The Popular Creed.

Dimes and dollars! dollars and dimes!
An empty pocket 's the worst of crimes!
If a man is down give him a thrust—
Trample the beggar into the dust!
Presumptuous poverty 's quite appalling—
Knock him over! kick him for falling!
If a man is up, oh, lift him higher!
Your soul 's for sale, and he's the buyer!
Dimes and dollars! dollars and dimes!
An empty pocket 's the worst of crimes!

Reversing the Figures.

Maria, just at twenty, swore,
That no man less than six feet four
Should be chosen her one.
At thirty she is glad to fix
A spouse exactly four feet six,
As better far than none.

WHEAT AFTER CORN WITHOUT PLOWING.—Mr. C. M. Kees, Calhoun county, Michigan, writing to the Agriculturalist, gives the following account of a method lately followed by him in sowing winter wheat, which he says is becoming quite common in that section. The ground is plowed deeply and thoroughly in the Spring for the crop. This is scarcely tilled throughout the summer, principally with the cultivator, and occasional plowing and hoeing being also given, if necessary, to keep the weeds down. When the time arrives for sowing the wheat, if the corn is ripe enough and help plenty, three or four rows are cut up, the stalks set on one side, and the strip thus cleared sowed and harrowed in. The stalks are then set back upon the open space, and another "land" cleared, the stalks being put on the land already sowed, and so on until the field is finished. If the corn is not fit to cut, or help is scarce, the wheat is put in with the cultivator, going twice in a row each way. One man will sow as fast as two can cultivate it in. About two bushels of seed to the acre are used. Mr. K. says the average yield is not quite so large, but the labor involved is much less.

This method may be expedient in rare cases, but is hardly commended for general introduction. The more mellow and thoroughly prepared the seed bed, the better will be the yield. The space left where the rows of corn stood will be infested with weeds which will grow up with the corn the following spring.

AMALGAMATING WITH HOT MERCURY.—The New York Architects' and Mechanics' Journal, for October, says:

The latest improvement in the extraction of gold from quartz and other rock is the application of an active heat to the mercury sufficient to keep it violently agitated, while the water and gold is passing or circulating over it.—The process was patented only a few weeks ago, and has been tested at a mine in Virginia, found to give such results as at once to establish its superiority over the old mode of agitating by mechanical means alone. There is now in construction at the Novelty Works, in this city, a set of machinery for immediate shipment to California, designed on the new principle. The water and other material being heated is found to greatly facilitate the union of the golden particles with the mercury when heated is found to distribute itself in small particles, so as to present a much larger surface than by any means heretofore known. The globules of mercury are also thrown up by the heat, and thus becomes traveling agents for catching the particles of gold suspended in water.

NEW HORSE-SHOE.—The Scientific American speaks of a new invention for horse-shoeing, designed to obviate the continual driving of nails in the hoof, by which great injury is sometimes inflicted upon valuable horses by unskillful workmen. A groove is made in the underside of the common shoe, into which is fastened a piece of iron of the same width and shape as the groove, only thicker and slightly curved upwards, the junction forming a complete dovetail. The advantage of the inner shoe is, that it is made to project beyond the ordinary shoe, and when worn down can easily be removed and replaced by another without pulling off the shoe from the horse's hoof.

HOW TO PRESERVE FENCE POSTS.—Of the many methods of preserving fence posts from decay, none is perhaps more simple and cheap than the one of soaking them in vitrol. At a recent meeting of the Farmers' Club in Hudson, N. Y., one of the members exhibited a post which, previous to being placed in the ground, had been soaked in a solution of blue vitrol, one pound of vitrol being used to twenty quarts of water. The post was pine, and when taken up was sound as when first put down, eight years since. This solution is good for all kinds of timber exposed to the weather: spouts, shingles, bean poles, &c.

OILING HARNESS LEATHER.—Oils, when applied to dry leather, invariably injure it, and if to leather containing too much water, the oil cannot enter. Wet harness over night, cover it with a blanket, and in the morning it will be damp and supple; then apply neats-foot oil in small quantities, and with so much elbow grease as will insure its disseminating itself throughout the leather. A soft, pliant harness is easy to handle, and lasts longer than a neglect one. Never use vegetable oils on leather, and among the animal oils neats-foot is the best.—Scientific American.

