The Eminent Kidney and Bladder Specialist.

The Discoverer of Swamp-Root at Work in His Laboratory.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell. Then the richness of the blood—the albumen—leaks out and the sufferer has Bright's Disease, the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is the new discovery is the true specific for kidney, bladder and urinary troubles. It has cured thousands of apparently hopeless cases, after all other efforts have failed. At druggists in fifty-cent and dollar sizes. A sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling about Swamp-Root and its wonderful cures. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. and mention this paper.

Caked Breast

Just two applications did the work

Gentlemen—I suffered for days as only a woman with caked breast can and in desperation applied Scotch Remedy, hoping it would ease the pain. The first application gave relief and the second restored the breast to its normal condition, without injuring or affecting the flow of milk. I have used your truly Mysterious Pain Cure, as a general household remedy, for nearly a year and consider it the greatest external remedy in the world. MRS. M. F. D. Oakland, Cal., July 14, 1900.

DOCTORS USE IT. Gentlemen—I have known of the use of Mysterious Pain Cure for several years, but not until within a few months have I used it upon my person and in my family, and I can say unhesitatingly that it is one of the best remedies for pain that I have ever tried. Thoroughly applying it to my experienced, very sure to give quick and permanent relief. Respectfully, G. M. H. CUTLER, D. Druggist, Vt.

WOMAN AND FASHION.

Toilet of Light Tan Cloth—The Old Fashioned Sleeve—Pretty Dress For a Girl.

The toilet is of light tan cloth, with the long, gracefully trailing skirt adorned at either side of the front and in the middle of the back with a cluster of tiny short tucks. The blouse bodice is tucked on the shoulders and cut out in the middle of the front from the bust to the waist, the upper part in the center being adorned with applications of white lace, while the lower part is bordered at either side with round button-holes, encircled with white lace and threaded with a black taffeta scarf, with the ends knotted and enriched with gold tags. Underneath this lace scarf is a full plastron of white mousseline de soie. The lower part of the sleeve is cut out, filled in with the mousseline and then laced with black taffeta.—Philadelphia Ledger.

The Old Fashioned Sleeve.

The old fashioned flowing sleeve is becoming very fashionable. The "flow" may be as deep as the floor and is so seen upon some of the newly imported gowns. Others have only a sweep of a few inches, but the cuff, far from being a bell, is cut decidedly on the slanting lines of the flowing sleeve. It is fat to the wrist, but suddenly tapers under the hand and widens in a way to trail upon the gown.

Fur sleeves, too, are very popular. You see the sleeve of sealskin cut off far above the wrist, below it the puff of black satin, with the straight cuff of sealskin. Fur sleeves are made finished with sleeve puffs of green satin and dark red, all colors being worn with the different varieties of fur.

The plain everyday sleeve of the winter is a modified leg of mutton. It is plain at the top, with the slightest suggestion of the tailor made effect. It is set into the waist squarely, with a square shoulder effect. Below the shoulder it gets larger at once, and, while it never becomes baggy, it is very full. Suddenly at the wrist it is gathered in and sewed to a broad band which answers the purpose of a cuff. It is not properly a leg of mutton, but it is so called this year.

Dress For a Girl.

This dress is composed of a tartan velvet body and corselet of bright drab

Stories of Victoria.

Mrs. Oliphant, notes of the Princess Victoria herself that notwithstanding her simple breeding she early showed a vein of natural diplomacy.

When taken to see her "uncle king" and being asked to choose what music the band would play, she asked for "God Save the King."

Another time the king asked the princess which she had most enjoyed of the amusements at Windsor. "The drive I took with you, Uncle King," replied the little courtier.

Here is another story, different in character, but equally delightful: "She was a brave little person, not given to crying or complaints. On one occasion she had been warned not to play with a dog which was of uncertain temper, but continued to do so until the animal betrayed himself by a sudden snap. 'Oh, thank you,' she said; 'he didn't bite me; he only warned me.'"—London Chronicle.

Evansiveness.

Pat—And did you give the man that dared to call for the rint an evasive answer? Biddy—I did that. I jist tould him his grandmother was a monkey.

Righteous Indignation.

Mr. Nurox (with blood in his eye)—Lookee here! I left an order with you yesterday for a dozen bottles of the best mardery wine in yer old shop.

Wine Merchant—Yes, sir. Weren't they delivered? Mr. Nurox—Say, the stuff you sent me was so stale the bottles had dust on 'em an inch thick. You can't work no showpown truck off on me.—Philadelphia Press.

Filial Piety.

Fond Mother—You say Mr. Willing objects to my presence in the drawing room when he calls? Daughter—Yes, mamma.

Fond Mother—I wonder why? Daughter—I'm sure I don't know, unless it is because he loves me for myself alone.—Answers.

A Convincing Answer.

"I hobbled into Mr. Blackmon's drug store one evening," says Wesley Nelson of Hamilton, Ga., "and he asked me to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm for rheumatism, with which I had suffered for a long time. I told him I had no faith in any medicine, as they all failed. He said: 'Well, if Chamberlain's Pain Balm does not help you, you need not pay for it.' I took a bottle of it home and used it according to directions, and in one week I was cured, and have not since been troubled with rheumatism." For sale by City Drug Store.

A Savage's Prayer.

Flaccut, in his history of Madagascar, gives a sublime prayer used by the people we call savages: "O Eternal, have mercy on me, because I am passing away! O Infinite, because I am but a speck! O Most Mighty, because I am weak! O Source of Light, because I draw nigh to the grave! O Omnipotent, because I am in darkness! O All Bounteous, because I am poor! O All Sufficient, because I am nothing!"

Water Starts a Fire.

A barn in Belgium was set on fire by a shower. The farmer placed a quantity of quicklime near a shed and left it there all night. In the course of the night rain fell on the lime, and the heat thus developed became so great that it set the shed on fire.
