ERMIFUGE IS A HEALTH BRINGER.

Bright's Disease.

The largest sum ever paid for a prescription changed hands in San Francisco Aug. 30, 1901. The transfer involved in coin and stock $112,800 and was paid by a party of business men for a specific for Bright's Disease and Diabetes bilobaria incurable diseases.

They commenced the serious investigation of the specific Nov. 15, 1900. They interviewed scores of the cured and tried it out on its merits by putting over three dozen cases on the treatment and watching them. They also go physicians to name chronic, incurable cases, and administered it with the physician or judge. Up to Aug. 28 eighty-seven per cent of the test cases were either well or progressing favorably.

There being but thirteen per cent of failures, the parties were satisfied and closed the transaction. The proceedings of the investigating committee and the clinical reports of the test cases were published and will be mailed free application. Address: J. J. FETTER CO.

OFFICERS BATTLE WITH ROBBERS

WRECK BANK VAULT AND ESCAPE WITH PLUNDER.

South McAlester, L. T., Dec. 28.—A gang of five bank robbers looted the bank in Kiowa, a small town sixteen miles north of here, yesterday and escaped after several hundred shots. The bank building was partially wrecked, the damage to the building being about $1500.

An entrance to the bank was gained by the use of crowbars through a rear window. While two of the men worked on the safe three stayed outside as guards. The first explosion was a failure, making a loud report, but doing little damage. The citizens heard the noise, and arming themselves with revolvers and shotguns, hurried to the bank. At the command of a leader a volley was fired at the robbers, who were visible through the shutters. The fire was returned by the guards secreted on the outside.

While the two men on the inside worked, the three men on the outside kept up a steady fire with the posse of citizens. It took three explosions to open the safe.

After the last explosion the burglars gathered up their tools, and leaving through the front of the bank got away in the dark. The posse followed the gang for a distance, but lost the trail with some of the citizens believed one robber was injured. The latter were protected from the fire of the robbers by stock pens in the rear of the bank building.

A posse of United States marshals is en route, with the hope of immediate results, as the men had several hours' start.

NEW YORK SKY-SCRAPER TO BE FORTY-FIVE STORIES HIGH
New York, Dec. 28.—Contracts will soon be let for the erection on lower Broadway of the tallest building in the city. With stories below the street level, forty stories high from the entrance to the top floor and surmounted by a sixty-two foot tower, the gigantic new building which will be known as the Broadway-Cortland will have a total height of 412 feet. It is more than twice as high as the Flatiron building and almost as tall again as the Park Row building, which at present holds the record.

Plans for the construction were started almost a year ago when a syndicate headed by Henry C. Frick, the Pittsburgh steel magnate and Bird S. Coler of this city as the prime movers. The building is estimated to cost, when ready for occupancy, $4,500,000, while the site will cost $5,000,000.

A New Version.

Der poy stood on der burning dock; Once all but him and der dog; His leetle dog was still alive, Bud all der rest was dead.

Der poy looged down upon der dog— Der dog looged up at him. "Shy der dog der poy replied: "I shall go der way der dog." "No, no!" der leetle dog exclaimed; "I gann't swim a lick!" "Uf der dog der, der poy agreed. "Perhaps you'd podder stick!"

But py-and-py a pig, pig balloon Into der rescue came. Und der dog der way der dog away— Now won't da shame?

Dear moral on da tale is dis: Uf you gan't swim, or fly, or float, You're chust as safe on deek.

IT IS RAPIDLY BECOMING MIGHTIER THAN THE PEN.

Men who fear nothing else shrink from a joke upon themselves. Soldiers who do not flinch before opposing guns stand to be made ridiculous. Who to the national hero who makes one trifling mistake which may subject him to clever caricature! His meritorious career is henceforth shadowed by one colored illustration. A comic paper will tip the scales of justice, snatch the victor's prize from his extended palm and rob the orator of choicest laurels. A brilliant satire will mar the fortunes of the greatest statesman, a laugh will turn the tide of a political convention.

Indeed, the joke is becoming mightier than the pen. The orator has learned its value, and even the clergyman resorts to it when he desires to stir the flagging interest of his flock. It furnishes sufficient excuse for the impetuosity of children, and its name the daily papers aside the highest national dignitaries.

