MEDICAL.

SCRATCHED 28 YEARS.

Body covered with scales. Itching terrible. Suffering endless. No relief. Doctors and Medicines fail. Speedily cured by Cuticura at a cost of $5.

CURED BY CUTICURA.

If I had known of the Cuticura Remedies twenty-eight years ago it would have saved me $200 (two hundred dollars) and an immense amount of suffering. My disease (psoriasis) commenced on my head in a spot not larger than a cent. It spread rapidly all over my body and got under my nails. The scales would drop off of me all the time, and my sufferings were endless and without relief. One thousand dollars would not tempt me to have this disease over again. I am a poor man, but feel rich to be relieved of what some of the doctors said was leprosy, some ringworm, psoriasis, etc. I took...... and...... Sarsaparillas over one year and a half, but no cure. I cannot praise the Cuticura Remedies too much. They have made my skin as clear and free from scales as a baby's. All I used of them were three boxes of Cuticura, and three bottles of Cuticura Resolvent, and two boxes of Cuticura Soap. If you had been here and said you would have cured me for $200 you would have had the money. I looked like the picture in your book of psoriasis, (picture number two, "How to cure Skin Diseases"), but now I am as clear as any person ever was. Through force of habit I rub my hands over my arms and legs once in a while, but to no purpose. I am all well. I scratched twenty-eight years, and it got to be a kind of second nature to me. I thank you a thousand times. DENNIS DOWNING,
Waterbury, Vt.

The Teacher

Who advised her pupils to strengthen their minds by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, appreciated the truth that bodily health is essential to mental vigor. For persons of delicate and feeble constitution, whether young or old, this medicine is remarkably beneficial. Be sure you get Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

"Every spring and fall I take a number of bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and am greatly benefited."—Mrs. James H. Eastman, Stoneham, Mass.

"I have taken Ayer's Sarsaparilla with great benefit to my general health."—Miss Thirza L. Crerar, Palmyra, Md.

"My daughter, twelve years of age, has suffered for the past year from General Debility.

A few weeks since, we began to give her Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Her health has greatly improved."—Mrs. Harriet H. Battles, South Chelmsford, Mass.

"About a year ago I began using Ayer's Sarsaparilla as a remedy for debility and neuralgia resulting from malarial exposure in the army. I was in a very bad condition, but six bottles of the Sarsaparilla, with occasional doses of Ayer's Pills, have greatly improved my health. I am now able to work, and feel that I cannot say too much for your excellent remedies."—F. A. Pinkham, South Moluncus, Me.

"My daughter, sixteen years old, is using Ayer's Sarsaparilla with good effect."—Rev. S. J. Graham, United Brethren Church, Buckhannon, W. Va.

"I suffered from

with lame back and headache, and have been much benefited by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I am now 80 years of age, and am satisfied that my present health and prolonged life are due to the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla."—Lucy Moffitt, Killingly, Conn.

Mrs. Ann H. Farnsworth, a lady 79 years old, So. Woodstock, Vt., writes: "After several weeks' suffering from nervous prostration, I procured a bottle of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and before I had taken half of it my usual health returned."

Southern Oregon in a Nutshell.

State Printer Baker has now in the press and will soon issue a neat pamphlet entitled "The Resources of Southern Oregon." The last legislature created the southern Oregon state board of agriculture and appropriated $1500 for a district fair for the counties of Lake, Klamath, Jackson, Josephine, Douglas, Coos and Curry. It was made the duty of the board to collect and collate information relative to the resources of the district mentioned. The pamphlet was compiled by Colonel Robert A. Miller, of Jacksonville, secretary of the board. The issue will be 21,000 copies, which will be distributed all over the east to call attention to the wonderful resources of southern Oregon. The pamphlet contains the latest authenticated map of Oregon, a general description of the entire state, the history, development and description of southern Oregon, together with the names of the district board and the law creating it. The counties in the district are also treated separately. Among the special papers contributed are the following: "Grape Culture," by Secretary Miller; "Mines and Mining," by Herbert Lang; "Fruit Culture," by F. L. Whitman; "Forest and Forest Trees of southern Oregon," by E. W. Hammon; "Economic Botany," by Scott Morris; "Geology of southern Oregon," by Thomas Condon; "A Description of Crater Lake and the Josephine County Caves," by W. G. Steel; "Land Laws of Oregon," by W. H. Parker; "Land Statistics," by Douglas W. Taylor; "Climatic Data," by B. S. Pague. In addition there is a directory of southern Oregon, interesting tables and statistics and a list of newspapers of Oregon.

