Caked Breast
Just two applications did the work

Gentlemen—I suffered for days as only a woman with caked breast could suffer. I had applied Scotch Remedy, hoping it would ease the pain.

The first application gave relief and the second restored the breast to its normal condition, without injuring or affecting the flow of milk. I have used your truly Mysterious Pain Cure, as a general household remedy, for nearly a year and consider it the greatest external remedy in the world.

Gentlemen—I have known of the use of Mysterious Pain Cure for several years, but not until within a few months have I used it upon my person and in my family, and I can say unhesitatingly that it is one of the best remedies for pain that I have ever tried. Thoroughly applied it is, in my experience, very sure to give quick and permanent relief. Respectfully,

ONLY ELEVEN BILLIONS.

An increase of more than 100 per cent in the money of the world in less than a generation is an exhibit of the annual report of the director of the mint. Nearly the whole of this increase is in metallic money, and much the larger portion is in gold. The total stock reported in 1873 was about $4,600,000,000. More than half of this was in paper money not fully covered by the metallic reserve. The situation at the beginning of 1900 showed a total monetary stock of about $11,000,000,000, of which only a little more than one-fourth was in uncovered paper money.

Director Roberts finds that, while the money supply of the world has increased about $7,000,000,000, the increase in gold money since 1873 has been about $3,600,000,000, in silver about $2,700,000,000 and in uncovered paper money only about $650,000,000. A large proportion of the increase in gold has taken place within the short space of seven years, while the quantity of silver money, which was at its maximum of about $4,250,000,000 at the beginning of 1890, has since been somewhat reduced by the retirement of silver by Germany and its retirement in other countries. The conditions of 1893 showed a total monetary supply of about $10,300,000,000, which has since been increased by about $1,100,000,000. About $940,000,000 of this increase has been in gold money.—Philadelphia Times.

Opportunity.
In one of the old Greek cities there stood long ago a statue. Every trace of it has vanished now. But there is still in existence an epigram which gives us an excellent description of it, and as we read the words we can surely discover the lesson which those wise old Greeks meant that the statue should teach to every passerby. The epigram is in the form of a conversation between a traveler and the statue:

"What is thy name, O statue?"
"I am called Opportunity."
"Why made thee?"
"Lysippus."
"Why art thou on thy toes?"
"To show that I stay but a moment."
"Why hast thou wings on thy feet?"
"To show how quickly I pass by."
"But why is thy hair so long on thy forehead?"
"That men may seize me when they meet me."
"Why, then, is thy head so bald behind?"
"To show that when I have once passed I cannot be caught."—Christian Press.

Macbeth's Wife's Christian Name.
Miss Blank, who wished to become a candidate for the position of teacher in the public schools, went up for examination recently. Among other things she was called upon to read a passage from "Macbeth" which closes with the words which Macbeth speaks to Lady Macbeth, "I prithee come with me."
"And what," asked the examiner, "do you understand 'prithie' to mean?"
"I understand it to be a corruption of 'pray thee,'" replied the would be teacher, surprised at so trivial a question.

"I am glad," said the examiner. "The lady who came just before you assured me that it was the Christian name of Macbeth's wife."—Judge.

The Abused Mule.
The wickedness of mules is a standing joke, and you are always hearing them abused. Ever see a team of mules run away? Almost every day you see a family horse running away, usually with screaming women and children in the buggy, but did you ever see a mule run away? Did you ever personally know a mule to kick any one? The fact is, the mule works hard on light feed and gets nothing but abuse.—Acheson Globe.

A Good Cough Medicine for Children.
"I have no hesitancy in recommending Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," says F. P. Moran, a well-known and popular baker of Petersburg, Va. "We have given it to our children when troubled with bad coughs, also whooping cough, and it has always given perfect satisfaction. It was recommended to me by a druggist as the best cough medicine for children, as it contained no opium or other harmful drug." Sold by the City Drug Store.

Just the opposite.
"When I first met you," cried the woman who had been married for her money, "you occupied a low, mental position, but now, thanks to me, your position—"
"Is a hymeneal one," her husband interrupted.—Exchange.

Sword of a Thousand Pieces.

What do you think of a sword blade that contains a thousand sheets of metal? Yet they are not uncommon and, as you will readily imagine, are of oriental workmanship. Our painstaking, patient Japanese friends are the makers of them, and a few days ago I had the pleasure of seeing one in a Fourth avenue curiosity shop and had it method of manufacture explained.

The blades of these sabers are made from magnetic iron ores. The steel is produced in small, very thin sheets, and the workman begins by fixing one of them to the end of an iron rod which serves as a handle. To this are soldered other small sheets until the mass has a length of about eight inches, a width of about two inches and a thickness of a little more than a quarter of an inch.

This bar is brought to a white heat, loubled on itself and hammered until it is down to its original dimensions. This process is repeated 15 times. Four smaller bars are then soldered together, doubled upon themselves, resoldered and heated, the operation being repeated five times. This process makes the superposed layers so thin that a saber contains at least a thousand sheets of metal.

If you find one of these swords that has a veined appearance, you may know it is cause, by alternate layers of iron and steel being soldered together.—New York Herald.

Still More Counterfeiting.
The Secret Service has unearthed another band of counterfeiters and secured a large quantity of bogus bills, which are so cleverly executed that the average person would never suspect them of being spurious. Things of great value are always selected by counterfeiters for imitation, notably the celebrated Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which has many imitators but no equals for indigestion, dyspepsia, constipation, nervousness and general debility. The Bitters set things right in the stomach, and when the stomach is in good order it makes good blood and plenty of it. In this manner the Bitters get at the seat of strength and vitality, and restore vigor to the weak and debilitated. Beware of counterfeiters when buying.

A Word Kept in a Cup.
An absentminded ruralite was the cause of much amusement at a Memphis hotel a few nights ago. He registered early after supper, but did not go to his room right off. About 9 o'clock, his usual bedtime, he remarked to the clerk that he believed he would "remain."

"All right," said the obliging man behind the counter. The big clock ticked off another hour, and the old man addressed the clerk again:
"I say I believe I'll remain."
"You have my permission, sir."

When the hands on the dial pointed to 11, the old fellow, who was so sleepy he hardly knew where he was "at," called out in a half angry voice:
"By the eternal, I say I believe I'll remain!"

Again the clerk assured him of his permission, but the situation was becoming critical, and something had to be done.

"When you are ready to retire," said the clerk, "you can get your key at this desk."
"Retire," said the exasperated guest. "That is the very word I've been trying to think of for two hours. Give me the key to my room. I'll sleep until 10 o'clock in the morning to make us for last time!"—Memphis Scimitar.
