CARSON VALLEY INDIAN WAR .- A COFFE spondent of the Sacramento Union, writing from Virginia City under date of June 8th. gives the following news : On the arrival of the troops at Pyramid

Lake from Pyramid, and retreated over the Poughest country ever seen, toward the Goose Mountains in the north. Colonel Hays, with three others, left in a scout and found their camp deserted, evidently in great haste. On the following morning (Wednesday), with about three hundred horse, he swam the Truckee with the troops, and took their trail. After some twenty-five miles travel through the most impregnable canons, and over the roughest mountains, he abandoned the chase and returned to camp. About twelve o'clock at night, a man named W. S. Allen, who was in advance as a spy, was killed by a party of some seven or eight Indians, and completely some seven or eight Indians, and compensive stripped of everything before the the balance of the party came up. The volunteers were to move back to Williams, leaving the regulars at Pyramid Lake. Captain Stewart had Rogue River, Jackson Co. THIS established stand, known also as JEWarrived here to day. Rumors became current that the volunteers had disbanded, but from what I can learn from private letters and other sources, the reports are premature. I understand that Colonel Hays intends to return with his command, disband, and reorganize with a smaller force.

How to Waren Plants.—As a rule, water with out-buildings. About the source of the so ority of cases, more harm than good. Plants apply, on the premises, to left to battle with drought send their roots down deep in the earth in search of moisture. March 31, 1860, 3m-11. down deep in the earth in search of moisture, and when rain does come, they benefit more by it than those that have regular watering all along. If the ground is dug deeply and kept in good earth, plants that have once got estabalong. If the ground is dug deeply and kept in good earth, plants that have once got established will bear drought for any length of time; but things lately planted, and that have not had time to get hold, must be kept supplied, or their beauty may vanish for half the season. Succellent vegetables, too, which ought to be kept growing quick, must have abundance, and, of course, plants in pots must have sufficient. There are two more important points to be attended to in giving water. One is to expose the water to the sun before using it, to render it soft and warm, and the using it, to render it soft and warm, and the other is to give a thorough scaking at once, sufficient to keep the ground moist a week. Supposing the supply to be limited, but regular, the best way of economizing both water and time is to take the garden, piece by piece. watering each piece thoroughly every evening, and then begin as at first.

Speaking of the love episode in Irving's career, Mr. Bryant says: He became attached to a young lady, whom he was to have married. She died unwedded, in the flower of her age. There was a sorrowful leave-taking be tween her and her lover, as the grave was tween her and her lover, as the grave was about to separate them on the eve of what should have been her bridal; and Irving ever after, to the close of his life, tenderly and faithfully cherished her memory. In one of the blographical notices published immediately after Irving's death, an old, well worn copy of the Bible is spoken of, which was kept lying on the table in his chamber, within reach of his bedside, bearing her name on the title page in a delicate female hand—a relie which we may presume to have been his constant companion. Those who are fond of scarching in the biographies of eminent men for the circumstances which determined the bent of their genius, find in this sad event, and the cloud it threw over the hopeful and cheerful period of early manhood, an explanation of the transition from the unbounded playfulness of the "History of New York" to the serious, tender and meditative vein of the "Sketch Book."

Sufferers with any Disease read my theory:

I HAVE found that most diseases prove faral;

that early deaths occur: that people live for years a living death, weak, inanimate and exhausted—not from the diseases itself, but from an inability in nature, and nature's strength to withstand or maintain life through the ravages of disease. Give them strength, and nature will relieve herself, if stimulated. She has given us herbs and plants to effect all this. Purify the blood, render the intestines, the liver, the heart, and all the matural functions of man or woman active, and you have half consuceed disease. active, and you have half conquered disease. Doctor JACOB WEBBER does conscientiously assure all who read this, that his SANGUIFIER, or. Invitionaring Company, produces all the effect above described. He has seen, the old, the tottering, the palsi of the nervous, the dypeptic the inebriate, the debauelees and the invalid. revive under its influences, as if new life wer

When every other remedy has falled; when you have been doctored near to death with Mercury, Sarsaparilla, and other popular defusions; when, from whatever cause, you become weak langu d and adling, then try the most blessed Herbabal Concection.

DR. JACOB WEBBER'S SANGUIPIER; or, Invigorating Cordial, causes strength—that is its main quality. The irst operation tonic; the partaker feels that sudation is caused—his skin is damp, his limbs supple and active, he feels a wish for exercise, and knows he has strength to endure it; he is light spirited; his skin becomes clear; his eyes, too, because his liver is made active, the bile neutralized or ejected, and his blood thinned and purified. If he has a foul stomach, this acts as an aperical, not otherwise. Again, it immedian an aperient, not otherwise. Again, it immediately relieves belching, prevents an accumulation of wind in the stomach. The stomach is the great receiver of disease and its cure. AND AS A GENERAL TONIC FOR THE SYSTEM, IT IS UNRIVALLED.

It has long been a most important desideratum for the practice of medicine, to obtain a remedy similar is this, and accordingly we find it resorted to almost universally in cases of Scrofila. Liver Diseases, Salt Bheum, General Prostration of the Vital Powers, and all those formenting diseases of the skin so trying to the patience and injurious to the health. Although possessed of powerful healing properties, it is entirely harmless, and will not injure the most DELICATE CONSTITUTION.

When in perfect health, no effect is produced by fine use, except an increase of appetite; but when disease is scated in the frame, and carrying fast its viction along the path of life, then its mysterious influence is felt and seen; it enkindles new life and vigot, and brings health and strength to the suffering and die SCROFULOUS SORE EYES.

The following important testimony is from South Kingston, R. I. In this case the Sarsaparilla was recommended by the family Physician. recommended by the family Physician.

Mesers, Saxne:—Gentlemen.—My little daughter, have one year old, was attacked with a serofulous humor on her face, which soon after extended into her eyes, cousing almost total blindness in one of them, and disfiguring her whole face. I employed two physicians to attend her, who exhausted their strongs tall to give her relief, but it all proved assies, and finally one of them remarked to me that he had known of some striking curse effected by Sanda Saraqurilla, and ody-sed me to try it. I obtained one bettle, which she commenced using, and before it was all used up it had effected an entire curre. It is now over four years since she was curred, and there has been no recappearance of the disease, and we are satisfied that it is a perfect cure.
