DON'T BE DUPED

There have been placed upon the market several cheap reprints of an obsolete edition of "Webster's Dictionary." They are being offered under various names at a low price.

By dealers, agents, etc., and in a few instances as a premium for subscriptions to papers. Announcements of these comparatively worthless reprints are very insidious. They are advertised to be the substantial equivalent of a higher-priced book, while they are all

Even should the ship-subsidy bill pass the Senate, there will be plenty of opposition to the measure in the House. Very few of the Republicans are satisfied with the measure as it now stands, and propose to remedy the defects to suit their own views when the bill reaches them.

The greatest danger from colds and la grippe is their resulting in pneumonia. If reasonable care is used, however, and Chamberlain's Cough Remedy taken, all danger will be avoided. It will cure a cold or la grippe in less time than any other treatment. It is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by City Drug Store.

The two weeks' snow blockade of the White Pass and Yukon railway was broken January 19th, and traffic resumed the next day. During the night of the 18th Skaguay experienced one of the worst blizzards ever known in the north, the snow drifting in several streets to the height of one story house-tops.

There has been great distress in the province of Shan Si, China, owing to the famine, and thousands have died. The court has ordered rice relief to be issued in large quantities. A report reached the foreign envoys that native Christians suffering from the famine were to be discriminated against and to be punished if they even begged for food. The United States, British and French ministers protested to Prince Ching and Li Hung Chang against such discrimination, and the court issued an edict ordering all relief officials and Chinese soldiers to treat Christians exactly the same as others throughout the empire, under penalty of decapitation.

Mary Elizabeth Lease is lying ill at her home in New York. She is suffering from a fractured knee-cap, received through a fall while trying to ascend the moving staircase of the Sixth-avenue Elevated Road. Speaking of her divorce suit she said: "I have earned a living and have taken care of my four children more than twelve years. Only since I brought them to New York three years ago have I been able to save anything from my earnings by teaching, and now that I am about to come into much property I wish to be free to handle myself. My husband has filed a waiver and will not contest my will in the divorce matter." Mrs. Lease declined to divulge the nature of her inheritance, further than to say it is to come from her mother's side.

ZEB WAS IN A HOLE.

HE WENT AFTER WHISKY AND FOUND A BIG BEAR.

The Old Possum Hunter Tells How It Came to Pass That He Developed a Most Wonderful Interest in Noah and the Animals in the Ark.

[Copyright, 1900, by C. B. Lewis.]
"Just befo' the revenue fellers captured the last moonshine still around yere," said the old possum hunter of Tennessee, "we had fo'teen kegs of whisky in the shaft of an old iron mine on the side of the mountain. That shaft was 20 feet deep and grown about by bushes. Arter the whisky had staid thar over two years it was planned fur me to take it out and sell it and divide up the money. The old woman knew of the plant, but I wasn't goin' to say nuthin' 'bout my gettin' the kegs out. She was reckonin' all along that some one else would do that. One arternoon I driv the mule and cart as nigh the place as I could, and along 'bout two hours arter nightfall I says to the old woman:

"If yo' don't consider to object, I reckon I'll go over and see Dan Skinner this evenin'. Dan is feelin' peckish and lonesome, and likely we'll hev a game of checkers to brighten him up."

"But I do object," she says. "I was reckonin' to sing some hymns tonight

"THE B'AR WAS THAR." while yo' played the fiddle. I also want to talk to yo' 'bout Noer and his ark."

"I've got a sore thumb and can't fiddle, and, as fur Noer, he will keep till some other time. Nuthin' rushin' 'bout Noer."

"With that she turns on me and looks me squar in the face, and arter a minit she says:

"Zeb White, don't yo' go to foolin' with Noer and his ark or surthin powerful bad will come out of it. Dan Skinner may feel peckish, or he may be dyin', but what we wants to know is how all them critters found their way into the ark. How did it happen that the hens didn't eat up the tater bugs while they was walkin' together?"

"Dunno."

"Why didn't the foxes eat all the hens?"

"Dunno."

"Why didn't the b'ars eat the pigs?"

"Dunno."

"Of co'se yo' don't, and that's why I want yo' to squat right down yere with me and try and figger it out. I shan't never be satisfied to die till I find out how the elephants and hosses and cattle managed to git into that ark without treadin' on the sarprints and bugs."

"I seen that her jaw was sot fur a row," continued Zeb, "but I had sold that whisky, and must git it out that night, and so I told her I'd go along over to Skinner's and put in the next two nights with her on Noer. She looked at me ag'in, but didn't say nuthin' till I was on the doahstep. Then she p'inted her finger at me and said:

"Go right along, Zeb White, but if the Lawd don't dun git yo' into a heap of trouble over it then I don't know chestnuts from punkins!"

