A VETERAN'S STORY

ESCAPED WAR'S PERILS AND FELL A VICTIM TO THE GRIP.

The influenza left his blood so thin that Anemia Resulted—Cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

In the employ of the American Bridge Company, at Pittsburg, is a man whose life story is a thrilling one. For three years during the great Civil war he served his country as a member of Company E, Sixty-third Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry, and then completed his war service in the Seventh Connecticut. The man is Mr. James A. Clowes, of No. 319 Forty-fourth street, Pittsburg, Pa., and he tells in his own way how he escaped a greater danger than he faced on the field of battle. He says:

"An attack of the grip in 1898 left me in a low state of health and in a short time I found that I was a victim of anemia. Any exertion tired me and made me short of breath. My heart would stop beating at times. I was nervous and weak, had no desire to eat and there was constant pain in the small of my back. My kidneys, liver and stomach became affected and I was about as miserable as a man can be.

"One day I saw Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People mentioned in the paper and concluded to see what they would do for me. The first box helped me and seven boxes cured me entirely, making me strong and energetic again and in as good health as before my sickness. My son and his wife and many of my other relatives have also used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills with the best results and we all recommend them on every possible occasion."

Hundreds of Civil war veterans, both Union and Confederate, whose health was weakened by hardships in the army, and as well as hundreds of others run down by overwork, worry or excesses of some sort owe their lives and happiness to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. Acting directly on the blood and nerves these pills have cured many stubborn cases of nervousness, partial paralysis, locomotor ataxia, St. Vitus' dance, rheumatism, sciatica and all forms of weakness whether in male or female. Sold by all dealers in medicines, or sent postpaid fifty cents per box, six boxes for two dollars and fifty cents, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

ADMIRAL ALEXEIEFF continues to insist that the Japanese took unlawful advantage of him by attacking Port Arthur before war was declared and before there was any reason to anticipate hostilities, and sustained the demerit, which has the legal effect of ruling the felon out of court thus leaving the way open for Mrs. Luebeck to enter the courts at any time and obtain a divorce, for the defendant's answer has not only fallen to the ground, but he is a felon occupying a penal cell and is virtually dead, as far as his legal standing is concerned.

Spring Humors

Come to most people and cause many troubles—pimples, boils and other eruptions, besides loss of appetite, that tired feeling, fits of biliousness, indigestion and headache.

The sooner one gets rid of them the better, and the way to get rid of them and to build up the system that has suffered from them is to take

Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills

Scorfula Salt Rheum
Scald Head Boils, Pimples

PROFESSOR CHARLES F. GAYLEY is the head of the department of English at the University of California. The professor understands his business, very likely, but he has evidently neglected to assimilate what little man is permitted to know about girls. Recently his poetry class of 100 demure co-ed's refused to take the professor seriously. Possibly his tie failed to conform to the color scheme of his general make-up, or perhaps the maidens simply felt like giggling. At any rate they did giggle over their lines, and this is what they heard from Professor Gayley: "If God Almighty or the Angel Gabriel should write a poem it would not interest you. You are nothing but a class of giggling girls." The wrathful professor then strode out of the class room and left the class still giggling, in all probability. They will doubtless giggle when he returns.

LIQUID CREAM BALM is becoming quite as popular in many localities as Ely's Cream is so well known. It is prepared for use in atomizers, and is highly prized by those who have been accustomed to call upon physicians for such treatment. Many physicians are using and prescribing it. All the medicinal properties of the celebrated Cream Balm, which is 75 cts., including a spraying tube. All druggists, or by mail, Ely Brothers, 56 Warren St., New York.

A reward of $100 has been offered for the capture of Joshua Greffield, the self-styled apostle of the "Holy Rollers." He is wanted in Portland on several different charges of adultery, preferred by former adherents of the "apostle." Most of the reward was subscribed by ex-members of the "Holy Rollers" in Corvallis. Greffield fled from Portland as soon as he learned of the charges filed against him and came to Corvallis, hoping to find shelter. His temerity in returning there after having been arrested and feathered and sent out of town aroused the citizens to a pitch of indignation. Greffield became alarmed and hid himself in houses in which there was a probability of his being concealed were searched without avail, and now parties are hunting for him in the woods and elsewhere.

