ther." Even if it should eventually turn out to be a girl, this statement is not supposed to cast any stigma upon it or its mother, but is generally received with gratitude.

Roughly speaking, babies may be divided into two classes—those that resemble pigs and those that have more of the characteristics of the monkey tribe. The pig variety is usually sloppy in texture and runs over in the matter of cheeks, and has a multiplicity of chims, each more unstable than the other; to kiss an infant of this Then, as children and grandchildren This is but one of several instances of a came on, my feet and hands would
