Results of a Lynching. Al. Heminger, foreman of the Lakeview Water Co., who was on duty as deputy marshal at the time when Thompson was lynched, has had his mind unbalanced by the experiences of that night. The shock of suddenly having four cocked revolvers thrust into his face by masked men at midnight, and the contemplation of the horrible tragedy enacted, was too much for him. He imagines both the lynchers and the citizens are after him. Last week he fled into the country, but was found by his friends and has been taken by them on a hunting trip to Crater lake, with the hope that his hallucinations will disappear.

The matter will be carried to the supreme court."

Look Out for Mineral Lands. The Roseburg Review publishes a notice that the O. & C. R. Co. will make final proof on certain tracts of land in the Roseburg district, some of which are in Jacksonville. The limit of time in which to dispute the claim of the company to the land is sixty days. The total number of acres in the tract is 12,475.62, much of which lies in mineral districts, so that the company may find several contests on its hands. Most of the land in this county is in townships 40, r 3 and 4 west. The description of the land is posted in Jacksonville at the postoffice and court-house, and may also be found at the TIMES office by anyone wishing to examine it.

London Women's Latest Fad. English women of the "smart set" seldom if ever either wear or carry flowers to the opera. It is considered "bad form." But women—even English women—are contradictory. The latest fashionable freak among women who are blessed with pretty hands is to wear an immense ring like a Roman Catholic bishop's on the first finger of the right hand. It need not be considered the height of vulgarity to place a ring on the index finger, but now this decoration is the "demi-cer." The ring must be a superb one and must not partake of the slender and graceful distinctness of the "marquise" circle. It must be solid, big and respectably ecclesiastical in its appearance. The feminine mind, always desirous of presenting contrasted effects to poor humanity, sees the delicate sarcastic anomaly of a little, white, frivolous looking hand wearing a big, aggressively solid sort of ring.—New York Press.

Promoted by a Woman. Miss Lucy Smith, who in 1892 was superintendent of public schools in Ration county, Tenn., is credited with first suggesting the idea of the American Temperance University at Harriman. In her report to the county court for January, 1892, she stated that this part of Tennessee ought to have a first class institution for the higher education of young people, and that Harriman was the place for it. This led to talk, consideration and effort, with the result that Harriman has a university which ranks well with other colleges in the state, and with a prospect that is full of hope. It recently had its first commencement and graduated a class of 10, equally divided in number as to sex. Anne Frances Springstead, the author of "The Expert Waitress," is as practical as she is poetic. She is a dainty lady, with her hair prematurely gray. Blessed with serene temperament, she is naturally unlikable in habits of study and devotion and yet is alive to the claims of society and well known in the Nineteenth Century club. She is as nearly as possible akin to the Cheeryble brothers. She is guilty of doing delightful deeds of which her right hand never informs her left, but which are nevertheless recorded. She read a fine poem last month before the alumnae of the Female academy of Albany. She has a talent for investigation; is herself an expert waitress at the end of science.

Mrs. Mackay's Reception. At Mrs. Mackay's big reception at her lovely Carlton House Terrace mansion, London, recently it was universally admitted that the prettiest woman present was an American—Mrs. Walter Winans. She was dressed very simply in pearl white satin. Young Lady Craven also was a fair specimen of transatlantic transplantation. She also wore white satin, trimmed with silver embroidery and a good many diamonds.
