

Our Choice for President. The proceedings of the Democratic Conventions which met at Baltimore are known to us, and all who profess to be Democrats must, like ourselves, make their choice between the two tickets presented. When the news first reached us, our selection was made, and every moment of reflection since has confirmed us in the opinion then taken. We declare for JOHN C. BRECKENRIDGE, for President, and JOSEPH LANE, for Vice President. In accordance with this choice, we place the names of these two distinguished gentlemen at the head of our columns. At this early day, whilst all proceedings are necessarily withheld from us, because of the impossibility of present mail facilities to inform us thoroughly in regard to the detailed action of the two Conventions, we may be excused for not giving as complete reasons for selecting as we have, as we certainly would give under different circumstances. But we shall not hesitate to assign sufficient reasons, notwithstanding—leaving to a quick future day an unrecited and more explicit exposition of our sentiments upon this important subject.

The reports tell us that the so-called Regular Baltimore National Democratic Convention met at that city, pursuant to adjournment at Charleston, on the 18th June; that after five days ineffectual efforts towards cementing the discordant two great divisions, a greater exodus from the main body was made, because of the anti-Democratic sentiments adhered to by the majority division, and of their unbecoming proscription of the members of one portion of the Union. The delegates from the seceding States—from the North and South alike, or, more properly, from the Slave and Free States—submitted until patience ceased to be a virtue, and only at the last moment, when it would have been dishonorable to have taken any other course, they seceded, formed a separate organization, headed by the very gentleman chosen to preside over the Convention's deliberations at Charleston, and nominated another ticket. The platform is not yet announced to us in this remote corner of the Republic, but from the character and antecedents of the two candidates, we can very well judge what sort of a platform it is. We can rest assured that it is broadly National, according to each State and to each section of the Union the inalienable rights, the high immunities, and the equal privileges guaranteed to all the Commonwealths, and to every citizen who subscribes allegiance to the Constitution and Laws of the country.

A brighter fame, a more illustrious reputation for lofty patriotism, for devotion to the Constitution, for elevated statesmanship, has fallen to the lot of few men, than that which distinguishes the career of James C. McCall. Though comparatively young, he has already acquired a name among the proudest in the land, and has won, by his eminent services in his country's cause—both in the council and in the camp—the praises, the reverence, and the gratitude of the people. A trial man in all the elevated, embellishing paths of private and public life, his past career is best surety for his future excellence and eminent ability in the management of the Country's affairs, as Chief Magistrate. Unsullied by even the breath of calumny, gifted beyond his years, animated by the purest patriotism, there are none who hold rank above him, and very few who equal him in worth. He is the man for the times, for the great crisis we are plunged in, and we have scarcely a doubt of his success in the approaching vital contest.

Of the candidate for the Vice Presidency, we need say little. This State is his home—here he is best known. His record as a public man, every man, woman and youth, almost in Oregon, is acquainted with. There are none who surpass him in fealty to the Union, in integrity of character, in disposition to do only what is right. The position he is named for, is one of high importance; but the Presidency is at this juncture a momentous question to be decided by the People of the States. Upon the first office under the Government hangs the fate of the Union, and this fact should be prominently realized by every citizen.

By the reports of the proceedings which we publish elsewhere, it will be seen that Oregon and California stood shoulder to shoulder in the great struggle for right and equal privileges, against injustice and inequality. The whole body of delegates from these two Pacific States fraternally joined in the defense of the proscribed States from aggression, from whatever quarter it came, and stood nobly to the last in protection of the sovereign immunities of each and every Commonwealth and Territory. They went with neither the North nor the South, the East nor the West, but purely and only for the Union as it is. Removed, as the people of these young States are, from the turmoil and strife which lamentably prevails throughout the older Sovereignties, their delegates from Oregon and California could scan with calmer glance, and judge with cooler mind, to determine which was the best, most patriotic, most prudent course to pursue. Representing States the soil of which no slave foot presses, which are not a prey to fanaticism on the one hand nor to ultraism upon the other, they acted in accordance with the sentiments and wishes of those they represented, and aided with their acts and votes in presenting for the suffrage of the whole people candidates for the Presidency and Vice Presidency which every national man in the Union can heartily support in the approaching great contest. They have performed their duty faithfully, honorably and consistently; it now remains for our people, and the people of the other States, to do their duty. That Oregon will not be found wanting, we feel confident. So will California do her duty; and so, if we mistake not, will the people in enough of the other and older States, to triumphantly elect JOHN C. BRECKENRIDGE to the Presidential chair, and JOSEPH LANE to the Vice Presidency.

