Pains in the Back

Are symptoms of a weak, torpid or stagnant condition of the kidneys or liver, and are a warning of its extremely hazardous to neglect, so important is a healthy action of these organs. They are commonly attended by loss of energy, lack of courage, and sometimes by gloomy foreboding and despondency.

"I had pains in my back, could not sleep and when I got up in the morning felt worse than the night before. I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and now I can sleep and get up feeling rested and able to do my work. I attribute my cure entirely to Hood's Sarsaparilla." Mrs. J. N. PERRY, care H. S. Cooper, Pike Road, Ala.

Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills

Cure kidney and liver troubles, relieve the back, and build up the whole system.

Can This Be True?

Arthur Brisbane, in one of his daily editorials in the New York Evening Journal, quotes, as he says, from the circular of a Philadelphia whisky firm, as follows:

"Possibly 92 or 93 per cent of the whisky sold in Philadelphia is what is technically termed by the trade 'blended whisky.' The manner of its preparation is about as follows: For a barrel of 48 gallons possibly 38 to 40 gallons of cognac spirits are put into a tank—cologne spirits being the ether of the whisky, which passes from the still in the process of distilling, as benzine precedes illuminating oil in the distilling of petroleum. It is a neutral spirit, having no taste; but its effect upon the human system is very pernicious, and, when taken to excess, it flies to the brain and produces very unpleasant results. To this 30 or 40 gallons of cognac spirits possibly four gallons of straight whisky are added, together with two gallons of prune juice, two gallons of peach juice and a little vanilla, pineapple or some other flavor to give it a distinctive and pronounced character. This compound, or blend, is allowed to stand for some months, until the component parts are all blended. The compound is then bottled or barreled, widely advertised and sold under fancy and alluring names, at prices ranging from 75 cents to $2 a bottle.

Be Quick.

Not a moment should be lost when a child shows symptoms of croup. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears, will prevent the attack. It never fails, and is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by all druggists.

Commutation Act in Danger

Chairman Lacey of the public lands committee of the lower house of Congress has presented an elaborate argument against repealing the commutation clause of the homestead act. By statistics he showed there had been no alarming increase in the number of commuted homesteads in late years, and there was nothing whatever in the records to show that any considerable number of frauds had been perpetrated under that law. On the contrary, he maintained that the department has it in its power to administer this law so as to prevent frauds. Lacey admitted it might be advisable to increase the price per acre to be paid on commuted entries. He thought $5 an acre would be the maximum price justified, however.

Representative Mondell of Wyoming

made a similar argument, and Senator Fulton, who happened to be present, expressed the off-hand view that no reason existed why the commutation law should be repealed. He was convinced that no particular fraud was perpetrated under its provisions.

Old Law Still Stands.

State Superintendent Ackerman says that the law directing county school superintendents of the state to make semi-annual appointments to each school district was not abolished at the last regular session of the Legislature, as has been inferred.

The only respect in which the old law was modified was that the appointments in October and April of each year were made obligatory on the part of the county superintendent, any other distribution of funds being discretionary with the superintendent.

At the special session of the Legislature the provision for a per capita tax of $6 for each pupil was eliminated and the old law authorizing a 5-mill tax was re-enacted, so that the school law in this respect is the same as it was formerly. As it now stands, each district will receive regular appropriations of $20 and its proportion of the tax realized from the 5-mill levy. The hardships imposed on sparsely settled districts is thus removed.

The Holiday Excursion.

Several hundred people living in Southern Oregon and Northern California left for San Francisco Saturday with the excursion managed by T. K. Bolton and Emil Pohl. Most of them got aboard at Ashland and Montague. Tickets are good for fifteen days, although holders can return whenever they wish.

The following is a list of the excursionists who reside in Jackson county, as far as we are able to obtain them:

Medford—Dr. C. R. Ray, wife and daughter, A. M. Cannon, B. P. Theiss, W. L. Yawter and family, Mrs. A. H. Lawrence, Dr. E. B. Pickett, James Pelton, Mrs. E. Brown, R. H. Whitehead and daughter, J. G. Hedges, Miss Helen Walt, J. C. Hall, J. G. Gore, Messrs. Fridgegar, Mr. and Mrs. J. Breneman, Chas. Obenchain.

Jacksonville—Oris Crawford and family, Judge Neil, W. C. Deneff, Roy Ulrich, T. P. Kahler, S. E. Dunnington, T. J. Kenney, Mrs. G. E. Neuber and daughter, Mrs. E. C. Facets, Misses Josie Donegan, Kate Plynale, Marie Nickel, Wm. Jennings.

Ashland—Miss Edith Crowson, Fannie Carter, Mabel Rizes, Mary Nichol, Nora McDade, Etta Johnson, Lydia McCall, Gertrude Engle, Stella Case, Etta Hauks, Mr. and Mrs. J. True, Mrs. Hazard, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. Van McDade, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Loomis, Mrs. Safely, Mrs. Chisholm, Mrs. E. V. Mills, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Shepherd, Mrs. J. R. Casey, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Cook, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Stevens, Marion Yantata, M. Sloby, Al Decker, Mort Lawton, Frank Hendricks, Roy Loomis, E. H. Ogden, J. L. Gentry, Fred Engle, W. M. Richards, F. J. Hanks, F. McAllister, G. S. Butler, Mark True, W. C. Gibson, Ed Murphy, A. A. Neil, M. Mayer, Denver Kincaid, Al Pankey, E. Peil, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Finley.

