We quote the first paragraph: "Col. J. S. Crawford, of Philadelphia, and F. H. Osgood, of Seattle, and associates are laying plans toward the installing of a large smelter at their Cleopatra copper mines on Diamond creek, Del Norte county, California, just south of the Oregon line. They also propose to build a railroad from their properties to the Pacific. The route chosen will be 23 miles in length and will have its terminus at Chetco harbor, Curry county, Oregon. Here the owners of the Cleopatra also own 35 acres of frontage. The soundings at Chetco harbor show 24 to 35 feet of water. This would be sufficient to allow the entrance and loading of very large ves-