What is the meaning of its steady growth in power and what results may we predict from its humorous tyranny? Is there a chance that our keen reliance for fun may finally produce a kind of humorous dyspepsia, resulting from overindulgence, unless with epeuran discrimination we demand quality, not quantity, and stubbornly refuse to swallow other than that which should appose a wholesome, nay cultivated appetite in jokes?—Caroline Ticknor in Atlantic.

Trifles as Irritants.
We are so constituted that what is occurring at the moment interests us often out of all proportion to its importance. For example, we are thrown off our balance by the merest trifles perhaps which occur today, but which in a week's time may have no significance whatever. Obstacles which seem like mountains when we meet them dwindle away to molehills when we get away from them.

Even what seems tragedy at the moment in the future may be the most innocent comedy.

Most of us are so constituted that we will make almost any sacrifice for present peace. It would seem easier to have an arm or a leg amputated two years hence than to lose a finger today! It is the nature of us to shrink from pain, and we purchase relief at almost any cost. If we could only train the mind to look at today's trouble and annoyance from the standpoint of the future, it would be much easier to bear.—Success.

Locked In With a Maniac.
The writer was once closeted with a patient whom he had no suspicion of being mad until the latter got out of bed, turned the key of the door and preferred a mild request to the writer to have him hand him his keys. At the same time an open pocketknife, which he produced from underneath his pillow. I objected to the knife as being too small for the purpose and begged to be allowed to go for my case of snipping knives with which I explained, the operation could be performed with greater neatness and dispatch. He unlocked the door at once, binding me over to secrecy and urging me to lose no time in returning. I drove home, repeating the case with the authorities and came back with assistance. He was secured with great difficulty and sent to the asylum.—London Tit-Bits.

PEACE HOVERS OVER THE DAUGHTERS OF CONFEDERACY.
Los Angeles, Dec. 21.—After an 8-hour session, in which for a time there was much controversy and bitterness, the white-wings dove of peace settled down upon the called meeting of the State Division, Daughters of Confederacy, and the compromise ticket was elected unanimously.

"This closes a contest which has been waged since the annual meeting at San Francisco last October, at which the controversy over the election of officers and the voting of proxies created havoc. There are thirty-five votes in the division, but at the San Francisco meeting two of the presidents of local chapters were ill. When it came to a vote there was a tie—16 to 16—for two tickets in the field, one of which was headed by Mrs. S. M. Van Wyck and the other by Mrs. Victor Montgomery.

Grows Gentle.
"How do you like Tipton?" "He seems cool and reserved." "He does at first, but he soon thaws. After you have met him a few times he will come up and slap you on the back and ask you for a dollar, just as cordial as can be."—Kansas City Journal.

CARELESS HUNTERS.
Stockton, Oct. 5.—Mrs. John Dasso was struck in the neck by a 32-caliber rifle bullet as she sat at supper with her family on the porch of her San Antonio home. The shot was fired by boys hunting. The injured woman's husband hatched up a team and drove with her wife to this city, a distance of fifty miles, arriving at 5 o'clock in the morning. She was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital. The physicians are now operating to extract the bullet. Mrs. Dasso will probably recover.

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS.
Stockton, October 5.—Thomas Gardinere, convicted of wronging Estelle Dewey, was sentenced to 25 years in Polson prison. Under promise of marriage Gardinere, who already had a wife, having married a woman of the half-way, induced the girl, who is but 12 years of age, to leave her home in the southwest part of this county.

WRONGED HUSBAND TAKES LAW INTO OWN HAND.

Portland, Ore., Dec. 28.—Attorney failing to induce the district attorney to issue a warrant for the arrest of the man whom he alleged had alienated his wife's affections, David G. Van Houten, a farmer, went to the Northern Pacific saloon last night and, without warning, shot Albert Young, one of the proprietors, who died three hours later from the effects of the wound. Van Houten escaped and has not been captured.

Last evening Van Houten went to the district attorney with what he considered incriminating evidence against Young and Mrs. Van Houten and wished a warrant issued for their arrest. He was told by the district attorney that the evidence was not sufficient and left the office with the threat that he intended to take the law into his own hands.

