BY
OLIVER J. EVANS.

THIS well known stand, situated fifteen miles from Kerbyville, and thirty-four from Jacksonville, has been erected, suitable to accommodate the Travelling Public. It is always pleasing to the host and hostess to make their guests as comfortable as possible.

The Table
furnished with all the country articles, Good Snaffles, well supplied with and Grain.

Having carefully calculated that those who will not take or stop early in particular of the hospitality of the company.

EAGLE HOTEL,
Kerbyville, Oregon.

THE SUBSCRIBER HAVING ERECTED a large addition to his well known stand situated in the town of Kerbyville, on the market affords.

PROSPECT RANCH!
Applegate Creek, O. T.

THE undersigned wishes to inform his friends and the traveling public that, having improved the above Ranch, (half-way between Kerbyville and Jacksonville, formerly known as Berkeley's ranch), and made arrangements with a family to take charge of the house, he is now prepared to accommodate all who may patronize him, in the very best style.

THE TABLE
Will at all times be supplied with the best market affords; and combined with good

Stabling, Hay and Grain, and a careful hostler in attendance, he hopes to merit a share of public patronage.

HUGH HEAPS,
Proprietor.

THE ABSENT MOTHER.

BY MRS. NORTON.

It is the twilight hour,
The daylight toil is done,
And the last rays are departing Of the cold and wintry sun.
It is the time when friendship Holds converse fair and free, It is the time when children Dance round the mother's knee.

But my soul is faint and heavy,
With a yearning sad and deep;
By the fire-side long and dreary I sit me down and weep!

Where are ye merry voices, Whose clear and birdlike tone Some other ear now blesses Less anxious than mine own?

Where are ye, steps of lightness, Which fell like blossom-showers?
Where are ye, sounds of laughter, That cheered the pleasant hours?

Through the dim light slow declining, Where my wistful glances fall, I can see your pictures hanging Against the silent wall.

They gleam athwart the darkness With their sweet and changeless eyes, But mute are ye, my children, No voice to mine replies.

Where are ye? Are ye playing By the stranger's blinding hearth; Forgetting in your gladness Your old home's former mirth?

Are ye dancing? Are ye singing?
Are ye full of childish glee?
Or do your light hearts wander With the memory of me?

Round whom, O gentle daughters, Do your young arms fondly twine?
Does she press you to her bosom, Who hath taken you from mine?

Oh, boys, the twilight hour Such a heavy time hath grown—It recalls with such deep sighs, All I used to call my joys—That the hardest work that ever Was spoken to me there, Would be trivial—would be welcome In this depth of my despair.

Yet no! I despair shall sink out, While life and love remain; Though the weary singing hours And my prayer be made in vain, Though at times my spirit feel
And the bitter loneliness Which my soul is ever in,
Yet I love—I love!

WILLIAM

was set a thinking, and he had a little paragraph in the paper, which told the story of a young man who had come to the city.

There were a happy and contented young man who had come to the city, and they had been together on the "long path" together. We could not help wondering whether they would remain in the beautiful end; whether they would find it enough and pleasant, or might and difficult; whether they would be cheered by sunshine and flowers, and birds and all these lovely and innocent, or whether dark clouds would cover them, and the grief shadows of sorrow and the desert would then on their journey—down almost so often without a rest. We wondered whether half a century hence, when all the hill-side valleys and streams of California shall be managed with busy life—when organized labor and capital, working in conjunction with science, shall have filled our State with a high and energetic civilization—when the desert hills shall be traversed by the arteries of commerce—when the human voice shall be its own telegraph across the continent—was wondered whether then this young couple would be able to draw their children and grand-children, and nephews and nieces together, and beneath their own "vine and fig tree" have a second "old-fashioned" family—mistakenly called a "wedding." Could they still find it mysterious and exhibit a secret like the spirit of the future, who would not say?