ANCIENT MULE.—Forbes, the waggish editor of the Sierra Democrat, got off the following good things:

Mules undoubtedly live to a highly respectable age. The Bible doesn't say anything about them, and there is no reliable account of their invention: but we saw one on Sunday last, branded on the left hip. "B. C."

A good one we heard the other day of a Californian on a visit to his friends in the East, after an absence of nine years. He was plied with many questions; and just as he swallowed his "night cap," same one asked him what kind of water there was in California. "Well, there," he said, "I thought some fellow might ask me that, and just before I left, I took a drink of it. The water is first-rate."

EQUIVOCAL COMPLIMENT.—The Boston Post says that an editor, who lived at a hotel, being absent one night, the landlord took the liberty of allowing a stranger to occupy his room. In the morning the ungrateful lodger left the following, written on the margin of one of the editor's newspapers:

I slept in an editor's bed last night,
And others may say what they please;
I say there's one editor in the world
That certainly takes his ease.

When I thought of my humble cot, away,
I could not repress a sigh;
But thought as I rolled in the feathery nest,
How easy do editors lie!

This is the golden age of the Jews in America. They number some 250,000, who still adhere to the faith of Abraham. They have 40,000 in New York alone. Two Senators and four Congressmen are of the Jewish faith which shows the ancient political talent of the race. The Christian Jews do not number more than 300 or 400, of whom 100 are studying for the ministry.

The State School at Ypsilanti, Michigan, with two libraries, furniture and laboratory, were consumed by fire on the night of the 28th of Oct. Loss 25,000; insurance, $10,000.

Roger A. Pryor has been elected to Congress in the Petersburg (Va.) District, by from 1,200 to 1,500 majority. His friends had a great jubilee over the result.

"The Orashun."

Here is a part of Artemas Ward's Fourth of July "Orashun:"

"Ime a Union man. I luv this Union from the Bottom of my Hart. I luv every hoop pool in Maine and every sheep ranche in Texas. The cow pasters of New Humpsher is as deer to A. Ward as the rice plantashuns of Mississippy. There is mean critters in both of them air States, and there is likewise good men and troo. It don't look very pretty for a lot of inflammetary individools, who never lifted their hands in defence of Ameriky, or ilid the fust thing towards skewerin our independence, to git their backs up and sware they'll dissolve the Union. Too much good blud was spilt in courtin and marryin that highly respectable female, the Goddess of Liberty, to git a divorce from her at this late day. The old gal behaved herself too well to cast her off now, at the request of a parsul of addle-brained men and wimin, who never did nobody no good and never will again. Ime sorry the picture of the Goddess never giv her no shoes or stockins, but the band of stars around her head must continue to shine briter so long as this Erth continues to revolve on her axle-tree.

To resoom—G. Washington was a clear-headed, warm-harted, brave and stiddy going man. He never SLOPT OVER! The prevailin weakness of most public men is to SLOP OVER! [Put them words in large letters.—A. W.] They Rush things. They travel too much on the high-presher principle. They git onto the popular hobby hoss, who trots along, not carin a cent whether the beest is even goin, clear sited and sound, or spavined blind and hawky. Of course they get throwed eventooally if not sooner. When they see the multitood goin it blind, they go Pel Mel with it insted of exertin themselves to set it right. They can't see that the croud which is now bearin them triumfantly on its shoulders will soon discover its Error, and cast them in the hoss pond of oblivyum, without the slightest hesitashun. Washington never S'opt Over. That wasn't George's stile. He luved his country deerly. He wasn't after the spiles. He was a human angil in a 3-cornered hat and nee britches, and we shan't see his like right away. My friends, we can't all be Washingtons, but we can all be patriots, and behave ourselves in a human and christian manner. When we see a brother goin down hill to Ruin, let us not give him a push, but let us seize right hold of his coat tails and drag him back to Morality.