By the publication of the above article, and a difference of opinion entertained between Mr. O'MEARA and myself, I regret to announce to the friends and patrons of the OREGON SENTINEL, that my connection with it ceases from and after to-day.

Believing that Mr. DOWDAS fairly and legitimately received the nomination at the late National Democratic Convention, and more-over believing that he is the choice of the Democratic masses of Oregon, I considered that the duty of the SENTINEL, to sustain him as the Regular Democratic Nominee—hence my reason for withdrawing from the concern. U. B. FREANER.

CATCH HIM.—Mr. S. J. Henderson, of Bear Creek, brought to town, on Wednesday, a male which had been left at his house that morning under rather strange circumstances. He reported that just before the breakfast hour, a stranger, mounted on a young stallion, and leading the male, rode up to ask some questions about the road. Finally the stranger offered to sell the male. Mr. Henderson did not wish to buy, but spoke about purchasing the horse. In the course of their conversation upon this subject, Mr. H. discovered that the fellow was prevaricating. It at once occurred to him that the animals might both be stolen property. The idea came a little too late, however, for the stranger seemed to guess the intentions of Henderson, and quickly leaped upon the horse, having the latter which held the male in his hand. Henderson ordered him to stop—the fellow rode on. An effort was made to catch him, when he flung the halter of the male away from him, put spurs to the horse, and rode off hurriedly in the direction of Antelope Springs. The description Henderson gives of the horse tallies with the points and marks of the stallion stolen from Wm. J. Matney, of Applegate, on Wednesday night last. The male evidently is stolen property likewise. It is a dark brown mare, the color of which is a dark brown, light sandy complexion, with prominent nose, receding chin, had a nasal intonation, and a sort of evening leer. His left thumb was off. A reward of $100 is offered for him and the horse he stole from Matney.

From information since received, we are pretty certain that the thief above mentioned is no other than Enoch Fruit, who escaped from the Portland Penitentiary some time ago. He was caught at Scottsburg last week, but as no reward was offered for him, the Sheriff let him go. He doubtless went off in a hillyer, en route for California, and being indisposed to walking, helped himself to the animals as he went along. Enoch is very bad "Fruit," for any season.

THEATRICAL.—The Potter Troupe are again upon a professional visit here, to delight our amusement-loving people with a series of their agreeable theatrical entertainments. They open tonight at McCully's Theatre. The bill for the evening is a very attractive one, and cannot fail to draw a crowded house. The songs, a dance, and humorous afterpiece, will be given. That charming actress, the beautiful and gifted Miss Lila Sweet, will sustain leading parts in both pieces, and also give a pleasing drama. Mrs. Sweet, Miss Earl, with Messrs. Potter, Mortimer, and the whole strength of the company, are cast for the play and farce. The troupe will continue their performance for a few evenings during the coming week, with such change of programme as will best suit the fancy of the audience. Last night they played at Gasburg. Since their former visit here, they have been delighting the people of Northern California with their representations most successfully. It is the best theatrical corps we have seen in the interior, and their entertainments are chaste and unexceptionable. For the benefit of those who may have doubts of the security of the seats in McCully's Theatre, because of the accident there a short time ago, we can safely state that Dr. McCully has since refitted the audience hall in the most substantial manner. Not the slightest fear need now be felt respecting the benches nor the building, no matter how great the crowd.