There is a beautiful line connected with "golden wedding," and the old man beautiful in this favored and thought which ex-pounds, and grows fiercer and brighter, until it does away with the weary repetition of social convention—of the large majority of the law-of hearts torn and bleeding—of brains wasted and desolate. The population is composed mostly of the young—of those who are in the bloom of existence—also live in promise and in hope. Will any of a live to witness or to celebrate a "golden wedding"? Will it come?
—S. F. Smith of the West.

FIRST FAMILIES OF VIRGINIA.—The origin of the term the "Old Family of Virginia," is thus explained by an exchange.

In the early settlement of that State it was found impossible to procure it unless women went there. A single ship had been sent out, but so poor was she, she was obliged to start one of them until she had paid out hundred pounds of tobacco for her passage. When the second ship was sent out she could pay more than seventy dollars for the maintenance privilege, and it was a very common thing to see the descendants of all those who were brought on this first voyage, and the reason why no one can ever get any of the second settlement is because you can't get a Virginia to plant that his mother only brought twenty-five pounds of tobacco.

EXTRAORDINARY LEGACY.—The Mayor (Mr. Union) has just received a legacy of $100,000, the largest sum ever bequeathed to any individual in the city.

She perfectly refused her husband's offer within two years her husband had died enough to make her in the city of readily as any man in the city of on Cape Cod in the city of the Union was the only one in the of Independence in the city of eight years ago. She Thomas Jefferson, signed that instrument, which would have trampled on the rights of the a lie.

A big crowd is expected to see the New Boston in the city of reach between 11 and 12 o'clock.

KEEP THE STAFF IN YOUR OWN HANDS.

There was living at Harlem an old man who related the following story of himself. He was possessed of a good farm, with servants and everything which they are using, we will tell them a few facts about salt. Salt is a chemical compound of twenty-three parts by weight of a beautifully silver white but soft metal, called sodium, discovered by Sir H. Davy in 1807, and thirty-five parts of a pungent, yellowish green gas, called chlorine, discovered by Schwede in 1774—these two combined form the most widely diffused and useful of any compound in the world. It is found in principal supplies comes. The most wonderful deposits are in Poland and Hungary, where it is quarried like a rock, one of the Polish mines having been worked since 1251. These Polish salt mines have heard the groan of many a poor captive, and have seen the last agonies of many a brave man, for until lately they were worked entirely by the state prisoners of Austria, Russia or Poland, whichever happened to be in power at the time; and once the offender, of lancid humors to some other person's advantage, was let down into this subterranean prison, he never saw the light of day again—So salt has its history as well as science. Other good deposits are found in Cheshire, England, where the water is forced down by pipes into the salt, and is again pumped up as brine, which is evaporated and the salt obtained. To such an extent has this been carried, that one town in the "salt county," as it is called, has scarcely an upright house in it, all the foundations having sunk with the ground, to fill up the cavity left by the extracted salt.

In Virginia, there are beds of salt, and the salt, and is again pumped up as brine, which is evaporated and the salt obtained. To such an extent has this been carried, that one
town in the "salt county," as it is called, has scarcely an upright house in it, all the foundations having sunk with the ground, to fill up the cavity left by the extracted salt.

His friend could not help him to get his farm back again, he should be obliged to come and live with him, and he would follow his direction, he would not get his estate again. "Take this box of dollars, carry it in the room at your own risk, it will be your risk, and about the way they say down inclined, as the danger is to all your dollars, but correct on the table in the middle of the room. When they call you, make a noise with them by sweeping your feet the way again.

The ball took immediate effect. The wife sped out of the kitchen, and the dollars spread out on the table, and he had found. When the old man saw the dollars, he looked on the table in the middle of the kitchen, and he had his own money again.

The old man related to his friend what he had done, and he was very much

THE SALT, IF YOU PLEASE.

Everybody has a partiality for dinner, and one of the most frequent expressions at a dinner table is the one which forms our caption, and in order that our readers may know something of the substance they are using, we will