MILLIONAIRES.—There lately died, at Bombay, a parsee merchant, Sir Jamsetjee Jejeebhoy, the first native of Hindostan who was elevated to the rank of baronet, an hereditary title, yet which does not belong to the British peerage, as many of our cotemporaries think. His will has been proved in the Supreme Court of Bombay, and the whole of his property, real and personal, was sworn under eighty-five lacs of rupees—£8,500,000, which amounts to $42,500,000 in American money. This is, perhaps, the largest fortune left by any British subject not a nobleman, but the Marquis of Westminster, who owns one half of the "West-end" of London, besides vast landed estates in the provinces, has an income of £800,000 per annum, which, taken at thirty years' purchase, might be capitalized at £240,000,000, which is equivalent to $1,200,000,000 of our money. The late Dwarkanauth Tagore, of Calcutta, who died of a broken heart some twelve years ago, because his fortune had dwindled down, in the commercial panic of 1847, to the amount of only ten millions dollars, was worth three times as much at one time, and commenced the world with only a few rupees.

There are several merchants and bankers in London who are respectively worth from one to four millions sterling. In Manchester, in the spring of 1850, six local bankers dined together at the Albion Hotel, on a particular day, and were said to represent between them, £12,000,000, equal to $60,000,000. These are the true money kings. With us, when a man is supposed to have $100,000, he immediately obtains the brevet title of Millionaire.—Philadelphia Press.

PROPOSED FAST TRAVELING.—The Sacramento Standard says that Mr. James Haworth, President of the California Stage Company, stated a few days ago that he was prepared to enter into a contract with the Government to run a daily Overland Mail between Sacramento and St. Louis for $1,000,000 per year, and would have the schedule time placed at fourteen days from city to city. He stated, in addition, that he would make the time in twelve days oftener than in fourteen, and that he would also contract to run a horse express between those two points, carrying letters by weight, and make the time regularly in six days between St. Louis and Sacramento. We are authorized by an intimate friend of Mr. Haworth to publish this statement. These are certainly startling assertions, but the motto of "never fail," which is characteristic of the man, and his entire reliability, entitle it to respectful consideration.

Captain W. tells an amusing occurrence witnessed by him last week on board his steamer, on her passage down.

An oldish and somewhat purblind gentleman, paring up and down the upper saloon, stopped in front of a large full length mirror, and, after gazing at the figure presented for a moment, inquired deliberately:

"Is—your—name—Brown?"

No reply. Question is again repeated, louder.

"Is—your—name—Brown?"

No reply. Question is again repeated, louder still:

"Is—your—name—BROWN?"

"Well, sir," said the questioner, "you are either no gentleman, or very deaf."

The saloon was in a roar.

THE ELECTORAL COLLEGE.—The slave holding States have 120 votes in the Electoral College. The non-slave holding States have 183. Total, 303; necessary to a choice, 152; As against any Black Republican Presidential candidate, of course every slave holding State may be relied upon for the Charleston nominee. Thirty-one votes are needed then from non slave holding States. Illinois, Indiana, California and Oregon, or Illinois, Indiana and New Jersey, or New York alone, (and she may go Democratic in any case, and is sure to if Seward is thrown overboard,) or Pennsylvania, with either Illinois, Indiana, New Jersey, or California, would be enough. —Sacramento Standard.

A RETORT DIRECT.—A clergymen from a neighboring town and one of his elderly parishioners were walking home from church one icy day last winter, when the old gentleman slipped and fell flat on his back. The minister looked at him a moment, and being assured that he was not hurt, said to him—"Friend, sinners stand on slippery places." The old gentleman looked up, as if to assure himself of the fact, and said, "I see they do; but I can't."

RACING.—A race came off on Saturday the 12th, over the Roseburg course, between "Black Hawk," entered by J. H. Richardson, and "Muckle John," entered by Leroy Whitmore, for $500 a side, which was won by "Black Hawk." Time, 2:14. Considerable betting was done. Both horses had monied friends to the last. It is estimated that about $3,000 changed hands.—Roseburg Express.

A surly bachelor remarks that the ladies' fashions for the ensuing season, show a persistent determination in the dear creatures to crawl out of their dresses through the upper part.

A boy was asked one day what made him so dirty, and his reply was "I am made, so they tell me, of the dust of the ground, and reckon it's just working out."

FARQUAR'S MEDICATED CALIFORNIA WINE & BRANDY

A DELICIOUS TONIC BITTER

JUICE OF THE GRAPE

MEDICATED WITH JUNIPER RHUBARB PERUVIAN BARK

FOR INVALIDS

THIS is simply the fermented juice, and the distilled juice of the California grape, judiciously medicated with Peruvian Bark, Turkey Rhubarb, Juniper Berries, and other vegetable remedial agents, skillfully combined, and in such minute and exact quantities as to constitute a small or Homeopathic dose of each remedy; which, when combined, form an innocent, harmless, yet active Tonic, Alterative, Anti-Dyspeptic, Diuretic, Anti-Febrile and Sedative Beverage, pleasant to the taste.