"I hurried off without sayin' anything back and half an hour later was bringin' up the kegs. It was dod rotten business. I had to slide down a rope, hitch on to a keg and then climb up and pull the keg arter me. Ought to had a nigger to help me, but thar wasn't one around to trust. I'd got up fo' kegs all right and was comin' up to pull the fifth one up when sunthin' happened. Jest as I was nearin' the top of the hole I heard a growl and a 'whoof' and a big b'ar made a stroke at my head with his paw. I was thar durn skeered that I jest let go and drapped to the bottom of the shaft and got a jar that made my bones ache fur a week.

"What they calls the situashun was this: I was down in a hole and a b'ar was waitin' fur me to come up and do business with him. Yo' kin see that the pesky varmint had all the advantage. He could smash my skull with one blow of his paw as my head come within reach. I yelled and hollered at him, thinkin' to skeer him away, but he looked over the edge of the hole at me and growled and sniffed and seemed minded to fall on top of me. It wasn't five minits befo' I wished I was home talkin' 'bout Noer, but wishin' was no wood. I kept quiet fur two or three hours and then started to climb up. The b'ar was thar. He was thar at midnight and sunrise, and I'm tellin' yo' that he was thar at noon and at fo' o'clock in the arternoon. The shaft was as dry as a bone, and I was thirsty 'nuff to drink swamp water. The way things was fixed that b'ar could keep me down thar till I perished, and when he appeared as if he was like to do it I felt that I hadn't used my old woman right and wanted to ask her to forgive me. 'Bout fo' o'clock, while I was keepin' mighty quiet, I hears a rifle shot above, and directly arterward a human face looks down on me. It was the old woman's. She drew the rope up beyond my reach and then called down:

"Is anybody down thar visitin' Dan Skinner who feels peckish and wants to play checkers?"

"If yo'll lemme up, I'll ax yo'r pardon," says I.

"Mebbe that voice belongs to Zeb White?"

"She do."

"And mebbe his sore thumb has got well so that he kin fiddle?"

"She has."

"Then we'll hev some fiddlin' and singin'."

"And with that she lowers the fiddle by a string, and as soon as I got tued up she began singin' and kept it up fur an hour. Then she calls down:

"Zeb, what about Noer and his ark?"

"I'm willin' to talk," says I.

"How long will yo' talk?"

"All the rest of the fall and winter. 'Peared to me when yo' spoke of it last evenin' that I didn't keer much 'bout Noer and his ark, but I'm findin' out that I take a heap of interest in 'em. I'm willin' to sit up all night and try to figger out 'bout the hens and tater bugs."

"Then mebbe yo'd better come up," says she, and she draps the rope fur me to climb by. I never felt so glad in my life as when I got out and seen a dead b'ar thar. I wanted to gin the old woman a kiss, but she waves me off and says:

"Don't yo' be in sich a hurry. Mr. White, arter yo' hev ate and drank and slept, and arter we've put in 'bout fo' weeks figgerin' on Noer, we'll see 'bout the kissin' business. Chuck them kegs back into the hole, load up the b'ar, and we'll go home." M. QUAD.

How to Make Home Unhappy.

A recent purchase of a $2 palm, sickly and frail, carried in its train a demand for a $7 jardiniere and a $3 taboret. The fire must now be kept up nights for it, and every time the owner's husband passes the palm he shakes a fist at it.—Atchison Globe.

Misapprehension.

"Noer was a great tyrant," remarked Mr. Wolcott solemnly.

"Why, no," said little Tommy Wolcott, looking up, astonished. "Noer was Mr. Watson's dog that died."—Somerville (Mass.) Journal.

WOMAN'S DUTY.

In Justice to Herself, Her Husband and Her Children, Her Health Should Be Her First Consideration.

Thousands of women endure the tortures of living death and at last succumb to the diseases peculiar to their sex without knowing of the life and health which might be theirs if proper treatment had been used. How pathetic is the story of thousands of young mothers who every year are carried to their graves leaving little children to struggle alone in the world without the tender care and wise counsel of a mother. And how deplorable when it is known that there is a remedy so exactly suited to the needs of suffering women that it cures the most stubborn of their diseases.

Immediately after the birth of her first child in 1896, Mrs. Grace Campbell, of No. 391 Logan street, Grand Rapids, Mich., now 35 years of age, was afflicted with a complication of diseases. Her story, as told in her own words, follows: "The birth of my first child left me in a deplorable condition. My system was broken down and I suffered from general debility. I was exceedingly nervous and rheumatism also troubled me. My appetite failed and the most delicate and inviting food failed to tempt me. I was thin and pale, and had neither energy nor ambition. My case had been growing steadily worse for two years. I had used several so-called remedies but found no curative qualities in them.

"In the summer of 1898, I was visiting my grandmother in Ludington, Mich., and there learned of the wonderful cures effected by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I tried the pills and had not finished one box before I felt much better. I continued taking them through the year and the result was a perfect cure. I am no longer nervous or rheumatic and have more than regained my lost flesh. I certainly recommend the pills to all who need them and their results have always been beneficial."

MRS. GRACE CAMPBELL. Subscribed and sworn to before me this 26th day of July, 1900.