THE SOLAR ECLIPSE.—Agreeably to astronomical calculation and prediction, this grand heavenly phenomenon occurred on the morning of Wednesday last. The greatest obscuration visible at this point was just at sunrise. A little less than the lower half of the sun's disk was completely obscured at first view, and the obscuration gradually declined towards the lower limb, until, at half-past five o'clock, the eclipse had entirely passed away. To our gaze (imperfect, however), the planets Mercury, Venus, Jupiter and Saturn, were not visible. Astronomers say that at the mouth of Columbia river, and upon Puget sound, the most interesting view of the eclipse was to be obtained, as at those points the obscuration would be discovered total. Arrangements had been projected between the scientific corps attached to the American and British service, respectively, in those upper waters, to take coincident, full observations of the eclipse, and in fair time we shall doubtless be enabled to present our readers with an interesting sketch of the result of those scientific observations.

VIVA VOCE VOTING.—Some of the Willamette papers are discussing the propriety and policy of substituting the ballot for the viva voce system of voting. We are in favor of clinging to the present method. The objections to it are not so many nor so rank as to the ballot system. There is no skulking, nor hiding, nor duplicity in voting openly, as with ballots. It may be either the "fence politicians," but this is an advantage to the people.

EVANSVILLE LOTS.—Persons desirous of purchasing lots, or of settling at Evansville, on Rogue river, will do well to read the advertisement of Davis Evans, in another column. The place is destined to become one of the most thriving in the county, being close to the steam quartz mill, and the center of some of the richest quartz and river mining localities in this region.

SINGULAR ACCIDENT.—A little son of Mr. A. E. Rodgers, who lives a few miles from town, near Overbeck's Grove, met with a most strange mishap on Saturday last. Mr. Rodgers was experimenting with a piece of machinery which he had just finished for some purpose, consisting of a cylinder of wood about one foot in diameter, into which nails were driven very thickly. This cylinder was fastened into a turning-lathe, and while revolving, it flew from its place. The child, only about two years old, stood gazing at the lathe. In its whirling fall, the cylinder struck him on the forehead, driving one of the nails clear through the frontal bone, piercing to the depth of over half an inch. The nail was broken off within less than a quarter of an inch of the forehead. The little sufferer was knocked senseless to the floor. Mr. Rodgers at once grasped him, succeeded in restoring animation, and then endeavored with his thumb and finger to pluck the broken nail from the wound. It was as firmly set as if in an oak plank, and resisted his best efforts. Doctors Brooks and Overbeck were speedily sent for. They soon reached the house. A pair of ordinary forceps were tried in the attempt to pluck the nail, without effect. Finally, with a large, strong pair, and the vigorous pulling of Dr. Brooks, the child was relieved of the ugly form. It had penetrated the bone entirely, and barely touched the membrane covering the brain. The little fellow seemed since to experience no ill effects from the wound, save the pain incident to so severe a puncture.

THE ANTI-SLAVE RACES.—There is every promise of rare sport for the races which are to come off over the course of the Agricultural Society, under the superintendence of the Jackson County Jockey Club, commencing on Thursday, August 24. Already several noted racers have been brought in the county from the Umpqua, the Willamette, and California, to undergo training and preparation for contention over the track for the various purses offered. Beside these, our best county horses are being put in readiness for the exciting strife, and a wide-spread interest is manifested to insure the most complete success in the approaching active inauguration of the Jockey Club meetings. The purses offered are liberal, and such, as advertised. The course has been put in good order, and everything which can add to the pleasure and comfort of all who participate in the sports or patronize the track will be provided. We hear of quite a number of turkeys from other sections who design to be in attendance. It will surely be a gala week.

TERRIBLE CASUALTY.—A man named Diggins, E. Johnson was killed at Blackwell Diggs, on Wednesday morning, by the caving in of a shaft twenty feet deep, at the bottom of which he was engaged in boiling water into buckets, to rid the mine from overflow. He was killed instantly, and his body, when found by his fellow-workmen, was fearfully crushed. The shaft was a portion of the noted Blackwell quartz lode, and had given no indications of caving. Johnson was a native of Georgia, had lived in Louisiana and Texas, whence he came to this country. He was about forty years of age. His remains were interred at the new Cemetery on Thursday, by his comrades and acquaintances.

