

THE OREGON SENTINEL.

STANDING ON EQUITABLE.—Those who are termed "simple-minded people" adopt a curiously innocent mode of expression occasionally, which comes so near art, at times, as to render its simplicity doubtful. A story is told of a young married couple from the country, of course—

ONE WOMAN MARRIED TO ANOTHER.—The Manchester (Eng.) Examiner and Times says that, at the last sitting of the Sanford County Court, a well-dressed, middle-aged person was committed, under the name of Dr. Thomas Green, to the New Bailey for contempt of Court, in not complying for a judgment for debt obtained by his tailor at a previous Court.

GEN. SCOTT recently remarked to General Morse, that he should not move in the direction of the enemy until he was ready, and that when he makes a movement, it will be conducted with a scrupulous regard to the saving of any unnecessary bloodshed, first among his own troops, then among the ranks of the rebels, and lastly among the prisoners.

GOOD PROSPECTS FOR AMERICAN FARMERS.—The Washington correspondent of the San Francisco Bulletin says: Private advices received in this city from St. Petersburg state that there are indications that the wheat crop this year will fall short throughout Russia, making it very doubtful whether there will be any surplus for export.

IF you embrace an opportunity, you must make the consequences. A FARMER in Southern Illinois, seeing the cannon at Cairo, remarked "that them brass munitaries had converted a heap of folks."

At Vienna, Daniel Sullivan of the Ohio volunteers had his arm shattered by a ball. This was the brave boy who, when ordered to time showing his arm, Sullivan was taken up and carried back with the retreating force. He died before leaving Alexandria, but his heroism was shown to the last. A handkerchief was bound upon his arm near the shoulder, to check in a measure the flow of blood. This rude bandage Sullivan adjusted several times, tightening it to check the flow of blood, and again loosening it when the pain became too great. While he was lying in this condition some of his comrades approached, and one asked, "Dan how do you feel?" "Boys," said the young hero, lifting with the other hand his shattered arm, and then laying it gently down, "Boys, I'm for the Union still!" "Poor Dan died very soon after, but his last words will be a mighty power in the hearts of his comrades.

Is a letter of Daniel Webster, dated June 13th, 1850, the following sentence is found: "Banker Hill Monument—May it crumble to the dust before it shall look down upon our country dishonored, disgraced and ruined, by the breaking up, by sacrilegious hands, of that Union which has secured its liberty, fostered its prosperity, and spread its glory and renown throughout the world." In another letter of Mr. Webster's, dated November 23d, 1850, we find the following sentence: "Virginia! true-hearted Virginia! stand by your country, stand by the word of your fathers, stand by the Union of the States, and may God Almighty prosper all our efforts in the cause of liberty, and in the cause of that united Government which renders its people the happiest people on whom the sun ever shone!"

WANTED TO SCRIP HIS HIM.—In a gay circle in the Fauburg St. Honore, they were complimenting the beautiful Duchess de— upon the approaching and apparent birth of an heir to an illustrious house at her court. "Say nothing of it to my husband," she replied, "it is a very little surprise that I am preparing for him!"

IF you don't wish to fall in love, keep away from the women. It is impossible to deal in honey and not taste of it. A PLEASANT jest in time of misfortune is courage to the heart, strength to the arm, and digestion to the stomach.