A QUAKER'S DOZEN.

Richard Stege, the well known proprietor of the Quaker Dairy, No. 50 Ellis St., San Francisco, last week sent the following letter to the Edwin W. Joy Co.

"My family have been taking Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla now for months with splendid results. Our experience has been that after taking it regularly for a short time and getting the system started right, an occasional dose thereafter keeps the system in perfect condition. A peculiarity of your vegetable compound inexplicable to me is, that it does not lose its effect, but seems to accomplish the same results continually. As a liver and bowel regulator and corrective it is perfection. We would not be without it in our house. In fact I have just bought a dozen bottles to get the reduced price."

A. M. Rowe, of 532 Jones street, S. F., also writes that it has been his habit for years to awake in the mornings with a headache and an exhausted feeling; but since the first bottle he has had no return of his old time debilitating headaches.

Stock on the Range.

Miraculous as it may seem, we hear now and then of a few head of stock that wintered out on the range, and have come out not only alive but in many cases are reported to look about as well as some of the stock that was kept up and fed. Frank Reynolds was telling us recently that a bunch of 25 head belonging to Carr, of Clear lake, have wintered out on the plateau without a mouthful to eat save what they could find in the way of browse, and they look very well, considering everything. He also said that Charley Ostrom was telling him recently that while traveling around on Blue mountain he came across two cows, one dead and the other alive, and the live one was so very lively that Mr. Ostrom could not get near enough to her to ascertain to whom she belonged.—[Modoc Independent.

Advice.

"Keep your head cool—your feet warm—your liver active and trust in God," was the advice of a celebrated physician to a patient. You can regulate the action of your liver, kidneys and bowels by using DeWitt's Sarsaparilla, an absolutely reliable blood purifying remedy. For sale by E. C. Brooks.

Mothers!

Castoria is recommended by physicians for children teething. It is a purely vegetable preparation, its ingredients are published around each bottle. It is pleasant to the taste and absolutely harmless. It relieves constipation, regulates the bowels, quiet pain, cures diarrhoea and wind colic, allays feverishness, destroys worms, and prevents convulsions, soothes the child and gives it refreshing natural sleep. Castoria is the children's panacea—the mothers' friend. 35 doses, 35 cents.

HERMANN'S VOTE.

EDITOR REVIEW:—No satisfactory explanation of Mr. Hermann's vote to require the government to repay the money lost by him through the dishonesty of Silcott has yet appeared in the Plaindealer.

As that sheet is booming Hermann for re election, it is fitting that some explanation be made on that subject, as it is a matter that reflects upon the integrity of the Plaindealer's chosen candidate.

To a man of ordinary comprehension, it looks as though Hermann was anxious to have the government to pay him the second time, the money once paid and lost by his own carelessness.

The money to pay the congressmen has to come from the United States treasury. It could only be drawn from the treasury on draft or check, signed by the party entitled to it. It is not claimed that Hermann's name was forged to a check or draft, and the money obtained in that way. He authorized Silcott to draw the money and Silcott did so and appropriated the same to his own use. Then upon what theory should Hermann vote to require the government to pay him a second time? If Mr. Hermann had drawn his check on a private bank where he had money deposited, and sent the check by some one in whom he had confidence, and the party should draw the money from the bank and abscond with it, would Mr. Hermann claim that he was entitled to payment a second time from the bank? Most certainly not.

Will the Plaindealer, which appears to be the special organ of Mr. Hermann, dare to maintain that he was any better entitled to a second payment from the government than he would have been from a private bank? There is no explanation, and the Plaindealer dare not attempt to vindicate him. The facts are that he drew his money once and lost it and then voted to pay himself a second time.

It is to the credit of congress that by an overwhelming majority this barefaced, attempted steal was promptly defeated. Mr. Hermann is a wealthy man. The foundation of his fortune was laid while in the land office at Roseburg, by speculation in government land and land scrip. It is true that under the regulations of the land department register and receiver were prohibited from buying land or dealing in land scrip; but in violation of the express instructions of his superior officers Mr. Hermann purchased several thousand acres of land, much of which he still owns. In view of the fact that he had made his fortune out of the government, the decent thing for him to have done was to have pocketed his loss and not have asked by his vote the taxpayers of Oregon to help make good a loss to him, which in neither law or equity they were required to do. But then Hermann is not built that way. We demand that the Plaindealer take the stand and explain its candidate's vote or hereafter hold its peace.