OUR WAR DEBT.—The Oregon War Debt is thrown over to take its chances for another year. It is a burning shame that this people should be thus treated. That old, superannuated alms-begging mendacious rascal, whose chief victories have been at "brag" and "draw poker," that miserable apology for an honorable man, true gentleman, or brave soldier—Major John E. Wool, U. S. A.—has served his speech while professing to serve his country, by "bumming" around Washington, engaged solely in fabricating and circulating fresh falsehoods upon our people. If he were as truly known there as he is at Whipple's Club in San Francisco, no respectable member would take his word any quicker than an amateur better at cards would the word of the low, professional slurper.

LINCOLN'S PRICE.—It was stated some time ago that "Abe" Lincoln had charged $200 for the speech he made in New York last winter to a Black Republican audience. The Black Republican press denied it. The N. Y. Tribune, of June 20th, admits it to be true, and stranger still, seeks to justify it. "Abe" might make a tolerable $200 President, but we don't believe in getting such "errand" men for the place.

"THE VANCOUVER CHRONICLE."—This is the title of a new weekly paper, published at Vancouver, Washington Territory, the first number of which reached us by last mail. It is published by L. E. V. Conn and J. M. Murphy. Mr. Conn is the editor. The number before us looks well. It is independent in politics. We wish the Chronicle success.

SHERIFF'S MAJORITY.—The official vote of the late June election has been declared by Governor Whiteaker. Col. Shell's majority is 76. The counties of Coos and Curry were not returned, and therefore, no count of the votes cast in either was made. We shall publish the official table next week.

PERSONAL.—Mr. E. S. Morgan, of the new house of Wade, Morgan & Co., soon to be established here, arrived in town on Tuesday last. The goods for their house will be along in a few days.

General Intelligence. June 19.—The Overland Mill bill was taken up and defended by Mr. Polk, who spoke in favor of the Butterfield Southern route. Mr. Hale was in favor of allowing the Butterfield people $600,000 and terminating their contract, and subsequently arranging a general system of overland mails which would benefit all sections, at a fair expense. Mr. Toombs said he was not interested in these bickerings between inferior villages. The great centers are New York on this side of the mountains, and San Francisco on the other side. There was no use talking about other centers. The amendment to strike out the second section was agreed to. Mr. Yule moved to postpone the bill, to take up the Postoffice Appropriation bill—agreed to.

The Baltimore Convention. We compile from latest California exchanges the following proceedings of the Democratic Convention at Baltimore: The Convention reassembled (by resolution adopted at Charleston) on Monday, June 18, and was called to order by Caleb Cushing. A motion was made to admit all the delegates who attended the Charleston Convention. It was amended so as to refer the whole subject to the Committee on Credentials, with the provision that all who accepted seats should be bound by the action of the Convention. The previous question was demanded, but voted down by 167 yeas; 140 nays. New York cast 35 negative votes. After considerable discussion, a recess was taken till five o'clock. EVENING SESSION.—The President stated that credentials had been placed in his hands by delegates from Delaware, Georgia, Alabama, Florida, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas and Arkansas, together with a letter from the Mississippi delegation, presented by Mr. Howard, of Tennessee. Mr. Gilmore, of Pennsylvania, presented an amendment to the motion pending from the morning session, providing that the President of this Convention be authorized to issue tickets to delegates to the Convention from Texas, Mississippi and Florida, in which there are no contesting delegates; and that, as regards those States—Texas, Delaware, Georgia and Alabama—where contesting delegates existed, a Committee on Credentials shall be appointed by the several delegations to report on the said States.

Mr. Church, of New York, offered an amendment: "Resolved, That the citizens of the several States of the Union have an equal right to settle and remain in the Territories of the United States, and shall therein, unmolested by any legislation whatever, their slaves and any other property, this Convention recognizing the opinion of the Supreme Court, in the Dred Scott case, as a true exposition of the Constitution in regard to the rights of the citizens of the several States or Territories of the United States, upon all subjects upon which it treats; and that the members of this Convention pledge themselves, and require all others who may be authorized as delegates to make the same pledge, to the support of the Democratic candidate fairly and in good faith nominated by this Convention, according to the wishes of the Democratic party." The amendment was not received. One or two of the Virginia delegation spoke in favor of it. The motion to refer to the Committee on Credentials was finally carried, under operation of the previous question, by 136 to 18, after which the Convention adjourned until next day.