Another Legislative Blunder

That there will be no $300 tax exemption on the assessment of 1904 seems apparent from the laws as they were left by the special session. As the law now stands there is no exemption authorized. The next assessment will be made on March 1, 1904. The act passed by the Legislature reviving the $300 exemption will not take effect until 90 days from December 23, or on March 23. Therefore it would seem that no exemption can be allowed on that assessment.

In examining the acts passed by the Legislature, at its recent session, an Oregonian representative noticed that the exemption law carried no emergency clause. This was called to the attention of Attorney-General Crawford.

"It looks as though there will be no exemption in 1904," was Mr. Crawford's comment. "Perhaps some way can be found to construe the law so that the exemption can be allowed, but it doesn't look very favorable at the first glance."

The assessment of 1903 was made as values existed March 1 of that year. The law repealing the exemption did not take effect until May 21. As the assessments listed property that was taxable on March 1, they allowed exemptions on the 1903 roll. If the same rule be followed in 1904, no exemptions can be allowed. In other words, the exemption must fall either in 1903 or 1904, and apparently it must fall in 1904.

Railroad Extension Probable

It is said that Klamath Falls can have a railroad if it will offer reasonable inducements therefor.

Hervey Lindley, former manager of the Klamath Lake Railroad Company, has purchased the interest of George Mason, and at a late meeting of the directors held in San Francisco the latter resigned his position and the former was elected in his stead as president of the road.

The Klamath Lake Railroad has been built from Laird, Cal., to Pokegama, Ore., a distance of about 30 miles, at an expense of $600,000, and is one of the finest scenic railroads in the West, winding its way, as it does, along the Klamath River, until it begins the ascent of the mountains, where by the use of switchbacks it gradually mounts to the summit. Here leaving the picturesque scene of the valleys and river it suddenly plunges into the dense forests of pine, through which it travels until it reaches its present terminus at Pokegama.

The extension of the road to Klamath Lake, a distance of 22 miles, is now being considered by Mr. Lindley, and he is not averse to its going to Klamath Falls.

Exploded Nonsense.

Some of the news papers are printing a story that Lewis and Clark must have passed through Rogue River Valley, because there appears upon a big rock that embellishes the summit of Wagner Butte marks and signs that had been carved there by the great explorers themselves.

This sounds romantic enough; but it happens that there are yet living people to explode the story. As a matter of fact, the names and figures on the alleged stone were placed there in 1855 by A. W. Sturgis, W. Beeson and S. M. Robison, who ascended Wagner Butte while hunting and on an expedition of exploration.

Ulrich on Thursday received a telegram from Chicago, informing him that his sister Emma, was one of the hundreds of victims of the disastrous fire which consumed the Inequos Theater the day before. She was born in Jacksonville and in 1883 married S. L. Doleen, who was in charge of the railroad construction through Rogue River Valley at the time.

The Gambling Bill Stolen.

The anti-gambling bill, passed by the House by a vote of 32 to 12, making gambling a felony, was introduced by Hutchinson of Multnomah. It was simply an exact copy of the Washington law which has been sustained by the Supreme Court of that state, and contained an additional provision requiring the District Attorney to ferret out offenders and bring them to trial.

The bill provided that every person who shall conduct, or conduct in any way, any game of fate, monte, roulette, rouge et noir, etc., shall be guilty of felony, and upon conviction shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than one year nor more than three years. Among the forbidden gambling games are: Dice, slot machines, checks, credits, brag, bluff, fan-tan, draw-poker, poker, whether played or operated in a house, room, shop or other building whatsoever, boat booth, garden or other places.

After passing the House the measure was kidnapped in the Senate. A. C. Jennings, chief clerk of the House, carried the bill to the bar of the Senate after it had been enrolled in the House. He delivered it to a page at the bar. Then it disappeared as completely as if it had sunk into the depths of the earth. Officers of the Senate can't remember to have seen the document.

Who in the Senate saw the bill? If it reached the sight of any officer that person should have been President Brownell, since the Constitution requires all bills transmitted from one house to the other to be received by the presiding officer. He says that he is as much at a loss as anybody to know whether the bill had flown.

According to the Oregonian a delegation of gamblers, well supplied with hoodie, were at Salem for the purpose of lobbying against the bill. They doubtless know who stole it, and they paid well for the kidnapping.

Departed This Life.

John Harris, who has been ailing with cholera during the past year, died Thursday evening. He was nearly 30 years of age and highly respected. A widow (nee Jennie Booth) and numerous friends mourn his untimely death.

How is That for High?

In one of the grocery stores of Medford are on display a few boxes of choice apples, of the Spitzenburg variety, which are good to look upon. Although this is the land of the apple, these are held at $3 a box, but find a ready sale at that apparently exorbitant figure. Dr. J. M. Keene lately sent one of them to his brother, Dr. Clarence Keene, who is attending lectures in Boston. The expressage was $3.65, or 65 cents more than the cost of the apples.

You Can't Work

If your head aches—you're bilious—a sure sign that your liver is out of order, more than likely the result of a weak stomach or constipated bowels. All such sufferers should know that for 50 years

GOOD WORK DONE BY THE LEGISLATURE

Thirty-four Bills Passed, of Which None Were Vetoed By the Governor.

When asked what he thought of the work of the recent session of the Legislature, Governor Chamberlain expressed himself as highly pleased. He said that it was as short as he had expected it to be, and while some acts had been passed which were not urgently needed, the passage of these had evidently not prolonged the session. Governor Chamberlain has examined and approved all of these acts either by signing or filing them.

The Legislature passed 35 Senate bills and 16 House bills. Among these were charters for the following towns: Marshfield, North Bend, Gold Bay, Dallas City, Athena, Lostine, Labson, Beaver Hill, McMinnville, Cottage Grove, Seaside.