THE CHINESE WANT TO VOTE.—A big poster on a bill board in front of No. 16 Mott street, New York, contains the following in Chinese characters: "We, the undersigned, respectfully inform you that the principal cause of our continued persecution by races who differ from us in civilization and language is from the fact that we have no voting power, that power having been unjustly denied us by reason of partisan legislation, through political rascalities. This unjust legislation against us has been discovered by us recently to be unconstitutional, and it is our sincere belief also that such unjust dealings with the Chinese do not represent the true sentiment of blue-blooded Americans. We now desire our fellow-countrymen to unite with us and present our many grievances in a proper manner before the American people. This important movement is a movement that needs not only good words but good money to back it. Let all those who wish to enter this matter with heart and money report to 9 Dove's street."

Wong Gong, the head of the committee who signed the document, said to a reporter: "I have been living here as an American citizen sixteen years, and have lived like an alderman, too. When I went to get my full naturalization papers the other day the officials of court laughed at me, and told me had I been born over again right here in New York, if my parents were Chinese I could not become a citizen. I got mad and have been working hard ever since to get vengeance. If all the Chinese whose rights are denied them will join me, we will obtain what we want.

A TARIFF POEM.—He sat in his door at noonday, lonely and gloomy and sad; brooding over the price of his corn crop, and figuring how much he had. He had worked from early springtime, early and late and hard, and he was counting his assets and figuring out his reward. He figured that it took two acres to buy his two boys new boots, and ten acres more on top of this to fit them out with new suits. To buy his wife a protected dress took 100 bushels more, while five acres went in a single lump for the carpet on the floor. His taxes and his grocery bill absorbed his crop of oats, while the interest on his farm mortgage took all of his fattened shoats. The shingles on his cowshed and the lumber for his barn had eaten up his beef-steers and the balance of his corn. So he sat in his door at noonday, lonely and gloomy and sore, as he figured up his wealth a little less than it was the year before. "By gum, they say I'm protected, but I know there's something wrong; I've been deceived and gulled and hoodwinked by this high-protection song. They told of rebellious traitors, and held up the bloody rag, and I followed along like a bumpkin, and now I am holding the bag. But from this time on I'll investigate, and get to the bottom of the facts, and I'll bet $4 to begin with that the tariff is a tax."

PLUTARCH LEWIS, who was arrested at Redding, Cal., on a charge of having robbed the mail between Roseburg and Empire city, was, as has since been proved by the confession of the real criminal, a victim of mistaken identity, and on motion of United States District McArthur, Judge Sabin recently made an order dismissing the charge against Lewis, and releasing his bondsmen. The real robber was a man named Williams, and Lewis much resembled him in appearance, and their clothing and jewelry were similar, and this led the detective into error and caused the arrest of Lewis. On being brought back his brother from Corvallis gave bonds for him and he was released, and now he is freed from the serious charge which hung over him and is a free man in all respects.

A REPUBLICAN statistician's report contains the information that Virginia, West Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee, Missouri, Arkansas nor Texas have never elected a colored congressman. Neither have Pennsylvania, Ohio, Massachusetts, Vermont, Iowa nor Illinois. Note should be taken of this list of states. If the Republicans from the north are unable to conquer the prejudices of race against their black allies, why should the Democrats of the south be expected to send negroes to congress?

WHAT PRODUCED THE CHANGES?

The reports of the Democratic victories in the charter elections throughout the state are pleasant tidings to the Democrats of this city, in view of the coming legislative elections, which will decide the next senatorship and the gubernatorial election of 1891. Never before have the Democrats succeeded to such an extent in the interior of the state. They now have mayors in twenty-four of the thirty incorporated cities of the state, and their greatest strength, comparatively, was developed in the Republican strongholds.

Democratic mayors are now at the head of affairs in the following cities: New York, Brooklyn, Albany, Amsterdam, Binghampton, Buffalo, Cohoes, Dunkirk, Elmira, Hornellsville, Hudson, Ithaca, Long Island city, Middleton, Newberg, Oswego, Rochester, Rome, Schenectady, Troy, Watertown and Yonkers.

Auburn, Jamestown, Lockport, Ogdensburg, Poughkeepsie and Syracuse are the only cities which have Republican mayors.

The Democrats themselves are surprised at their success. They attribute it to various causes, some to the opposition of Platt and his senators to the World's fair in New York; some to dissatisfaction with the appointments of the Harrison administration, while many others think that the interior counties are awakening to the fact that the high-protection system is making them poorer year after year.