SECOND DAY.—19th June.—After some discussion, Mr. Church withdrew the latter portion of his amendment of the preceding day, and substituted the following: "Resolved, That the credentials of all persons claiming seats in this Convention made vacant by the secession of delegates at Charleston, be referred to the Committee on Credentials, which is hereby instructed to examine the same as soon as practicable, and report the names of the persons entitled to such seats." Some motions were made relative to the portions of the report on the Minnesota, Delaware and Arkansas delegates. These were defeated as to delegates, and the whole subject was referred to the Committee on Credentials.

The following changes were then made by the Committee on Credentials: Healy and Kennedy were in place of Wood, and Gregory of California in place of Dudley. EVENING SESSION.—The Committee on Credentials being unable to report, no business was done, and the Convention adjourned until next morning.

THIRD DAY.—20th June.—The Committee on Credentials not being ready to report, the Convention took a recess, and again in the evening, did nothing, and adjourned till ten o'clock next day. It is now certain that there will be another break in the Convention on the admission of the Douglas delegates from Louisiana. The following are pledged to go out, viz: Twenty-two from Virginia, two from North Carolina, three from Tennessee, ten from Pennsylvania, under the name of a California delegation, from Massachusetts, including Caleb Cushing, and two from New York. There will probably be no session of Kentucky or Maryland. The special dispatch to the St. Louis Republican, dated 4 P. M., is as follows: The Committee on Credentials will report. The majority will propose to admit the Massachusetts delegates, who were not admitted by their State since the Charleston convention, and reject Florida and Texas, where no action of the people has been had, and will give seats to the delegations from Louisiana and Alabama, together with half of each delegation from Georgia and Arkansas. Mr. Hallet, of Massachusetts, will be inserted, if being shown that he was Mr. Claiborn's name. The majority are going to admit all over did in relative to Louisiana was adopted by 153 yeas to 28 nays. The recommendation relative to Georgia was lost. A motion was made to reconsider the vote rejecting the minority report. A motion was made to lay the reconsideration motion on the table, which was lost, New York voting nay. The Convention, amidst the hearty unanimity of the Douglas men, then adjourned till the evening. The topics of the South are revived. [The fifth and last day's proceedings will be found under the Telegraphic head.—Ed. SENTINEL.]

Oregon Items. The Advertiser is justly indignant and severe in its account of the gross wrong committed by the Postoffice contractors recently. On the 4th of July, three desperate convicts—Livingston, from Jackson county, and two others—were permitted to walk at large about the streets. At night they went to the theatre, drunk and noisy as they were, and raised a lot of a row while there. The contractors admit to deserve a place with the felons, inside the prison walls. Capt. A. J. Smith's command, engaged in exploring a new and better Emigrant road, were attacked by a party of Snake Indians, consisting of about 80 mounted and 150 foot, on the 23d June. The gallant Captain gave the red rascals a hot reception, and from their howling and moaning after the short engagement, it is pretty certain that the number of them "on the other side of Jordan." Not a man nor animal of the troops was hurt. A party from Preston county have been prospecting for precious metals all the way out to the Blue Mountains. Three of the company write to the Corvallis Democrat, stating that they found quartz with silver in it, and that they believe rich gold diggings will be found thereabouts.

