A Generous Invitation.

Three-year-old Edward, whose father has a bennery, called to a playmate who was passing with a milk can in ber hand:

"Has the cow been laying some milk for you?' Then he shouted "Come over and play with me."

"I can't." replied the little girl; "I'm going home."

"Come over after you get froo going oome," said Edward.

The Speed of Fishes.

It is interesting to note the speed of fishes. Porpoises have been seen to dart round and round a steamer traveling seventeen miles an hour. Herrings in schools move steadily at a rate of between ten and twelve miles. Mackerel are much swifter, and both trout and salmon go at a rapid pace up stream. Whales swim at a rate of sixteen miles an hour when excited.

Children and the Polsonous Plants. Four Ohio boys recently ate wild parsnip, thinking it to be sweet anise. One died and the others are in a critical condition. Every country child should know the comparatively few poisonous plants growing in his vicinity. Boys especially have a disposition to investigate and taste all sorts of plants and fruits. A little care on the part of parents will often prevent the making of such fatal mistakes. Instruction in these matters in country schools would not be out of place. Specimens obtained from a summer Saturday in the field or woods would furnish pupils an interesting and valuable object lesson.-Rural New Yorker.

Tobacco Growers Pleased.

Tobacco growers are happy over the prospect of a vigorous competition with the American Tobacco company. The American company went to England to compete with the Imperial company, or. in fact, to try to monopolize the tobacco trade in England, as it has almost done in this country. Now the Imperial company returns the compliment and comes over here to build factories and put buyers on the market in competition with the trust. Two large factories are to be built by the Englishmen in North Carolina and one in Virginia. The competition will benefit the growers of the tobacco crop .-- Practical more northern or colder climate, but it is hardly safe to take them north from the south, as they will not be so likely to mature a crop owing to a difference in season and climate.

Seeds in any locality may be greatly improved by careful selection and propagation. Particularly is this the case with corn. A good variety can be well kept up in its original characteristics and even improved in some respects, as earliness, uniformity, productiveness, etc., by this careful attention to selection from year to year. Valuable varieties are often obtained in this way, entitiing them to the designation of pedigfee or thoroughbred.

Stops the Cough and Works off the Cold. Laxative Bromo-Quinine Tablets cure a cold inone day. No Cure, No Pay. Price 25 cents.

Tapeworm In Sheep.

It is said that the tapeworm is afflicting sheep very extensively on the this parasite may be known by the but fail to digest the food, and frequently diarrhea sets in, and they finally die from starvation and exhaustion.

Tomatoes on Fences.

A good plan is to plant the tomato vines along the garden fence if you are unfortunate, enough to have one. The extra heat along the fence will hasten the tomatoes to ripen, while the fence can be made to act as a support for the plants. Use a three-quarter inch wire staple to fasten them with, giving it a single tap with a hammer. An unsightly fence will be covered in this way and waste ground utilized.

the stone pavement of Avenue Maine. So terrible was his velocity that the bones of his legs were driven through the soles of his shoes. He was literally dashed to pieces and died instantly. The engineer's body fell a short dis tance away. It was blackened and charred by the flames, and every bone was broken by the fall. Senor Severo was about forty years