Comptroller Myers gave his views on the matter this morning in this way: "No doubt the conduct of the Republican senators in regard to our fair bill had something to do with the result of these elections; but I do not think its influence is very great. The fact is that a Democratic tidal wave is sweeping all over the country and has not neglected New York. If a presidential election were held to-morrow the Democrats would carry the country by an overwhelming majority.

"Why? In the first place the Republicans everywhere are dissatisfied with Harrison. The Republican papers praise him in duty bound; but just get into a group of Republican politicians and you are not likely to hear a good word for him. The dissatisfaction is of a marked character, especially in the interior of the state.

"The principal cause of the tidal wave, however, is the progress of the public sentiment in favor of tariff reform. This progress was shown very plainly by the elections in Iowa, Ohio and other states recently. The farmer is beginning to study economic questions, and is discovering that a high tariff does him no good, while increasing the price of his agricultural implements, etc. In 1888 we were defeated on the tariff issue. In a year and a half we have gained such ground that tariff reform would now be the great issue on which the Democrats could march to victory."—New York Commercial Advertiser.

NOVEL WAY OF STRIKING ROSES.—Recently I was conversing with a policeman who is a rose enthusiast, and he told me he had strong bushes of some of the best hybrid perpetuals upon their own roots, that he had rooted himself in a way quite new to me. Having obtained a suitable shoot, or several of them, they were placed in an ordinary bottle which contained some water, and this bottle was hung upon the wall of the house in a sunny position and there left, water being supplied to make up the deficiency caused by evaporation. In this water, which often became very warm from the heat of the sun, the cuttings remained, and after a short period they callused, when they were taken out and dibbled into pots in the ordinary way, the formation of the roots soon taking place. The above plan was claimed as expeditious, as the cuttings callused much sooner in water than they did in the soil. It is known that many things root readily in water, and oleanders are frequently propagated in that way, whilst some sedum spectabile that I have lately had in a cut state had rooted freely long before the flowers faded. With the roses, if a cutting is once nicely callused, success is almost a certainty, and if this needed state can be brought about by immersion of the base in water, we then have a simple and valuable aid to rose propagation, because it is much easier to preserve alive a cutting placed in water than it is one in the soil during its early stage.

LOW PRICES OF CATTLE.—Experienced cattle growers are of the opinion that such low prices as cattle now bring cannot long continue. A few years ago, when their business was prosperous, thousands rushed into it. A host of cattle kings appeared on the western ranches. The result was over-production and a decline in prices. When the prices of cattle fell, they were just as anxious to get out of the business as they had been to get in. They were ready to make any sacrifices to get out. Thousands of cattle then ready for market were thrown on the market, and with the result of demoralizing it. Raising 3-cent cattle is a losing business, and the grower is soon forced to quit it. Then will come a time when the ever-growing demand for beef cattle will exceed the supply, and prices will go up with a bound. The beef-cattle industry is one that requires much forethought. The grower must study the probabilities of the future when his young stock is ready for the market. The chances now are in favor of better prices.

SECRETARY PROCTOR has complied with a request received from the secretary of state that the war department devise means to give the foreign delegates to the Pan-American congress a view of the military of this country, and he accordingly has issued orders for a parade to be held on the 11th of this month by the regular troops on station at Washington city, together with the district militia. The secretary of the navy has been asked to order out the marine guard stationed there and the marine band on this occasion. There will thus be a representation of every branch of the service—regular, volunteer and naval—aggregating upward of two thousand men, and two troops of cavalry from Fort Myer and artillery from the arsenal, a part of which is dismounted.

INCREASE OF WEALTH.—The $40,000,000 left by John Jacob Astor, in 1849, has grown to $200,000,000. If this property continues to increase at the above rate for forty years more it will aggregate $1,000,000,000! And why should it not thus continue? This, like many other wealthy families, have adopted a policy to secure their chief accumulations to the heads of their respective families. Experience shows that such fortunes are not widely distributed. Have our statesmen given a due consideration of what will be the result of such or even an approximate accumulation in the hands of say fifty of our present most wealthy families within the next fifty years?

CORRESPONDENCE.

MILLS AND MILLING.

EDITOR TIMES:—Some of our citizens are contemplating the idea of forming a joint stock company for the purpose of building a roller flouring mill at Eagle Point in the near future, and, having had much experience in milling, I ask room in the columns of your paper to give to its many readers a few points relative to the same.

In the first place, topography dictates to the skilled farmer that Providence never intended this section of Oregon for much else than horticulture and grazing. The greater portion of tillable wheat land is already under cultivation, and a large per cent. of this is annually cut for hay; and doubtless still more will be when science vouchsafes to the husbandman larger profits in stock than in breadstuffs.

