tional domestic councils it would dis franchise every New England State, New York, Ohio, Michigan, Iowa, and Wisconsin, in 1880, for the reason that not one of them cast an electoral vote for President Buchanan in 1856.

The system is against all precedent in Oregon; it is fruitful with discord to the democracy. It is therefore clearly the duty of every National Democrat in Oregon to oppose its consummation, and to disregard the call made under it. This we pledge ourselves to do, by

But, fellow-citizens, it is not enough that we rise in opposition to these wrongs sought to be put upon us, and that we shall merely assert our rights as freemen, and as democrats. The elements of this growing centralizing power are still in our midst. With both fear and sorrow have we witnessed the tyranny which has been exereised by this faction—the persistency with which they have urged their designs toward supreme control-and the tenacity which has marked the grasp of that already so insiduously obtained, during our residence at Salem as your Representatives. It is because we have seen these evils perpetrated that we deem it of pressing, paramount importance to address you before we depart for our respective homes. We would be recreant to party fealty, recreant to our distinctive constituancies, and to every principle of representative or individual duty, were we to conceal these facts from utterance. It rests with you, fellow-citizens-Democrats of Oregon to redress these great wrongs, and to re-establish among us the practical benefits which democratic doctrines and received democratic usages must ever endow a country with. Proscription is antagonistic to our faith; it cannot be made conformable to proper party rule. It is alike the effspring and instrument of Federalism, unfit for democratic application under any exigency whatever. It strikes at the liberty of conscience: the freedom of speech and action. Let it never dominate in Oregon, to taint our party parity—to corrupt its administration.

And with its abolition, it is the duty of every good democrat to see that none who might desire its restoration be clad with the power to accomplish so dire an object.

We hope fervently that this appeal to our democratic brethren will be as fervently received and endorsed. We feel assured it will be. For it is only by the means herein proposed, that harmony and unity of action can de restored in the democratic masses of Oregon. It is our chiefest wish to see this gratifying result brought about, and we will ardently, manfully labor to achieve it. Believing that our suggestions will receive almost universal approbation, we now append the measures proposed, by which this harmony and unity can be obtained. This is, according to the established apportionment, (before the innovation,) and by elections of Delegates upon established democratic

We respectfully suggest that the democracy in each county shall disregard the call of the Central Committee, and will hold their precinct meetings and county conventions in the accustomed manner. Let the Delegates to the State Convention be chosen agreeably to the previously received apportionment, so that no injustice will be done to any. After consultation with democrats from every portion of Ore-gon, the undersigned have deemed it advisable that the State Convention should be held on the 8th day of April, 1858, at EUGENE CITY. The county conventions will, therefore, please to hold their meetings in accordance with this. The following is in conformity with the apportionment last sanctioned by the demogracy;

Marion 7; Washington 3; Linn 6; Wasco 1; Lane 6; Cistsop 1; Benton 4; Columbia 1; Tillamook 1; Josephine 2; Polk 4; Jackson 4; Curry 1; Yamhill 4; Clackamas 5; Multnomah 4; Coos 1; Umpqua 2; Douglas 4. Total, 61.
