While sented in the saloon of the " Southern Coffee House," in Nashville, three soldiers en tered and called for drinks, (at a dime each), and presented a dollar bill in payment. He was handed seventy cents in checks or tickets. The soldier demorred, and demanded the change; the checks he said would be of no use to him, as he was immediately going into comp. The bar keeper however was obdurate. " Well," said the soldier, " give me back the bill, and by G-d I'll take pills and throw up all I've drank right here." But this proposi tion was not acceeded to, and he left with the

During his stay in Nashville, our informant visited the hospitals, which are filled with the sick. He estimates the number of the sick a from eight to ten thousand. The two hospi and are enormous buildings. They were HAS recently received a large and diversicrowded to excess. The inmates complained of lack of attention, and were suffering for want of food. The sick besought him to give them water, there being no one apparently to wait upon them even to this common bounty. They were poorly supplied with clothing and suffered with cold. The prevailing diseases were pneumonia and small pox. The troops from Texas, Lousiana and Mussissippi suffered most, the changeable climate seriously affecting them and inducing pneumonia in the most aggri vated form. The Texas Rangers, distinguished by felt hats, white and black, with the words "Texas Rangers" printed on them. All of which will be sold at now revers and above the band, were almost all of them upon the sick list, and in a most pitiable condition.

WATCHES, JEWELRY and CLOCKS. Deaths were very frequent, and supplied the draymen of the city with their principle business. It was no uncommon sight to see a dray carting off a dead rebel boxed up, and without much extremony planted in the ground. without much ceremony planted in the ground. The gentleman says that, all assertions to the contrary, there is a strong Union feeling in Louisiana and Tennessee. He thinks that he cannot be mistaken in this, for he took by the hand and talked with a number of people in New Orleans and Nashville, who would welcome the appearance of the Federal army with the liveliest satisfaction. They were very cautions to whom they expressed their real sentiments, but their confidence once se cared, they made no reservations whatever Dissatisfaction with the present state of things is almost universal, and the rebels themselves are not in the highest spirits. He overheard them in the saloons and hotels of Nashville discusing the prospect of a battle at Bowling Green, and the prevailing language was "They are too strong for us by G-d. With Bowling Green and Columbus in our hapls, he feels confident that our forces we be able to seize Nushville and other cities farther south without much difficulty and hardly a contest.