The Inventor, in calling the attention of the public (especially Californians, who know the excellence of the California Grape,) to these preparations, does so with feelings of pride and confidence; pride in proving the excellence of our native grape, and confidence in their remedial virtues, adapted for the following diseases: Dyspepsy, Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, Habitual Constipation, Acidity of the Stomach, Diseases of the Kidneys, General Debility of the Urinary Organs, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Fever and Ague Chills, Nervousness, Weakness, Debility, Dropsy of the Skin, or Want of Perspiration, Pains in the Stomach or Bowels, Colic, Dysentery, &c.

The Proprietor does not pretend that his Medicated California Wine and Brandy is a "wonder or a miracle." In medical science, but appeals to the common sense of the public, and he does not hesitate to avow, that he knows from experience that the medicines in this, although small in quantity, will often effect a cure in some of the diseases enumerated, when more violent and powerful remedies have failed in their object.

☞Those who drink Liquor early in the morning, or before breakfast, would find the Brandy act delightfully on the nerves and stomach, keeping the bowels regular, &c.

☞As a general Beverage it is pleasant to the taste, slightly exhilarating, perfectly harmless, and gives the weak and feeble a feeling of health and strength.

It has long been a most important desideratum in the practice of medicine, to obtain a remedy similar to this, and accordingly we find it resorted to almost universally in cases of Scrofula, Liver Diseases, Salt Rheum, General Prostration of the Vital Powers, and all those tormenting diseases of the skin so trying to the patience and injurious to the health. Although possessed of powerful healing properties, it is entirely harmless, and will not injure the most DELICATE CONSTITUTION.

When in perfect health, no effect is produced by its use, except an increase of appetite; but when disease is seated in the frame, and carrying off its victim along the path of life, then its mysterious influence is felt and seen; it enkindles new life and vigor, and brings health and strength to the suffering and diseased.

SCROFULOUS SORE EYES.

The following important testimony is from South Kingston, R. I. In this case the Sarsaparilla was recommended by the family Physician.

MESSRS. SANDS:—Gentlemen,—My little daughter, when one year old, was attacked with a scrofulous humor so bad for five weeks, which soon affected both her eyes, causing almost total blindness in one of them, and disfiguring her whole face. I employed two physicians to attend her, who exhausted their utmost skill to give her relief but it all proved useless, and finally one of them pronounced it one that he had known of some striking cures effected by Sands' Sarsaparilla, and advised me to try it. I obtained one bottle, which she commenced using, and before it was all used up it had effected an entire cure. It is now over four years since she was cured, and there has been no reappearance of the disease, and we are satisfied that it is a perfect cure.

Respectfully yours,
GEORGE ROBINSON.

CALIFORNIA & OREGON CONSUMERS OF BILLINGS HAMS!!

I DESIRE TO CALL PARTICULAR ATtention of consumers in California and Oregon, to the Label or Brand upon my Hams, which in all cases bears a "fac simile" of my signature, and in every respect the same label I have used for many years past.

The unrivalled reputation which my hams have long borne in the California market renders me exceedingly anxious that no hams packed by other persons should be mistaken for the well known and genuine and my present object is to ask consumers specially to distinguish my HAMS from some other Hams which I learn have this season been sent to California, on which the name of Billings has been placed with a label resembling mine in style and type.

Horace Billings' Hams,

My hams are cured under my own personal supervision, and their admitted excellence is owing to the great care used and of the peculiar preparation they undergo in curing, by which delicacy of flavor, preservation of the juices of the meat, and freedom from undue saltness are secured.

I confidently assure purchasers of my hams in California and Oregon that the CURE of 1859 will be found equal in all respects to any heretofore packed by me for those markets.

Horace Billings, PATENTEE,
Bucktown, Illinois.

N.B. All Barrels containing the Hams of this season's packing, in addition to the usual brand will bear the words in red paint, "Cure of 1859, Crosby & Dibble, Agents."