Two bystanders endeavored to grasp the gun in the short interval of time after he entered the saloon and the firing of the fatal shot, but were unsuccessful.

FEUD ENDS IN MURDER

TROUBLE BETWEEN RANCHERS RESULTS IN TRAGEDY.
Globe, Ariz., Dec. 27.—News has just reached here of the murder of two sheepmen near the Gisela Settlement, eighty miles north of Globe. The victims are a young man named Berry and a Mexican. The crime occurred at Brush Hollow, in the Tonto Basin, the scene of the famous Graham-Tewksbury feud, between sheepmen and cattlemen.

Young Berry started to drive his father's herd sheep to the Salt River valley for the winter. He had with him an old Mexican and his son. On December 22nd, while camped near the Gisela Settlement, two men rode to the camp, according to the old Mexican's story, while he was some distance away, and shot Berry and the younger Mexican. The old man arrived at the camp a few minutes later, and found both shot through the body.

NEW RECORD FOR COTTON.
New York, Dec. 28.—New high record prices were made amid the greatest excitement at the opening of the cotton exchange. First prices were at an advance of 23 to 25 points. Before the call was fairly completed March had sold at 14 1/2 cents, May at 14 1/2 cents and July 14 1/2 cents.

TOLSTOI NOT A SOCIALIST.
The Hague, Dec. 28.—William J. Bryan has arrived here from Berlin and visited the foreign minister. Bryan is enjoying his tour. He said he found Count Tolstoi looking well though very aged. Tolstoi's first question was, "Are you a socialist?"

When assured to the contrary the count said: "I am very glad to hear it. I am not a socialist myself."

TRANSLATOR DEAD.
Washington, Dec. 28.—Colonel Henry L. Thomas, for thirty-four years translator in the state department, died of pneumonia, aged 68 years. He spoke and translated French, Spanish, Italian, German, Norwegian, Danish, Dutch, Portuguese, Hebrew, Arabic and Greek, besides having a general knowledge of other tongues.

SEEKING ESCAPED MURDERER.
Helena, Mont., Dec. 28.—Three policemen from Calgary, N. W. T., are here looking for young Cashe, the condemned murderer who recently escaped from jail there. Shortly after he escaped he was seen at Lethbridge, but soon disappeared. The officers have again located him and believe they will have him in a short time.

The date set for his execution has passed, but that will not save him, as the court vacated the original order a day or two after he escaped and made another order remanding him to custody to await execution at a date to be fixed later.

PERISH IN THE FLAMES.
Orested Butte, Col., Dec. 28.—Chas. Ostrau, an eccentric character, aged about 55 years, and Joseph Bettler, a boy aged 10, living here, were burned to death in a cabin near Anthracite.

The cabin was the regular habitation of Ostrau, who cut timber for a coal mine. The little fellow, in company with his brother George, aged 14, was visiting Ostrau. The cabin caught fire from some unknown cause, only the older boy being able to escape. He cannot give any explanation of the affair, as he was so excited. The bodies of the two victims were almost entirely consumed.

ON THE WARPATH.
Chicago, Dec. 28.—A dispatch to the Tribune from Hermosillo, Mex., says: "The Seri Indians, who occupy Tiburion Island, in the Gulf of California, have gone on the warpath and, according to information received by the military authorities here, the savages are raiding the ranchos and committing depredations on the mainland. The Seris are said to be cannibals and are known to be the fleetest runners in the world."

TUGS RELEASED.
Cleveland, O., Dec. 28.—Two tugs which were imprisoned in heavy ice two miles from shore in Lake Erie with twelve men, have been released. The powerful harbor tug Frank W. after many hours of ramming against the thick ice, finally cut a channel through to the boats and brought them safely into port.

"I was much afflicted with scalding," writes Ed. C. Nud, Louisville, Sedgewick Co., Kan., "going about on crutches and suffering from neuralgia. I was induced to try Ballard's Snow Liniment, which relieved me. I used three 50c bottles. It is the greatest relief I ever used, having recommended it to a number of persons; all express themselves as being benefited by it. I now walk without crutches, able to perform great deals of light labor on my farm." 25c, 50c and $1.00. Dr. J. Hinkle, Central Point, Ore.
