A Fellow Snip.
Tess—It's quite likely that my uncle will leave me quite a fortune. He's dying, you know.
Jess—Oh, isn't that distressing?
Tess—Er—yes; I do feel sorry for the poor old—
Jess—Nonsense! I was sympathizing with you, dear. To think that all this wealth should come to you when it's almost too late to do you any good.—Philadelphia Press.

No Chance.
"Is he so very unpopular?"
"Unpopular," echoed Mr. Knoxwell. "Why, I have known him to tell a dozen people he has had his photograph taken, and not one out of a dozen said 'they really must have a copy.' When a man can't give his picture away, what chance is there for him?"—Washington Star.

Sanitary Question.
He gazed at the individual who was spread over four seats in a crowded railway car and murmured, "May I ask you a question?" The individual grunted assent. "Have the government inspectors examined you for trichinosis?"—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

Proved It.
"What do you think, Clarice went out and sang at an entertainment in a private insane asylum."
"Did she say whether they showed their insanity much?"
"Oh, yes; they encored her three times."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

The Difference.
Mrs. Lamb—No, I wouldn't listen to a word against my new butler; he's as true and good as steel.
Mrs. Fox (who knows his record)—My dear, if you feel that way your valuable are as good as stolen.—Philadelphia Press.

An Asphalt Lake in Canada.
Thomas F. Drew, a mining man, who has been prospecting in the wilds of Canada, thinks he is on the track of an asphalt lake near James Bay. "One day," he says, "a party of prospectors and an Indian guide were in a section of country beyond the Great Divide. The party had camped for a rest, and the Indian went in quest of game. He started up a fox at the same moment he was on the rocky rim of a good sized lake. The fox ran across the top of the lake, splashing the water as he went. The Indian guide rubbed his eyes and sat down to ponder on things in general. He then went down to the lake himself, and what Reynard could do he could do. It was an asphalt lake and, being in the spring, had about an inch of water on it. Efforts are now being made to locate the lake."

American Appetite For Diamonds.
It is the voracious appetite of Americans for diamonds and not the regulation of the De Beers output by Cecil Rhodes that, according to Mr. Woolf, the leading partner of the biggest London wholesale diamond firm, is responsible for sending up these gems 50 per cent. Woolf said: "Everything has gone up in our trade—emeralds ten times as much as diamonds owing to the smallness of the supply. Pearls, too, are very dear. The Americans buy up three-fourths of the diamonds. The Americans buy the very finest diamonds and will pay any price for them. A syndicate has got the cream. There are only six members, and there never was such a monopoly as theirs. Roughly speaking, I should say they have made about $10,000,000 in one year."

The Mexican Dollar.
The Mexican Herald does not believe that the Mexican dollar can be driven out of the east. The big business houses of the far east, it says, and the Chinese compradors, always accustomed to the Mexican dollar, give it the preference. Few other coins have been better received in any part of the world. And any one who knows the intense conservatism of the Chinese may well doubt if, even in the Philippines, where there are not a few Chinese traders, a new dollar can wholly drive out the time honored Mexican coin. On the mainland the Mexican dollar is a standard of value, and the Chinese are marvelously well acquainted with every feature of it.

Last of the Modocs.
The ancient Modoc tribe has dwindled to 77 members, mostly women and sick or diseased children. The death of a Modoc brave lately has left only 13 ablebodied warriors, who will never go to war again probably. From the most savage and indomitable of fighters they have lost all ambition for anything but their government supplies, and while virtually prisoners of war on a small reservation, they are left unwatched. The spirit of old days has gone, and nobody will ever hear of a story about "the last of the Modocs."—Minneapolis Times.

One of Britain's Weaknesses.
The weak point of the British cavalry service was illustrated the other day when out of 30 candidships offered 11 were left unfilled, only 19 candidates having passed. The reason is to be sought in the fact that the cavalry regiments are "swell" and therefore so expensive that they have to be recruited from a limited class.—Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

The Laetli Telegrams.
Two young ladies on St. Paul street went to the theater the other evening, and their father, thinking they had a latchkey, went to bed at his usual hour, and the servants all left. When the ladies returned, they rang the bell repeatedly and beat on the door, but got no answer. Finally they began to despair, when a neighbor who had been awakened by the din appeared in white at his window opposite and asked what was the matter.

"We are locked out and cannot awake papa," came the reply in duet.
"Wait a minute," said the quick witted man on the other side of the street. "Your father has a telephone in his room, and I will call him up." So the central was called.

"Give me number —," said the neighbor.
As soon as the bell sounded in the room of the sleeping father he awoke with a start and ran to the telephone.
"Hello, what is the matter?"
"Is that you, So-and-so?"
"Yes; what is wanted?"
"Your daughters are at the front door trying to get in. Open the door. Good night."—Baltimore Sun.

A Skeleton.
"What is a skeleton? Can you tell me, children?" asked a teacher of her Sunday school class.
The infant class looked troubled. Their ideas on the subject were of the most vague description and, they seemed to think, hardly worth mentioning. The question passed down the class almost to the very foot, meeting only a blank look or a shake of the head, until at last the smallest tot of all ventured a reply:
"Pleath, mith, it lth a lean without any meat on it."—London Answers.

A Good Cough Medicine for Children.
"I have no hesitancy in recommending Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," says E. P. Moran, a well-known and popular baker of Petersburg, Va. "We have given it to our children when troubled with bad coughs, also whooping cough, and it has always given perfect satisfaction. It was recommended to me by a druggist as the best cough medicine for children, as it contained no opium or other harmful drug." Sold by the City Drug Store.

Irritating.
"So Mrs. Gaylord insists on a separation at last, does she? Well, he has neglected her shamefully."
"Oh, she didn't mind that particularly."
"What was the trouble, then?"
"Why, whenever he was a little good to her he was so very virtuous about it that she just couldn't stand it."—Harper's Bazar.

The actors' green room is so called because its floor in the time of Shakespeare was always covered with green rushes.

Medieval knights often took a voluntary oath that they would never spare the life of an enemy.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling all about it, including many of its thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and enclose this paper.