Again, we live within a half-day's journey of six or eight flouring mills, located on or near the O. & C. R. R., and we venture the assertion that the yearly wheat crop of Jackson county will not keep these mills at work one-half the year. Will it pay to ship wheat into the valley for milling purposes? Let us see. First, we must look for a market for our flour. Now our mental vision rests upon the S. P. lines to transport the flour to San Francisco or Portland; but, looking along the road, we see other mills, better situated for commerce, and in far better belts of wheat-growing lands than ours. Our thoughts then turn to the coast—knowing that mother earth affords cheaper facilities—but alas! here, too, we are daunted by the same obstacle.

Facts are stubborn things, and we will be brief in giving a few of them to your readers for meditation; not, however, as an obstacle in the way or path of improvement. Far from it, for, having our all at Eagle Point, none wish it prosperity more than we; and in its past adversities surely we have adhered to it with more than filial affection.

Years ago, when mills were as scarce as hen's teeth, the grain grown in Sam's valley was readily carted to this point, as was also much of that grown in the heart of the valley and other sections, which now have mills nearer at home.

Now, gentle reader, if there is not grain enough grown in southern Oregon to keep her present mills in operation one-half the year, the question comes forcibly to mind, will another mill located ten miles from the nearest station on the R. R. pay?

Look at it! Look at it! Then close your eyes, as imagination wrestles with your thinking faculties, and while Morpheus gives you a gentle embrace, wafting you to the borders of dreamland, behold this now airy castle a sad reality, standing empty and idle, lonely and desolate, a fitting memento of man's rashness in wild speculation. Cold drops of sweat hang on your troubled brow, (supposing you have several shares at stake) and in your reverie a sad, plaintive voice whispers in your ear, "Oh, foolish wiseman! Why didst thou not to education give thy surplus wealth? Far better would it be if this same building was converted into an ample schoolroom in place of yonder hovel, where now thy children congregate to hearken to the voice of wisdom. Tear out those ponderous cylinders of steel, and in their stead let there appear the arras and the rostrum." Let education lure those youthful minds, "for as the twig is bent the tree's inclined," that they in their turn may be the wiser and profit by thy experience.

THOMPSON CREEK MURMURS.

Roads are improving, but bridges is the cry.

This section received its share of the flood. All of the farmers feel the effects more or less.

Miles Mee recently received a severe cut in the foot, by the accidental slip of his ax while chopping.

D. W. Knutzen lost a span of valuable horses recently from the effects of a disease resembling glanders.

Herriott & Co. are still piping. They have already worked out about four hundred yards of the channel.

Miss Mary Cook of Foots creek, who has been paying Mrs. Thos. Mee and daughter of this place an extended visit, will return home in a few days much improved in health.

The school-house of this district was crushed in by the snow last winter, and is still in ruins; and, as school season is at hand, 'tis time the school board was moving to repair it.

The sawmill of Mee & Sons made a short run during March, and then shut down for a few days to put in more improvements. They will have their mill in first-class order for the coming season, and they intend to run every piece to its fullest capacity.

KICKER.

STEAMBOAT SLUGS.

McGee Bros. are getting ready to go to piping. The deep snow has kept them back with their work.

Dave Drake and Chas. Lansing have been taking out considerable gold on Brush creek the past two weeks.

E. S. Smith is driving his work of prospecting on the old Steamboat ledge very rapidly. He is working day and night.

T. B. Houston and H. C. Jackson are cleaning out the John O'Brien ditch, which was considerably damaged by last winter's floods.

Shearer & Finney have about completed the bridge for their hydraulic pipe across Steamboat creek, and will soon commence getting their ditch ready for work. Snow is quite deep yet at the head of the ditch.

CÆSAR.

A CARLOAD OF FINE HORSES.—There arrived in Salem recently, says the Statesman, a carload of fine horses for Hon. John F. Miller from Montague, Cal. There were thirteen in all, and among the lot was "Old Rye Straw," the famous race-horse of Oregon, whose name is no doubt familiar to every sporting man in this section of the country. His record on the state fair track some eight years ago was 1:46¼, and, considering the condition of the track at that time, the record was considered a good one. After he had won fame here he went to California, when he "lost his grip," and has been considered "off the track" every since. He is now about fifteen years old. The other stock is all of the best breed. One fine young horse is from "Zilaphone," by Altamont, and several are Buckskins. They will be taken to Mr. Miller's ranch east of Salem, where they will be put in good order. They are now all just from the range and are looking quite rough.
