is laying her plans for pushing her sway to the borders of China and India, or perhaps beyond them. Our great university—Harvard—is brought before us in its actual condition and early history; and what lessons the photograph teaches of the flight of birds, by showing a series of instantaneous pictures, make very curious reading. What with all this, and stories by Mrs. J. G. Austin, F. B. Hallowell, Etta W. Pierce and others, the magazine gives an endless amount of interesting and attractive matter.

BOB WILSON, son of our efficient and popular county clerk, now attending Bellevue Medical College, New York city, writes home that he recently made the acquaintance in that city of Dr. Bacon Saunders, a brother of the notorious Wirt Saunders. Bob says that the Dr. is a genial and accomplished gentleman, and that he spoke very regretfully of his brother's unfortunate career. He denied Wirt's fanciful stories about his father's immense wealth, and attributes these stories and the rest of his deeds to mental aberration, induced by excessive use of opium. He also stated that Geo. H. Williams received $1,000 for his services as counsel in Wirt's last trial.—Corvallis Times.

A SCHEME is being contemplated to the effect of tapping Goose lake. The Adin Argus says: This lake has a surface of about 400 square miles of water that could be brought from there to Hot Springs valley at a comparatively small cost. Chas. Hill, who came down from that valley a few days ago, informs us that several capitalists and farmers are taking the matter in hand, and if possible to get the necessary coin and encouragement from the people, will attempt to tap the lake this summer. It is a scheme that will be worth thousands of dollars to that portion of Modoc county if successful, and it is a move of the people toward advancement and prosperity.

Newspaper Law.

For the benefit of all who may seek to swindle the newspapers out of their just dues, we publish the following which is kept standing at the head of the first editorial column in many of our exchanges:

1. Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary are considered as wishing to continue their subscriptions.
2. If subscribers order the discontinuance of their periodicals the publisher may continue to send them until all arrears are paid.
3. If subscribers neglect to or refuse to take their periodicals from the office to which they are directed, they are held responsible till they have settled their bill and ordered their paper discontinued.
4. If subscribers move to other places without informing the publisher and the papers are sent to the former direction, they are held responsible.
5. The courts have decided that refusing to take periodicals from the office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for "prima facia" evidence of intentional fraud.
6. Any person who receives a newspaper and makes use of it, whether he has subscribed for it or not, is held in law as a subscriber.
7. The postmaster who neglects to give the legal notice of the neglect of a person to take from the office the newspaper addressed to him, is liable also to the publisher for the subscription price.