Home Seekers Galore.

The vanguard of the immense army of homeseekers which was expected to invade Oregon this year has arrived.

The colonist rate of $25 to the Pacific Northwest from Missouri River points, which took effect March 1st, will have a beneficial effect on all sections of Oregon. This is the one-way rate for those who come to stay, and the homeseekers' rate for the round trip will be put into effect in a short time. Those of the Middle West who are battling with un congenial elements—heat and cold in their respective seasons—will surely find Southern Oregon a comparative climate paradise. Farms can be bought here for from $25 to $100 per acre, and in many cases for even less, where there is no failure of crops, where there is absolute absence of blizzards, drouths and other agencies which tend to make the farmer's lot an unenviable one. Many men have visited this state tentatively and have gone East convinced of the wonderful productiveness of this empire, intending to return with their families and establish permanent homes. Thus will the population of the state be increased, thereby bringing thousands of dollars more to the wealth of the community, which even now is assuming proportions. Every commercial center will be benefited, and boards of trade and commercial clubs should extend a welcoming hand to all newcomers who seek their hospitality.

By sustaining a demerit to the answer Judge Cleland of Multnomah County removed the last apparent legal barrier to the right of Mrs. Sophie Luebeck to procure a speedy divorce from her husband, Theodore J. Luebeck, who is occupying a cell at Salem on a life sentence for the crime of murder. He formerly lived at Lake Creek this county.

Gets Her Divorce.

By sustaining a demerit to the answer Judge Cleland of Multnomah County removed the last apparent legal barrier to the right of Mrs. Sophie Luebeck to procure a speedy divorce from her husband, Theodore J. Luebeck, who is occupying a cell at Salem on a life sentence for the crime of murder. He formerly lived at Lake Creek this county.

Judge Cleland held that the defense pleaded in the answer that the action had not been commenced within one year after the incarceration of the defendant and further the plea of condonation did not constitute valid legal defense, and sustained the demerit, which has the legal effect of ruling the felon out of court thus leaving the way open for Mrs. Luebeck to enter the courts at any time and obtain a divorce, for the defendant's answer has not only fallen to the ground, but he is a felon occupying a penal cell and is virtually dead, as far as his legal standing is concerned.

An Unsuccessful Search.

A large party left Medford early Saturday morning to renew the search for Gabe Plymale, who mysteriously disappeared about two weeks ago. It was reinforced by the employees of the Sterling Mining Co., which swelled the number of searchers to about 40.

The greater portion of the day was industriously spent in searching for the missing man, but not a trace of him was discovered. There seems to be little doubt that he is dead, but in what manner he met with his fate can only be conjectured, for there is not even a clue.

Some are inclined to think that he has been fully dealt with and suspicion one of the prospectors with whom he left Medford. There is nothing to warrant making an arrest, however.

She Got a Judgment.

Nina Robinson, a former resident of this county, whose parents live in Foothills Creek precinct, has been successful in her suit for breach of promise against R. T. Walton, mayor of Med Bluff, Calif.

The case was tried in the superior court for Tehama county, last week, and the jury brought in a verdict for $1000 and costs.

Walton, like all fellows of his kind, will try to evade the payment of this judgment. He will appeal to the supreme court instead of settling like a man.

Mrs. Robinson is of a sensational turn, some time ago leaving Redding in her nightgown and creating the impression that she had committed suicide, because of unrequited love.

Catarrh and Hay Fever.

Liquid Cream Balm is becoming quite as popular in many localities as Ely's Cream is so well known. It is prepared for use in atomizers, and is highly prized by those who have been accustomed to call upon physicians for such treatment. Many physicians are using and prescribing it. All the medicinal properties of the celebrated Cream Balm, which is 75 cts., including a spraying tube. All druggists, or by mail, Ely Brothers, 56 Warren St., New York.

