The knight he plucked the rose and cried. "This flower place on thy breast," The bard a violet gave, and sighed, "Ah! near thee let it rest," "Come back again at autumn-tide And meet me in my bower, And ye shall learn," the maid replied, "How fares it with each flower." At autumn-tide they stood once more Beside the maiden bright; Then from a vase the flowers she bore And placed them in their sight. The illly leaves were dull and stained; The shriveled rose was dead: The odorous violet fresh remained— "The bard," she cried, "I'll wed,"

GORMANDIZING, or overeating or the partaking of too rich and indigestible food, is a common cause of discomfort and suffering. To immediately relieve the stomach and bowels from such overloading, a full dose of Dr. Pierce's Purgative Pelleta is the best remedy. They operate gently, yet thoroughly and without griping, nausea, or other unpleasant effects. If the too free indulgence in such intemperate eating has deranged digestion, causing dyspepsia and biliouances, attended with a sense of fullness or bloating after eating, coated tongue, bitter or bad taste in mouth
