Remarkable Cure for Croup.

A LITTLE BOY'S LIFE SAVED.

I have a few words to say regarding Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It saved my little boy's life and I feel that I cannot praise it enough. I bought a bottle of it from A. E.
Steele of Grant's Pass, and when I got home with it the poor baby could hardly breathe. I gave him medicine as directed every ten minutes until he "threw up," and then I thought sure he was going to choke to death.
We had to pull the phlegm out of his mouth in great long strings. I am positive that if I had not got the bottle of cough medicine my boy would not be on earth today.—JOEL DEMONTE, Luwood, Iowa. For sale by City Drug Store.

An Ancient Foe

To health and happiness is Scrofula—as ugly as ever since time immemorial.
It causes buncles in the neck, disfigures the skin, inflames the mucous membrane, wastes the muscles, weakens the bones, reduces the power of resistance to disease and the capacity for recovery, and develops into consumption.

"A lump appeared on the left side of my neck. It caused great pain, was lanced, and became a running sore. I went into a general decline. I was persuaded to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and when I had taken six bottles my neck was healed, and I have never had any trouble of the kind since." Mrs. K. T. STUBBS, Troy, Ohio.

Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills will rid you of it, radically and permanently, as they have rid thousands.

NEW SHORT STORIES

Politeness a Handicap.

R. R. Sheffield, the fullback, came up from Princeton the other Sunday to address the West Side Young Men's Christian association at Princeton, and in illustration of one of his remarks he told an interesting anecdote of the football field. Fisher, the giant center of the Princeton team, was unable to make the team at first, for, while he had the requisite physique for a fine player, he seemed to lack that essential element known in football parlance as "killer."

"We could not understand this deficiency in him," said Mr. Sheffield, "until one day in practice a coach who had kept his eye on him noticed that he stopped and begged the pardon of his opponent for going at him in such an enthusiastic fashion in one of the mass plays. Fisher's fault was discovered. He was too polite. He had always been very gentlemanly and courteous off the field, but on the gridiron there is not room for much politeness."

Fisher was instructed to play hard and clean and beg no man's pardon for it. He obeyed and made the team.

Isthmian Canal Commission.

The Isthmian canal commission got together here and is now hard at work finishing up its report, which it promises to have in the president's hands long enough in advance of the meeting of congress to enable him to make use of it in preparing his annual message.
The president of the Panama Canal company is here trying to get the commission to report in favor of buying its canal. It will be remembered that in its preliminary report made to President McKinley last year the commission declared against such a purchase.

FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

Josiah Read's Invention.

The inventor of the cooking range did the other day, says a writer in the New York Mail and Express. He was ninety-two years old, and he lived at Everett, Mass., a suburb of Boston.
His name was Josiah M. Read. The name is not in "Who's Who," and the old man was unknown to fame, although his invention effected a more profound and momentous change in American domestic life, perhaps, than Morse's electric telegraph did, or Whitney's cotton gin, or even Howe's sewing machine. There had been stoves before Read. Franklin made a stove which still goes by his name. It is simply an open grate on legs, with a pipe.
The feet can be warmed at it, and the room can be filled with smoke. There were rude cooking contrivances before Read made his ranges, away back in the thirties, but they were crude affairs. Men who are now not old can remember when women baked in a Dutch oven—a movable tin box, which was shoved up in front of a hot open fire. The cooking range made possible an elaborate and careful arrangement of the humblest cuisine. It was economical in the sense that it gave a great deal more heat from the same amount of fuel. It saved heat and time.
It enlarged the American bill of fare.
It increased the complexity of the domestic organization and abolished old fashioned rustic simplicity.

For the Sickroom.

Accessories for the sickroom cannot be too dainty in appearance, but above all it is important that they shall be washable. A pretty medicine glass cover made of a piece of circular white linen may be embroidered in some delicate design and the edge buttonhole stitched. Near the center two small eyelets should be worked. Then a piece of glass corresponding in size and shape should be obtained at the glazier's, and this, too, should have two small holes similar in location to those in the linen. When the work is finished, the linen is tied with baby ribbon to the glass, and a most serviceable and at the same time attractive article for an invalid is ready for use.

The Best Prescription for Malaria, Chills and Fever is a bottle of GROVE'S TASTE-LESS CHILL TONIC. It is simply iron and quinine in a tasteless form. No cure. No pay.
Price 50c.

St. Rule's Tower.

St. Rule's tower, in the town of St.
Andrews, is an evidence of the link which binds St. Andrew, whose feast all good Scotsmen keep, to the country of whom he is the patron saint.
The legend runs that a monk called Regulus, or Rule, brought the bones of St. Andrew from Constantinople, to Scotland and buried them near the sea-coast, on the spot round which the present town of St. Andrews afterward grew. Whether the story is true or not, there seems to be no other way to explain the connection of this particular saint with Scotland, for he seems to have passed the whole of his life up to the moment of his martyrdom in the east. James II. certainly associated him with the country across the Tweed, for it was he who founded the Order of St. Andrew in 1687, to be conferred on the king and sixteen knights.—London Chronicle.

How the Tea Plant Started.

As you drink a cup of tea do you ever think how tea came to grow?
Tell your next visitor the story. A Persian prince on his way to meet his betrothed vowed that he would not sleep until he saw her. After traveling seven days he stopped to rest under a shade tree, and there, being no longer able to resist the temptation, he fell into a sound sleep. When he awakened, he was so sorry that he cut off his eyelids and threw them on the ground.
From them grew the tea plant. It is rather unfortunate that the story stops here because it would be interesting to know what the lady thought of a sweetheart without eyelids and whether it would be possible for them to grow again.

HOME AND CHILD

Does your horse "feel his oats"? What a difference between the grain-fed and the grass-fed horse! The first strong and full of ginger, the second flabby, weak and tired out before he begins. The feeding makes the difference.
Children are not alike either.
One is rosy, bright-eyed, full of life and laughter, another is pale, weak and dull. The feeding again is responsible.

Sickly children need special feeding. They don't "feel their oats". Scott's Emulsion adds just the right richness to their diet. It is like grain to the horse. The child gets new appetite and strong digestion.

Scott's Emulsion is more than food. It is a strong medicine. It rouses up dull children, puts new flesh on thin ones, and red blood into pale ones. It makes children grow.
Scott's Emulsion makes ordinary food do its duty.

This picture represents the Trade Mark of Scott's Emulsion and is on the wrapper of every bottle.