After a "Holy Roller."

A reward of $100 has been offered for the capture of Joshua Greffield, the self-styled apostle of the "Holy Rollers." He is wanted in Portland on several different charges of adultery, preferred by former adherents of the "apostle." Most of the reward was subscribed by ex-members of the "Holy Rollers" in Corvallis. Greffield fled from Portland as soon as he learned of the charges filed against him and came to Corvallis, hoping to find shelter. His temerity in returning there after having been arrested and feathered and sent out of town aroused the citizens to a pitch of indignation. Greffield became alarmed and hid himself in houses in which there was a probability of his being concealed were searched without avail, and now parties are hunting for him in the woods and elsewhere.

Mrs. Lewis, widow of the late John Lewis of Eagle Point, died in the insane asylum at Salem, to which she had been committed a short time ago.

Jos. Taylor & Sons of Orchard Home have petitioned the County Court to vacate certain streets in the tract. The matter comes up next week.

More than four inches of rain has fallen during the month of March; and the end is not yet. This is double the usual average for the month.

Home Davenport, the great cartoonist, will lecture at Ashland next Monday evening, under the auspices of the Southern Oregon Chautauqua association.

Three thousand dollars will be appropriated at this session of Congress for the improvement of Crater Lake National Park. This is a ridiculously small sum, but it will probably be increased every year.

F. W. Driederichs, who is at Grants Pass, will be in Medford soon with his stallion "Nogaro," a thoroughbred Percheron stallion imported from France in 1892. He is a handsome gray, of fine form and action, and has no superior in the state.

Jas. O. Taylor of Gall's Creek operated on for appendicitis, died at the Medford Hospital Saturday, aged 161 years. He was a promising youth, whose death is regretted by all who knew him. The remains were buried in the Rock Point cemetery Monday.

A bogus telegram was lately posted at Lakeview, stating that Russia had declared war against the United States. A volunteer company was organized before it was discovered that the dispatch was a fake, and the air in that city is redundant with cursing.

Ed. Swan of Yreka has sold the well-known trotter, Volo, who was driven in 2:20 by Wm. Clark, to a gentleman living in Oakland, Calif., for $1,000. The horse was raised by G. W. Kahler of Jacksonville, and is by Ante—Echo, dam by Tybalt.

There will be an Easter service at the Presbyterian church in Ashland will be especially attractive. A chorus of 32 voices, under the leadership of Dr. R. T. Burnett, is practicing therefore, and will be assisted by Mrs. J. S. Parson as organist, O. O. Helman violin, Fred Knott saxophone, Eugene Berry trombone.

The Republicans of Jackson county will hold primaries next Saturday, to elect delegates to the county convention which will be held at Ashland April 9th for the purpose of selecting delegates to the state and congressional conventions. Some of the precincts will also elect delegates to attend the convention which will be held at Gold Hill May 6th, for the purpose of nominating candidates for county offices.

F. B. Inlow, one of the pioneers of Southern Oregon, died at the residence of his son, Fred Inlow of Trail Creek, March 15th. For a number of years he conducted a store at Eagle Point, and he was engaged in different enterprises during his long residence in Jackson county. Mr. Inlow was a good citizen, upright and kind, and many there who are who will be pained to hear of his death. A widow and several grown children survive him.

It may be interesting to some, who have slipped in "just a few words" of writing in a package of paper or merchandise mailed at the lower rates to their friends, that the abuse has become so common that postmasters have been instructed to examine such packages and report, if writing is found, to the department officials. The next he knows will be a visit from a deputy United States marshal with a warrant of arrest, the result being a fine of $25 and the cost of action.

Joe DeGuire of Ashland was again in trouble, closely following his conviction for conducting a "blind pig." Officers Good and Eglin raided his place a few nights ago and found a stud pig game in progress, De Guire dealing. Information was not filed against him at once, as the officers entertained the thought of letting the grand jury handle the case. This idea was abandoned, however, and De Guire pleaded guilty. A fine of $20 was then imposed, says the Tribune.