Superintendent Geary has visited the Snake Indian country with Indian Agent Abbot (formerly of this section) for the purpose of making a treaty with that tribe. Since his return, he advises the "powder and ball" snation. It is about the only sort of argument to use with Indians. Bates, who shot Payne, the stage driver in Portland, a short time since, for intimacy with his wife, was lately released on bail, and slid off to California, leaving his sureties in the lurch. Payne is recovering slowly. The Reverend editor of the Christian Advocate has been taking a journey through some Willamette counties. He says that the late frosts have considerably injured the fruit, but that the grain crops are healthy and abundant. Agricultural Fairs are to be held in the following counties at the times stated: Lane, 25th and 26th September; Linn, 18th and 19th September; Benton, October 4th and 5th; Clackamas, 27th and 28th September. The Celebration of the Fourth at Portland was a failure. Some dissatisfaction was felt among the people at the manner of arrangements. Judge Williams was barely listened to. Jas. Warren was shot by Alex. Hines, and J. B. Bromberg served with the same kind of leaden ball by Harry Brunton, in Wasco county, on the 4th. Both the wounded men are dangerously hurt. The news from the New Rock Creek mines continues favorable. The papers say that some of the miners are making $30 per day. That's pretty good these days. The two men injured by the premature explosion of a cannon at Oregon City, while firing a salute in honor of the election of Shell and Kelly, are getting on finely. The Washington correspondent of the New York Herald says that Gen. Wood has "denounced" this debt as almost entirely fraudulent. The Fourth was joyously celebrated at Corvallis. Slater, of the Union, delivered the oration. Right Rev. Bishop Scott, (Episcopal) was on a visit to Hocking. He delivered a sermon there on Sunday last. At the Cascades, a man named Chipman shot another, named Wm. Harvey, through both legs and the body. The Methodist Conference of Oregon will convene on the 22d August. Bishop Ames will preside. The Fourth was very pleasantly observed at Oregon City. There is not a line of interesting local news in either of the Eugene City papers. The heavy rains of last week did quite serious damage to the crops throughout the Umpqua.

BY TELEGRAPH. PROCEEDINGS AT BALTIMORE. CONVENTION DIVIDED. TWO SETS OF NOMINATIONS! THE GREAT EASTERN ARRIVED!! We are indebted to Mr. James W. Lingenfelter for the following dispatches. They were received by Wednesday's stage. The news was brought by Overland Mail, with dates from St. Louis to June 23th. It confirms what we published in our Extra, Monday, of the Presidential nominations: Upon the reassembling of the Convention on the fifth day (June 23d), the previous question was ordered on the motion to reconsider the vote by which the minority report of the Committee on Credentials was rejected. The motion was lost by a vote of 103 yeas to 144 nays. New York voted in the negative. [Tremendous applause.] [The reports are here rather unintelligible, but we conjecture from their tenor that at this juncture the Seceding delegates withdrew.—Ed. SENTINEL.] A ballot was then had for a Presidential candidate. Mr. Dawson, of Pennsylvania, stated that nine delegates had refused to vote. One delegate from Pennsylvania cast his vote for Horatio Seymour, of New York. A letter from Mr. Seymour was read, in which he declared he was not a candidate. The vote was then announced, as follows: Douglas, 173; Guthrie, 9; Breckenridge, 5; Seymour, 1; Booth, 1; Wise, 1; Dickinson, 2; blanks, 20. Whole number, 212. South Carolina, Delaware, Florida, Mississippi, California and Oregon, were not represented. Georgia was represented in part, but refused to vote. After an exciting debate, in which the position of New York was explained, another ballot was had. Mr. Douglas received 181 1/2 votes. A resolution offered, declaring Stephen A. Douglas nominated in accordance with the wishes of the Democratic party, by a two-third vote, was unanimously adopted. Benjamin Fitzpatrick, of Alabama, was nominated for Vice President by a unanimous vote. Several resolutions [the character of which the reports fail to give.—Ed.] were passed unanimously, and the Convention adjourned sine die.

SECESSION CONVENTION. The Seceding delegates met at Baltimore on the 24th June. After arranging preliminaries and a permanent organization, with Caleb Cushing, of Massachusetts, as Chairman, a ballot for Presidential candidates was taken. The vote stood: John C. Breckenridge, of Kentucky, 81; Dickinson, of New York, 24. Mr. Breckenridge was declared the nominee for President by unanimous vote. General J. M. Lane, of Oregon, was nominated for Vice President on first ballot. LATER. By Pony Express we have dates from the East to July 1st. Benjamin Fitzpatrick, of Alabama, declined the nomination for Vice President of the Baltimore Douglas Convention. H. V. Johnson, of Alabama, has since been nominated in place of Mr. Fitzpatrick. The Great Eastern mammoth steamship had arrived at New York. No other news of importance.
