County Tax—Nine mills on the dollar, and a poll-tax of one dollar.

State Tax—Two mills on the dollar.

School Tax—One mill on the dollar.

Hospital Tax—Two dollars on each poll.

The County tax is one mill less than last year. The assessment of the county will be nearly four hundred thousand dollars less the present year than it was last year, doubtless owing to the depreciation in the value of APPLEGATE MINES .- From Mr. Knight who is mining on upper Applegate, we learn that the miners in his vicinity are doing very well, and that the company to which he belongs, have averaged six dollars per day to the hand, since the 1st of September.

A solution of the Company have made another large "clean-up" lately, but are unable to give any figures.

Galice Creek.—There appears to be quite a large number of men at Galice Creek and its vicinity, making preparatious for the coming winter. Some of the companies in the bed of the Creek have been doing well all summer. The work on the new ditches is progressing finely. As an evidence of the prosperity of the diggings, a marriage was celebrated there recently. The names of the parties we did not learn.

Catch Him.—An obliging correspondent

CATCH HIM .- An obliging correspondent at Kerbyville informs that the citizens of this place have subscribed and now offer a reward of $1,000 to any person who will give and conviction of the incendiary who fired Kerbyville on the night of the 25th September 19 PRICE. $4,000 - $2,000 Cash, and the remainder in one, two and three years, with ten per cent. interest. ber, 1861.

STATE AGRICULTURAL FAIR .- The first ex hibition of the Oregon State Fair was to have been given on Tuesday last, at Oregon City, to continue four days. From the published accounts of the preparations made for having a Pair creditable to the State, and for the at their Hall (Mc'Cully's Theater building). pleasure and comfort of visitors, we trust it proved all that could have been hoped for.

The success which has attended the experiment made by Gen. Butter at the Rip Raps with the Sawyer shell, entitles it to distinction, it is an oblong irou case, cylindrical for half its length, and conical at the point, where it has a percussion fasce which explodes it on striking. The exterior iron surface is conted with an alloy behaved to be so soft as not to before of and to clog the grooves. The alloy is put on so as to make the shell fit the grooves accurately, and to give a bearang of the projection on the shell against the grooves of the gun for nearly two-thirds of the length of the shell. At the base the shell, which there has a beveled adge, has, when acted upon by the powder, so sauch of the composition upon the bevel upset as is necessary to prevent windage. At 2,000 yards, out of twenty shots fired from a 9 pounder, nincteen hit a target 20 by 40 feet, and out of Corty shots by a 24 pounder, thirty-one hit has again target at the same distance. At an elegation of thirty-five degrees, a range of over four and shalf miles was attained, the cartridge used containing but one half the ord mary service churge of powder, or one-eighth of the weight of the projectile. The target, four feet thick and eight feet long, was made of live-oak seasoned logs, squared and boited together by iash bolts, held by screw nutz. A shell was fired from the distance of 450 yards; it struck is the senter, penctrating about two feet and expleding, branking all the boits and scattering the timbers over a space of fifty yards. A similar target, plated with half-inon wrought-iron plate, was treated in the same way the penetration being only two inches less. It is claimed that this shell can be made as cheap as the long spherical shell.