Mary Osborn Douthett of Portland is touring Southern Oregon in search of historical matter pertaining to the life-work and experiences of the pioneer women of the Northwest, also for the family history of early residents and school and local write-ups, that are to be embodied in a book entitled "The Souvenir," which will be on sale at the Lewis and Clark Centennial as a souvenir of the West. Miss Douthett is offering a prize to those who have received their education in the Northwest, for a design to illustrate the cover of this work, seven by ten inches in size, to be submitted by Sept. 1, 1904. Address: 511 Morrison Street, Portland, Ore.

So general has become the practice among entertainers of swearing on the stage that one never knows what he will have to put up with when he goes to the theatre. It is time the practice was stopped. There is a considerable of a respectable element which objects seriously to this persistent insulting of woman, and, while respectable people do not applaud as vociferously as those of the rough class, performers should be required to respect their feelings. The so-called actor who comes upon the stage and falls to "get a hand" with legitimate lines immediately attempts vulgarity, and is promptly applauded by those to whom such stuff appeals. It is a villainous practice and should no longer be countenanced.

Given Health, Vigor and Tone.

Herbette is a boon for sufferers from anemia. By its use the blood is quickly regenerated and the color becomes normal. The drooping strength is revived. The languor disappears. Health, vigor and tone predominate. New life and happy activity results. Mrs. Belle H. Shirel, Middleborough, Ill., writes: "I have been troubled with liver complaint and poor blood, and have found nothing to benefit me like Herbette. I hope never to be without it. I have written that I had known of it in my husband's lifetime." 50c. Sold by Dr. J. Hinkle, Cent. Post, Ore.

A Tragic Death.

The news that a man had been found dead on the Ashland-Klamath Falls road caused considerable of a sensation, as it was at first supposed to be a case of foul play.

It proved to be Robert Hosten, a man about 60 years of age, who met with a lonely death in the Cascade mountains, sixteen miles east of Ashland, Thursday or Friday, while traveling a foot, with a small bundle, en route from Klamath Falls to Portland. His body was found, Saturday morning, by R. O. Eddy, who carries the mail tri-weekly from Shake to Soda Springs. It was lying in the road on top of two or three feet of snow, face downward and resting upon the arm.

By order of Coroner Pickel the body was brought to Ashland, horseback, by C. C. Stock, where it is being held to await instructions from the deceased man's brother, who lives at Dairy, Klamath county. No inquest was deemed necessary.

He is Sadder but Wiser.

One of those unsophisticated individuals who is soon parted with his money came to grief a few days ago. His name is Noley, and at Sisson, Calif., he loaned a woman well known in these parts, whose parents reside on Applegate, $60 with which to rent a house.

The female at once levanted for Medford, accompanied by one McCormick, who claims to be her husband. Noley followed them hither, to recover his money, and when he asked the woman for it he was struck hard in the face by her consort.

Chief of Police McCoy appeared on the scene and arrested McCormick. He was interviewed next morning by Recorder Toft, who fined him $20, which was paid with Noley's money. The McCormicks have since gone to Applegate, to visit the woman's relatives, while their victim has returned to Sisson, a much wiser man.

Geo. M. Cornwell, the genial publisher of the Oregon Timberman, was down from Portland last week. Southern Oregon will be represented in the next issue of his valuable journal.

Placer Miners in Clover.

The heavy rains have been of great service to the surface miners in Southern Oregon, and operations in the placers have been carried on as never before. Every little dry gulch has been full of water, and ground-slicing propositions that have been idle for years were operated on full time the past two months. All of these placers are rich, as they are ground that is ordinarily out of reach of any other means of working, and their operation this season will add materially to this section's output of gold. All of the big hydraulic mines have had more water than they could use, run night and day, and will continue to do so till late in the summer.
