Some of the so-called Democratic senators who foisted the Gorman bill on the country are abusing the senior senator from New York, who has proven that he is easily the best fighter in the senate and the peer of any member of it in point of ability and honesty. They would be better employed in showing their own claims to be called Democrats than in preparing to read Senator Hill out of the party.

JOHN J. CURRY, formerly a well-known member of the typographical fraternity of Portland and associated with Judge Bellinger in the publication of a daily paper at the metropolis in years gone by, is the Democratic candidate for the office of superintendent of state printing for California.
