Do Trees Require Sleep? In the larger cities, where shade trees are few and scattering, electric lights seem to have no visible effect upon their foliage. In the towns and villages, however, many of which have their electric light systems, the effect is very noticeable, the leaves appearing as though they had been subjected to the blighting breath of a harmattan. The question was recently discussed at a meeting of the eastern aboriculturists, the conclusion being that trees need darkness in order that they may sleep, and that being amazement, "I thought, Sir Wiling continually kept awake and active liam, that you just told the nurse to they have been worn out and made prematurely old by the action of the light.
